EXHAUSTED HER TO CLIMB ONE FLIGHT

Mrs. McClellan was so Run-down She Could Hardly Walk Around the House—Restored by Tanlac.

"I have taken many different kinds of medicine during the past nineteen years trying to find something that would relieve me of my suffering, but Tanlac is the only thing I have yet found that has done me any good at all," said Mrs. Mary McClellan, who lives at 23 Bauer street, Halifax, while talking to a Tanlac representative the other day.

"My entire nervous system has been in bad condition for a long time," continued Mrs. McClellan, and it just seemed impossible for me to find anything that would give me any relief. My appetite was poor, and I just had to force what little I ate, and my stomach was in such bad condition that I would suffer terribly every time I ate anything. I never knew what it was to sleep well, and many times I would go through the whole night without even closing my eyes for sleep. Why, the least noise would upset my nerves something awful, and I would tremble like a leaf. I fell off a lot in weight, and finally got so weak, and run-down I was hardly able to walk around in the house. I couldn't do my housework at all, and it would completely exhaust me to climb a flight of steps.

"When I commenced taking Tanlac, I had reached the point where I had actually given up hope of ever getting rid of those troubles. Well, Tanlac was just the medicine I needed, for I commenced to improve soon after I began taking it, and I have been getting better ever since. I have taken three bottles so far, and it is simply wonderful the way I have picked up in every way. Why, all that nervousness has left me altogether, and I sleep like a child every night. I have a splendid appetite, and my stomach is in such fine condition that I can eat just anything I want without suffering the least bit afterwards. I have gained a lot in weight and strength and am still gaining. Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and as long as I live I will praise it for the good it has done me."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—(Advt.)

NEW FERRY ENTRANCE.
The new entrance to the East side ferry building is nearly completed and soon will be in use. It is on the eastern side of the building, opening from Water street, and will replace the present entrance which is on the corner. The change is being made because the new location is regarded as more convenient and also because it will be less draughty and will make it possible to keep the waiting rooms more comfortable during this winter. The old entrance will be closed.

RAILS ARE HERE.
The curved rails for the street car tracks at the corner of Union and Bruns streets are being put in place today. When the tracks are completed the city will be able to proceed with the paving work at that corner. A little further delay will be occasioned while the concrete foundation is hardening but when that is ready the surface will be applied in short order and the street will be ready for use. A delay of several weeks has been occasioned by the difficulty experienced in securing the special rails required for the corner.

LABRADOR LAND OF RESOURCES

Dr. Grenfell Says Canada Lacks Vision—U. S. Eyes on the Country

(Montreal Star.)
"The oft made statement that the present population should be removed from the coast of Labrador—that such a bleak land is not fit for the habitation of man—is ridiculous," so said Dr. Wilfred Grenfell of Labrador Mission fame to the Star this morning.

"If any country has suffered from lack of vision it is Canada. It is a pity that theorists should imagine that Labrador can be discounted as a land possessing no future possibilities."

Dr. Grenfell is here in the interests of the great medical mission that serves the fishermen of the coast of Labrador and Newfoundland. He loves the rocky coasts where his work has lain for many years and he is an enthusiast on the possibilities of development in that coast country.

He pointed out what the United States had made of Alaska, how American enterprise had started the reindeer industry there and how the export of hides and mist was rapidly assuming enormous proportions. He instanced the establishment of the bureau of Alaskan education, American enterprise in the fur trade, the aviation from the United States that had found a natural landing field close by the sea. The survey was made with a view to establishing pulp and paper mills.

The enormous value of the fisheries was enough alone to make the Labrador and northern Newfoundland coasts a tremendous asset to British North America. The fish were worth this year, said Dr. Grenfell, about three times as much as before the war, which was, however, somewhat of a falling off from last year's prices.

"Then the water power in the high Labrador tableland is immense," added Dr. Grenfell. "We have no lack of resources. There is feeding ground there for great herds of reindeer and we already have the beginning of a herd in those that I brought from Europe."

Dr. Grenfell believes, like Stefansson, that the production of reindeer meat may become a great Canadian industry.

