Use Films for Church.

The Pope, says a Rome despatch, who has been interested in cinema propaganda for some time, has now given his official approval to a cinema enterprise of which

Mgr. Grassi, the abbot of Marino, is the director. The committee is composed of princes of the church. The enterprise is called "St. Mark's Cinema Institute." Its object is to present films which will spread Catholic propaganda throughout the world by presenting films with a wholesome story, fitted for young people, as well as stories of a purely religious character.

The Pope to counteract the influence of cinema shows where thieves and other criminals are represented as heroes, he planned in "St. Mark's Cinema," which will soon send its films all over the world.

Among the prelates who are directly interested in this new venture are members of the Pope's private households and several heads of religious houses, including Father Rosa of the Society of Jesus.

The Pope will inform all Catholic bishops in America soon of the enterprise and ask for their active support in order to make the St. Mark's films a success in their dioceses.

A SINGING BIRD.

(Rev. George Scott.)

I know not if a conscious skill

Inspires a song bird's note,

If he enjoys each liquid thrill

That swells his little throat.

Or if his heart be light and gay,

Or if he really knows

Whether the skies be blue or gray,

Whether it rains or snows.

Or if his little heart be sad

With yearning memories,

Of summer climates warm and glad,

With flowers and stately trees.

I only know that when he sings

Somehow there falls away

From off my life these ugly things

Which wearied it all day.

I like to think his song a part

Of that great minstrelsy,

The prompting of God's gracious heart

To cheer our nether sky.

I sit beside his cage and lo!

The chidings of his song

Transfuse into my soul a glow

That makes it doubly strong.

I know not if a conscious skill

Inspires a song bird's heart,

I only crave an equal will

To play a kindly part.

Will Prices Come Down When Packers Unscramble?

"The consumer doesn't care a snap of his fingers about the dissolution of a trust unless it means lower prices or better quality, or both," says the New York Globe, which sees "no reason to believe that the withdrawal of the packers from all lines except meat and dairy products will benefit the consumer an iota." On the other hand, Attorney-General Palmer telegraphs THE LITERARY DIGEST that "The practical benefits to the public will come from opening up the channels of trade in food lines to competing producers and distributors of food freed from the menace of the all-powerful packers organization." The packers themselves, however, are not so confident about the effect on prices. In answer to the "Digest's" interrogation on this point Mr. J. Ogden Armour telegraphs that "it is impossible to forecast the probable effect the dissolution will have upon the high cost of living." Messrs. Louis F. Swift, Thomas E. Wilson, E. A. Cudahy, and Edward Morris practically agree with him in that conclusion.

There is scarcely any other subject that so vitally concerns the public as that covered by the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for January 3rd. The "Digest" has secured statements from the highest sources representative of every angle of opinion upon the recent decision of the packers to withdraw from all lines except meat and dairy products.

Other articles of great interest in this number of the "Digest" are:—
