

The St. John Standard.

NEW BRUNSWICK, CANADA.

VOL. V. NO. 64.

TEN PAGES

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 9, 1913

PROBS.—FAIR

PRICE TWO CENTS

BRING VIOLA REID TO CITY FOR TRIAL

Arraigned in Police Court Saturday on Charge of Murdering Her Baby.

CASE IS ADJOURNED TO FRIDAY MORNING

Prosecutors Now Certain Child Was Killed in St. John and Body Carried to Fredericton Junction in Suit Case.

As The Standard exclusively stated on Saturday Viola Reid, the young Fredericton Junction woman charged with murder, was re-arrested Saturday morning and brought to St. John where she was placed in a cell in the Central Police Station.

There was quite a crowd of spectators at court in Fredericton Junction Saturday morning expecting that the preliminary hearing in the case would be commenced in that court, and P. A. Guthrie, the counsel for the prisoner was all ready with his defence. R. B. Hanson was also on hand representing the prosecution. George R. Rideout, chief of the Moncton police, who acted on instructions of the Attorney General, who, however, has successfully worked on the case and made the arrest, was present. One of the first arrivals at the junction from St. John Saturday morning was Detective Patrick Killen armed with a warrant sworn out before Magistrate Ritchie Friday afternoon charging Viola Reid with murder.

As it was alleged by the Crown prosecutors that the baby boy born to Miss Reid was murdered in St. John and then carried to the Junction by her in a dress suit case, Mr. Hanson argued that the prisoner should be dismissed by the Sanbury county magistrate. Mr. Guthrie for the prisoner put up a strong objection to such a move and wished that the preliminary hearing be held in the Fredericton Junction Court. The magistrate, however, decided to dismiss the case, and as soon as he had done so, the prisoner was taken to the Junction and re-arrested on the warrant sworn out in St. John by Chief Rideout.

There was no much time wasted about the Junction after the arrest, as the express for St. John soon swung into the station and Detective Killen, Chief Rideout and the prisoner boarded the train and came to St. John.

Takes Arrest Coolly.

The prisoner, who is a medium-sized, fairly good looking woman, and well dressed, did not appear to take her arrest as serious and walked along with the detective smiling and chatting. She does not appear to realize the serious charge against her. On arrival in St. John she was placed in a cell at the Central station and soon after she was placed behind the bars, her dinner being sent into her from the county jail. At two o'clock she was taken before Magistrate Ritchie in the Police Court and was remanded to jail until Friday morning next at eleven o'clock when the preliminary hearing will commence.

In jail the woman charged with murder was placed in a cell with some other female prisoners and was apparently contented.

According to the Telegraph on Saturday morning the public were led to believe that some person other than the woman was to be arrested and there were many questions asked about the city if there was to be another arrest. As far as known the Telegraph's story is untrue.

The crown authorities appear satisfied that they have a very strong case against the prisoner. They will produce between 12 and 15 witnesses in the case. The body of the infant was exhumed from its grave at Fredericton Junction and identified by a nurse from the Salvation Army Evangelical Home as the child that was born to Viola Reid, the clothing on the infant was also identified.

Wished to Give Baby Away.

As was previously told in The Standard, evidence will be produced to the effect that Miss Reid wished to give the child away while she was in St. John, and that she had requested the doctor and those in the Home not to say anything about the case.

On the day that she left the Evangelical Home with the infant, it will be shown by the crown, that she carried a light dress suit case with her about the city, and that on the evening she went to Fredericton Junction she did not have the child in view, but the suit case which she carried was heavy. It is the belief of the crown prosecutors that the body of the infant was carried from St. John to the Junction in the case by the mother, who is now charged with its murder.

Prisoner Talks Freely.

Chief Rideout has a great deal of evidence to offer on the case, but will not divulge the nature of it. The prisoner has done considerable talking. It is said, since she was arrested, and has told different stories regarding the affair. She claims strongly that she is not guilty of the child's murder but that she gave the child away to parties in St. John before she left for her home in Fredericton Junction. She has claimed that before she left she gave the baby away to a person in the Dufferin Hotel on Charlotte street. It will be shown, the crown authorities say, that this story is untrue.