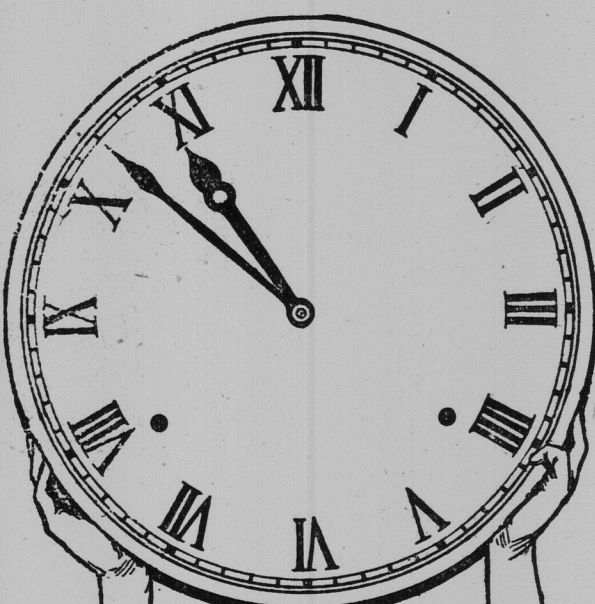

"One difficulty in the way of development is that the boundary between Canada and Newfoundland has never been settled. You can't develop a country until you know to whom the country belongs. But there is no doubt that it is a land that it will pay to develop," he said.

Discussing the work of the medical mission, Dr. Grenfell pointed out that the world was realizing now as never before that every man has a right to health. The problem of providing medical aid for the tiny fishing communities of the coast was the occasion of the founding of Dr. Grenfell's mission. The Newfoundland government has given assistance in the establishment of hospitals and life-saving stations. The general scheme is to have little hospitals every two or three hundred miles along the coast with smaller "life-saving stations." At each of these stations a trained nurse is in charge. She has a ward of two or three beds, a reviving room equipped with baths, and usually a certain amount of dental equipment. The fishermen of the district contribute to the maintenance of the life-saving stations, standing the full expense in a number of cases. Two more stations are shortly to be established on the Newfoundland coast. They will be operated at a yearly cost of $2,500. In the case of 700 of the fishermen have guaranteed $1,500 annually towards the maintenance.

"Why, Norah," said her mistress, "how nice you look in your new dress and hat. I hope you will meet all your friends this afternoon so that they may see you in your fine clothes."

"My friends, mum?" returned Norah. "What'll I be wanting to see them for? Sure, I don't care to make me friends jealous. It's me enemies I want to meet when I'm dressed up."

Five Minutes To Eleven has not yet come for those who stayed at home

The gallant Canadian army kept right on fighting until five minutes before the Armistice was signed.

The last lap of the war for those men was indeed a smashing, glorious finish!

While the fighting ended at five minutes to eleven on the morning of the eleventh of November last year, the war has not yet ended for those of us who stayed at home.

Our "Five Minutes to Eleven" has not yet come. There is a great deal more for us to do, before our war job is finished.

There are still heavy demobilization expenses to clean up. In a few short months we have brought home the troops that were transported overseas during four years of war—four years' transportation expenses crowded into a few months.

Many millions are still required to complete payment of demobilization and for other purely military expenditures.

The Victory Loan 1919 which is necessary to meet these war obligations is the great objective in the last lap for those who stayed at home.

The Canadian Corps, during the war, never lost a gun,—never once retreated and never failed to take an objective.

Keeping that glorious record in our minds, and carrying that "no surrender" fighting spirit into the new Victory Loan campaign, there can be only one result—Success, overwhelming and triumphant.

When the figures for the Victory Loan 1919 are totalled up, the result will show the world that those of us who stayed at home have taken another glorious objective on the road to our "Five Minutes to Eleven."

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

SUES FOR $50,000 FOR BREACH OF PROMISE
New York, Oct. 14.—Papers have been filed in the supreme court in a $50,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Phoebe Albert, an artist's model, against Walter K. Doyle, wealthy club man and insurance broker, who lives at 161 Remsen street, Brooklyn. That Miss Albert intended to bring such an action became known early in September.

Miss Albert declares that she made Doyle's acquaintance in April, 1917, and that a few weeks later he proposed to her. His love, according to the papers, was reciprocated and she became engaged to him. Every time a date for their wedding was fixed, Miss Albert alleges, Doyle found an excuse for postponing it.

In September, 1917, she says, they again plighted their troth and the girl declares that to prove her love she agreed, at his request, to change her religious faith.

In the following January, Miss Albert says, Doyle gave her a diamond engagement ring and again promised to marry her soon.

The following month he renewed this promise in the presence of his mother, the date for the wedding being set for the latter part of the month, she asserts. At this time it was agreed, Miss Albert alleges, that as Doyle was expecting to be called to military duty overseas, a dispensation should be obtained from his church so that they might be married without the formal publication of the banns.

Miss Albert declares that soon afterwards the dispensation was procured, but that the defendant again broke his engagement and again postponed the date of the marriage and kept postponing it from time to time.

Miss Albert declares Doyle married another woman.
