RAPID PROGRESS OF FRUIT GROWING

INSPECTOR SPEAKS OF ITS POSSIBILITIES

Maxwell Smith Refers to Great Strides Made in Nelson District -Splendid Industry.

Maxwell Smith, Dominion government fruit inspector, spent Monday in the has ever been inflicted upon. city. He has just returned from a visit man managed to secure a piece of broken to the Nelson district, and to a Times glass and make a gash under his knee in reporter expressed himself astonished at an attempt to cut an artery. When he began his visits of inspection to that district, about three years ago, it was importing execution, he had spent a restless night. 75 per cent. of its fruit, and was not He refused breakfast this morning, eatselling a pound of its own production.

Last year the growers there exported to the time from daylight till the fatal hour the Northwest $8,000 worth of straw-berries alone. This year they have ex-Christianity and groping for the solace ported $17,000 or $18,000 in strawberries of assured salvation. alone, and their total fruit export will probably be $25,000. The inspector remarked that if some enterprising individual came along with an industrial scheme which would put into circulation $25,000 a year, there would be all sorts of agitations for bonuses, free sites and so forth. Of course the product that Nelson exported, Mr. Smith explained, was small fruit, the orchards being yet too young to permit of a large production of the big varieties. He said he expected great things from Nelson district in a fruit growing way within the next few years, and the advance made by this country in the industry, Mr. Smith observed, was indicative of the progress of the province as a whole in this line. Last year the total provincial fruit product was $600,-000, with about 14,000 acres under culti vation. This year there had been planted 7,000 more acres, which increased the total to more than 20,000. Mr. Smith is deeply impressed with the fruit growing possibilities of the Saanich peninsula, and in the vicinity of Victoria, of her sister the Minnesota, met with an the most exciting of these competitions as well as along the E. & N. line. In certain varieties these localities cannot be surpassed. The great diversity of ite, and other conditions throughout the province, are responsible for the fact | 10.35. that no two localities excell in the same varieties. For instance, this year, gen-erally speaking, the strawberry crop on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland was a failure, while at Nelson it was a bumper crop. As to the market, the inspector said west, in which they enjoyed exceptional advantages. As long as first class fruit, properly packed, was sent, the local growers had nothing to fear from comprosers had nother petition from Ontario, while the duty and freight rates gave them a most material advantage over Oregon and Washington growers. But in spite of these advan-tages, British Columbia merely sent 25 per cent. of the fruit that was used in per cent. of the Iruit that 75 per cent., which the inspector contended should be the Canadian agent in Australia, who told him that so long as the people of passing difficulties, and it would be unthis province, shipped frint in cold stor-age and in proper condition they would find no trouble in realizing handsome prices on the Island continent, during its off season. There was, he said, a sale there for about $25,000 boxes of fruit annually. Those who had failed to land a profit on their shipments did so because they shipped by ordinary freight. Apples would bring there from eight to ten shillings a box. Mr. Larke spoke highly of the quality of the British Columbia fruit that had arrived there in good condition. Canada's fruit trade with Australia was dealt a staggering blow by the action of an unscrupulous dealer. He sent a sample of Okanagan fruit and received a substantial order, which he filled with Oregon and Wasnington product. The sample was pronounced the best ever imported into Australia, but the shipment was inferior in quality. If the dealers in Australia, Mr. Larke told the inspector, could rely upon British Columbia fruit being put up strictly in accordance with ons of the Fruit Marks Act and shipped in cold storage, they would be perfectly willing to advance the money.
