Facts You Can't Rub Out

If rents were lower, and light, advertising and other modern business necessities were cheaper in the city stores they would not have to add more profit to the cost of their goods than we do. If they did enough business to control the production of all the makers of good goods in this broad land they would have a monopoly on style and quality. But, fortunately for us, it costs them a whole lot more to do business than it does us, and the makers who supply them are just as anxious to supply us, hence

HOW OIL IS SPRINKLED AT PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

Suggestion From City Engineer May be of Some Use in St. John—Sand Used to Absorb Mixture and Prevent Tracking

A member of the Times staff who spent a couple of days in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, last week, noted the fact that the streets were oiled and that the oil was evenly distributed, and made no trouble for pedestrians. The city engineer, J. E. Parker, was asked in what manner the work was done, and dictated the following statement, which will be of interest to St. John readers:

"There are several different grades of oil, the best of which is probably a refined oil with a natural asphalt base. On the streets here we have used a 35 to 40 per cent. asphalt base oil of the most grade 10 and the highest is 80 per cent. asphalt. The 60 and 80 per cent. oil should really be heated in order that they should run freely enough to cover and penetrate the road-bed.

"In order to get thoroughly good results the road should be swept clean (this may be done with the horse-sweeper, as this method is less expensive than hand-sweeping), and in small piles, two or three wheelbarrow loads to each pile, should be placed on the side of the road, about five feet apart. If the road is exceptionally dry, it should be lightly sprinkled with water about half an hour before oiling, which will allow the road-bed to absorb the free water and leave no puddles. The oil should then be sprinkled on, either with an ordinary watering cart—if the oil is not over 40 per cent. asphalt base—or if over a cart with a specially made pipe distributor.

"Following the distribution of the oil, four men with ordinary push or street brooms should immediately start sweeping it over the road-bed, from the side of the road toward the middle, until it is evenly distributed over the portion of the road-bed which is to be covered; following the sweepers, three or four men with long handled, square pointed shovels should spread the sand over the oil. This sand should be lightly distributed, so that every spot where the oil has been spread should be thinly covered. About one-quarter of a shovelful of sand should be taken to each throw; the man distributing the sand should throw it as far as possible, so that it will spread thinly. Your road is then ready for traffic and the oil will not pick up, as the sand has absorbed more or less of it.

"The 40 per cent. oil will cover 3 square yards to gallon and the 60 to 80 per cent. about 2 square yards."

LOCATING CHANNEL TO COURTENAY BAY

H. M. Davy, in Charge of Boring Operations, Well Pleased With Progress Which is Being Made

Speaking to a Times-Star reporter this morning, H. M. Davy, the government engineer in charge of the boring operations at Courtenay Bay, said he was very well pleased with the work which has been done so far. To his entire satisfaction, the boring which had been done in the inner portion of the bay, is now finished, and the work is now confined to the locating of the most convenient channel.

Mr. Davy said that it would be some time yet before the final borings were done, but he was convinced that the efforts to find the best possible channel would be successful. There would be quite a saving in finding a place to cut which would not be difficult to dredge, and which at the same time, would not be too long. He was desirous, he said, of securing a channel which would not require a great expenditure, and which would be suitable for the purposes aimed at.

THINK I. C. R. VICTIM BELONGED TO ST. JOHN

Moncton Police Do Not Accept Identification of Man Killed on Thursday as Allen McCallum of Bangor

A letter was received this morning at police headquarters from Chief of Police Rideout of Moncton, in which it was stated that the belief was held there that the man killed last week on the railroad near that city, had relatives here and was known in St. John. He asked Chief Clarke to aid in any possible making identification of the body through the assistance of relatives supposed to be here.

A detailed description of the dead man, whose body was so horribly mangled, was furnished, the letter thus describing him: Age 40 years, height 5 feet 7 inches, weight 140 pounds, reddish moustache, dark brown hair, inclined to be sandy, small bald spot on top of his head, scar on middle finger of right hand between first and second joint, which looks as though it might have been inflicted by a saw some years ago, wore a navy blue suit, belt with no braces, striped shirt front shirt, working shoes and soft light gray hat, size 7 1/2. The hat was slightly too large for the owner, and tucked under the rim was a piece of newspaper, a portion of the Evening Times-Star bearing the date St. John, N. B., June 29, 1911.

From this description if there are any relatives of the deceased in this city they should be able to recognize him, and should communicate with Chief Clarke. The identification of the man as Allen McCallum, Bangor, it seems was not positive.
