will not be shocked with blackguardly language. The cars will not be polluted with alcoholic funce. There will be no rowdyism. As a matter-of-fact, Sunday cars will be a mighty tame thing, and those who have been expecting to witness something fast, wicked and Chicagossque will be terribly disappointed. For ourselves we have never seen anything particularly fascinating about a trolley car. We look upon trolley car and the common too much time, and of tentines we are smothered with clouds of dust, working up through the baddy-made trap doors that lead down to the electric demons. From this point of view we look upon the trolley car as the handlwork of the devil. gard the trolley car as an instrument of grace, as a divine institution to cultivate the virtues of patience, humility and self-denial. The trolley car is the fire by which the Christian virtues within us are purified. Oftentimes the noise is so great in a trolley car that one cannot carry on a conversation with his neighbor. That teaches one to be resigned and patient under the minor troubles that beset the Christian throughout life's journey. When it is cold the trolley is wide open, when it rains the seats are wet and the east wind drives the rain in on our starched collars and cuffs, not to mention our linen trousers. If these
