TOLEDO CROWDED WITH GRAND ARMY MEN

City a Blaze of Light and a Riot of Color to Great Veterans.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 31.—A sweltering, crushed and irritated people who had struggled through the horrors of encampment visitors tonight estimated the strangers within the city gates at a round billion. This was an exaggeration, however, for Adjutant-General Scott, of Illinois, who is a judge of crowds, declared that there was not more than half that number seemingly. Inquiry at the various headquarters where new-comers report for assignment to quarters, indicated the presence of a sufficient number of out-of-town people to swell Toledo's 200,000 to 300,000.

What with the marvelous illumination of the downtown streets, the "Venetian night" on the river and the public reception by the local committee and commanders-in-chief Burton and numerous attractions marking the formal opening of the forty-second encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, the downtown streets were well lighted. Street cars, with their windows full of protruding shoulders of pent-up passengers, moved at snail's pace within a few feet of each other. Automobiles were jammed and hampered for the streets were alive with them. But the sight was worth the battle for foot-room. Riot of color is a cold and futile phrase when asked to serve as descriptive of the illuminations and decorations. Sunday it seemed that the use of electricity and bunting could go no further, but Toledo citizens were merely experimenting. Tonight, with the formal opening of the reunion, all their batteries of astounding color conceptions were turned loose and, as Captain J. B. Meglin, who came all the way from Mexico City and is in a post by himself said: "It was worth the money."

BABY KILLED AND MOTHER INJURED BY AUTO

Grand Wanted Revenge on Seven-Year Old Chaffeur.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 31.—While alighting from an electric car at the corner of Ruggles and Washington streets in Roxbury tonight with her six months old baby in her arms, Mrs. Annie Richmond, of 22 Westminster street was struck by an automobile and knocked down, while her baby was thrown from her arms beneath the wheels of the heavy machine, receiving injuries from which it died on the way to the hospital. Mrs. Richmond herself was badly hurt, sustaining a fractured arm, a broken leg and wounds about the chest and shoulder.

The automobile, owned by J. S. M. Glidden, of Cambridge, and operated by Thomas Cooney, of Dorchester, a 17-year old boy. A large crowd gathered and sang and cheered by the sight of the unconscious child threatened bodily harm to the chauffeur, who was rescued and Electrotyped, 19 Water street. He will probably be charged with manslaughter in court tomorrow.

Anty Drudge Advises the Fireman.

Fireman—"Morning, Anty Drudge! You had better go over to Mrs. Slims; she's terribly burned."
Anty Drudge—"How did it happen?"
Fireman—"Over-heated stove. Trying to get the fire hot enough to boil her clothes. My wife was badly burned last week doing the same thing."
Anty Drudge—"Yes, I'll go right over. But look here, young man! Get your wife Fels-Naptha. Then she won't have to boil the clothes. Just use lukewarm or cool water; let the clothes soak for half an hour; that's all there is to it."

Friendship begins with acquaintance.

All Fels-Naptha wants is an introduction and it will become your boon companion in laundry and kitchen. We are advertising to get Fels-Naptha that introduction into new homes. Then we depend on the soap itself to keep it there.

If Fels-Naptha wouldn't do what we claim; if it wouldn't wash clothes quicker and better in cool or lukewarm water without hard labor or boiling; if it wouldn't save time, work, fuel and health—would over a million women use it every washday?

Not much. But Fels-Naptha will do these things and more; has done them and is doing them for more and more progressive women every year. Follow the easy directions on the back of the red and green wrapper.

SCIENTISTS SAY THAT THE BODY IS IMMORTAL

"The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death," says the Scriptures, yet if some man attempted seriously to reassert this ancient truth today we would look upon him as a mad prophet indeed. Yet the truth will come and men will be able to see it literally fulfilled.

Death some day will be acknowledged as being unnatural in the economy of the creative plan as sin and suffering. But whether or not in some millennium period mortal man will be able to forego the gross process of decay, and the purely metaphysical question that does not enter here. What does interest us in the question, occupying the greatest scientific minds today, whether the body as such can be retained in perfect condition indefinitely.

ENTIRELY NEW BODIES. William A. Hammond, one of the great authorities in medical science and formerly Surgeon-General in the United States Army, answers it by saying: "There is no physiological reason why man should die."

Thomas J. Allen, M. A., LL. D., writing in a similar strain, says: "The human body is not like a machine which must wear out by constant disintegration, for it is self-renewing. It is a simple scientific fact that we get an entirely new body every few years, estimated at from three to seven. Every day is a process for the process of waste and renewal never ceases. Perfect balance between elimination and renewal would avoid permanent waste."

There is no doubt that when we become more enlightened and understand perfectly the laws that govern and determine our physical lives, and when we conform ourselves to those religiously, life will be immeasurably prolonged.

DECAY IS UNNATURAL. The decay of the body, as evidenced in old age, is unnatural. The aesthetic within us recoils in mere contemplation of its approach. We feel that there must be something self-perpetuating in the change when the strong color in a healthy man and the fresh beauty in a young woman take their departure, when the bloom of the cheeks fades, when the brilliant light within the eyes grows dim and the full, red lips become pale and fallen.

Medical science has pointed out the physiological cause of these conditions. Probably the time will come when it will be able to point out the manner of avoiding them. We know that the body grows old because of the existence of an imperfect balance between the waste which the body accumulates and the amount it is able to throw off. During youth the balance is perfect, because the body has more than its normal vitality and strength to throw off the waste matter. But as we grow older this perfect balance becomes destroyed from one cause or another.

