be pardoned for feeling that the athletic sceptre was departing from the British Isles. On the same day an American won the Diamond Sculls at Henley. A month before three American golfers were struggling with each other for first place in the British Open. Last year the men's tennis championship was taken away from England and the polo championship was lost. Supremacy in cricket might still be claimed for the empire, though not for England, since the Australians won every match from the all-England eleven at the last encounter.

However, if the British athletic shepherds have any philosophy left in them, they will not be wholly given over to despondency. They will comfort themselves by reflecting that it is a case of being invaded by the very best that foreign countries can produce, and that bright particular stars in any given sport are certain now and then to rise beyond the English horizon. A Lengien, a Tilden, a Hagen, a Walter Hoover, is born, not made. England's turn for a creative effort in athletics may soon come again. Moreover, the passing of one championship ship after another may simply drive the British back to the last fortress of national complacency, and lead them to reassert that, win or lose, they have more all-the-year-round athletics than any other nation, and that out-of-door sports are "in widest commodity spread" in England. Yet it cannot be denied that Britain is looking rather pale after the athletic storms that have lately passed over her, and is in need of any consoling tonic to which she can lay her hand.

BOXING AUTHORITIES SCRUTINIZING EYES ON BANTAMS' BOUT

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

New York, July 12.—Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion; Johnny Buff, who lost the title to the former Monday night, and their managers, Eddie Mead and Lew Diamond, today were suspended by the New York state boxing commission until an investigation is made of the contract under which they met.

The commission acted on allegations that the state law was violated when Lynch guaranteed Buff $30,000 to make the match and an additional sum if he lost his title. The crowd was smaller than expected and, it is related, Lynch must pay nearly $10,000 to make up the deficit.

The New York law provides that the boxers in any match may split fifty per cent. of the gate receipts any way they choose, but it prohibits guarantees. No date has been set for a hearing of the matter.
