

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS

THE GLOBE, TORONTO, SA

It should be said for our entertaining contemporaries. The Moon (that it is giving us some of the best examples of fine drawing that have ever been offered by a Canadian periodical.

This Moon, Toronto, is a peach of a satellite and the whole thing in the comic constellation. You can't enjoy your meals properly unless you take the Moon and see the men in it.

OUR LADY MOON.

Toronto has blossomed out recently with a smart little paper called The Moon. It is a weekly, devoted to wit and sarcasm, pictorial and otherwise, which should please the public taste. The American weeklies of the same kind are clever and amusing, but a Canadian paper dealing with our own Canadian events deserves our encouragement. Some of the best Canadian illustrators and newspaper people are contributors to The Moon, which is happy to shine on the just and unjust alike for a small consideration per number.

I am glad to see that our contemporary the Moon has been at the full all these summer months. In fact she has been, in spite of the Man who resides in her, a most capable and amiable creature. I see that she has shot an arrow or two (the Moon-Man, of course) at one "Kit"—which the latter takes—and rightly—to be a compliment. More power to her (the Moon's) horn! Seriously, one may remark that the comic journal in question is one that should find a place in every Canadian household. It is capable, bright, entertaining and wholesome. It is never malicious, though, as it should be, it is brilliantly sharp and telling. No longer have we the need to turn to United States "comics" to find a good laugh. We have it at home, and it is a hoarty one. It is but fair to say that the "pictures in the Moon" beat anything of the kind seen by sentimental dandies in the fire.

Stratford Herald

A comparatively new Canadian comic journal is the Moon, a weekly published in Toronto. The jokes are humorous, and different from it in that they are not at all weakly. This is the only Toronto publication that does not spend its odd moments throwing enough mud in the mountain, as if there were not then Toronto people claim that the Hamiltonians make mountains of the Moon is a good thing and there is so much favor to it that readers are tempted to discard that old green independent hits at politicians and its nature are clever enough and its who are hit than to provoke the good might be termed, moonstruck, it a greater appreciation of humor have people of the old land, and there is no reason why they should not support a live comic journal.