EFFECT OF THE MIND. The strength that should go to eliminating impurities from the body is squandered in different ways. Then, too, we eat and drink those things that cause excessive waste. An impure diet composed of foods containing uric acid, such as meat, or of drinks containing poisons, such as tea and coffee, taxes the eliminative powers, and when the time comes when these give way a state of imperfect elimination has set in, the wastes in part are deposited in the system, settling in the arteries and joints of the body and accumulating until they become obstructive elements, and when once this condition exists, had functioning of every organ of the body results, and old age and its attendant infirmities are hastened on or retarded by the unpleasant signs of physical decay. Mental science has satisfactorily demonstrated that mean, narrow, selfish and unpleasant thoughts act destructively on the tissues of the body, while thoughts of a wholesome and positive character act constructively.

And when the curtains of "the windows of the soul" are drawn, when the temple door is closed and a final silence is within, when the spirit passes the threshold to take up a newer and finer edifice of its own creation, science assures us that the body lives on. Here, at least, physical immortality is an assured fact.

THE BAJUS OF BORNEO. Kina Balu, the highest mountain in Borneo, rises nearly 14,000 feet above the sea level. Among the tribes to be found on the mountain are a very strange race of people called the Bajus. They trade in camphor wax, gutta-percha and india-rubber. The great source of their wealth is, however, the edible birds' nests beloved by Chinese gourmets. One of the most peculiar of the customs of the Bajus is the christening of a child. A feather is inserted in the baby's nostril to tickle it; if it sneezes it is a good sign, but if not the ceremony is put off until another day. One of their most inhuman customs is that when their women are dying they are taken to the woods, and left in a hastily built hut, where only the meanness of their slaves may wait on them.

SERBIA'S KING IS ACCUSED OF PLOT TO SLAY DYNASTY

One of the Conspirators Confesses That Peter Organized Scheme to Outhit-erate Royal Family.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 31.—An amazing book, the confessions of a conspirator, was published here last night. It contains details of a wide-spread southern Slav conspiracy for the assassination of Serbia and the most direct accusation against King Peter of being the organizer of the bomb plot for the extinction of the Montenegro dynasty. The volume is entitled "Finale," and the author is George Nasitch, the young Revolutionary, whose revelations at the trial in Cetinje of those concerned in the plot against Prince Nicholas brought the proceedings to a close, and caused sentence to be passed on most of the fifty odd prisoners. Nasitch declares himself appalled by the conspirators' aims, and says he must free his conscience, even at the price of his life. He declares that the aim of the conspiracy is to incorporate Montenegro and the Slav provinces of Austria-Hungary under the Serbian power. Slav officers and men in the Austrian army have been won over and the work is steadily proceeding, directed Nasitch declares by King Peter and his son, and the dignitaries of the Serbian court.

He gives a list of the heads of the Revolutionary organization and the draft of its statutes. The names include those of the President of the Serbian parliament, of Captain Nenadovitch, a near relative and intimate friend of King Peter, and of a score of well known men in Serbia—merchants, army officers and civil servants. Among them is the director of the Serbian State ammunition factory at Kragjevac, who made the bombs destined to kill the Prince of Montenegro.

The Serbian Crown Prince, according to Nasitch, supervised the manufacture of the bombs and gave $1,000 toward the cost. The shortest given to the conspirators by the Serbian Foreign Office is not denied. All their expenses were defrayed from State funds.

And the instigator of the whole movement? "I will not name that adventurer," says Nasitch, "who imposed upon Captain Nenadovitch, Lieutenant Serb, and the other dark-intentioned South Slav creatures of Belgrade the task of hurling bombs at the first and greatest Southern Slav of the present day, his royal Highness Prince Nicholas of Montenegro. My readers will guess who this abandoned wretch it, and the whole world will be aware that it is the same criminal who assassinated King Alexander and Queen Draga, thereby branding the forehead of the Serbian nation forever with the brand of shame!"

In consequence of Nasitch's disclosures, the brothers Valerian and Milan Pribitschewitch, a professor and an army lieutenant respectively, have been arrested on a charge of high treason. Adam Pribitschewitch, a Croatian deputy of the Hungarian Parliament, has attempted suicide in prison by opening an artery in his left arm.

So far there have been twenty-two arrests in Croatia, and more are expected. Mr. Budisavlevitch, another member of the Hungarian Parliament is reported to have escaped to Roumania.

Nasitch arrived in Vienna yesterday to confer with his friends. His movements were watched by the police who finally took him back under escort to Agria, in Croatia.

Compromising correspondence implicating the Belgrade court has been seized.

PLAN MANY REFORMS FOR BANKING SYSTEM

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 31.—Congressman Theodore B. Burton, who has just returned from London, where he attended the session of the subcommittee of the National Monetary Commission, of which he is a member, said today that the work of the commission is sure to assume very great importance. It is the disposition of the members, Mr. Burton said, to take no step hastily, to ignore as far as possible partisan considerations, and seek to secure needed reforms in the national banks and in the issuance of bank notes.

Another sub-committee has been considering proposed reforms in the administrative management of banks, especially in their relation to the treasury department. Among the proposals under consideration, is one to change the present law so that bank examiners should be paid regular salaries, instead of fees payable by the banks, as at present.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS GATHER IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 31.—Over three thousand veterans of the Spanish war were gathered in this city tonight for the formal opening tomorrow of the fifth annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans. By boat and train the young veterans poured into the city during the day until by night nearly every state in the union was represented. The Philippines were represented by a delegation that arrived by train from New York.

The chief event preliminary to the opening of the encampment tomorrow was the banquet tendered by the state branch tonight to Walter S. Hale, of this city, the commander-in-chief.

Willard—Papa, may I go swimming? Papa—Why, Willard, only an hour ago you complained of a pain in your stomach.

Willard—That's all right, papa, I can swim on my back.
