

preparing reports and whether they normally receive information or other inputs from external sources; and whether the contents of the reports are the subject of public debate.

-----

9

10

11

12