PROTECTING THE WORKMEN IN DULL TIMES

Labor Department Takes Action Which Will be Endorsed.

SAVING THE WORK FOR CANADIAN MEN.

During Decline in Building Operations Immigration Regulations Formerly Relaxed, Will be Put in Force Again.

Ottawa, June 8.—During the early part of the present year the scarcity of labor from Canada induced the government to relax its regulations to permit the entry into Canada of railroad construction laborers, general laborers and others coming to ensure employment without requiring them to be in possession of $25, as is the general law. This relaxation applied to persons from the British Isles and northern continental Europe.

Owing to the present stringency of the money market and the possible decline in building operations and industrial development, it is felt by the Hon. Mr. Crothers, Minister of Labor, and Acting Minister of the Interior, that a continuance of the relaxation in money qualification regulations, increasing materially as it does the influx of other than agriculturists, is no longer justifiable.

Instructions have been issued to the officers of the Department of Immigration that immigrants arriving on and after July 1st must have in their possession twenty-five dollars each, as required by law. Wide publicity is being given to this ruling in the industrial centers where Canada carries on immigration to Canada will be fully aware of the conditions governing entry to the Dominion.

Farm laborers and female domestic servants for whom there is a great demand in all provinces, are not required to have upon arrival any specific amount of money.

Quebec Town Shaken by an Earthquake

Shock Which Lasted Ten Minutes Swayed Buildings—Residents Flee From Houses in Terror.

Lachate, Que., June 7.—A severe earthquake shock was experienced here at 1:30 p. m. today. The shock lasted about two minutes and buildings throughout the town rocked and swayed. Practically all the residents were awakened, and the event is the chief topic of discussion today.

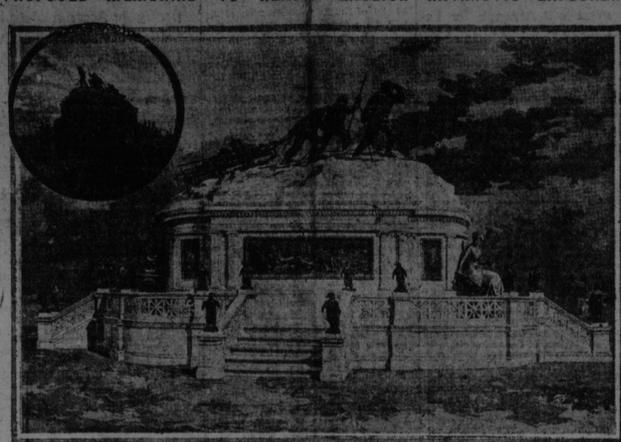

No serious damage to buildings is reported, but residents report numerous small breakages of household utensils and ornaments which were thrown from shelves and mantelpieces. The shock was felt throughout the whole district for miles around, and from reports received was especially severe in the neighborhood of Brownsburg. The quake seemed to come in two distinct waves. Many citizens left their homes and took their children some distance away from all buildings in fear of a recurrence of sufficient force to demolish homes.

Moncton Church Has Anniversary

Moncton, June 8.—Moncton First Baptist church, which recently suffered the loss of the church home by fire, today observed its eighty-fifth anniversary. Rev. Dr. G. O. Gates, who was pastor thirty years ago, was the preacher for the occasion. Both services were held in the Grand Opera House.

The Brotherhood of L. C. R. trainmen, including O. R. C. B. of L. E. and B. of R. T. this morning held a memorial service in St. John's Presbyterian church, the sermon being preached by Rev. Dr. G. M. Campbell, Sackville.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO HEROIC ENGLISH ANTARCTIC EXPLORER.

A PROPOSED MONUMENT TO CAPTAIN SCOTT

The above photograph shows a design of a proposed memorial at London, England, to Captain Scott, the explorer who lost his life in the Antarctic. One of the basic ideas is that the main portion of the design should consist of white marble and bronze. A rough mass of white marble would represent the snow and ice of the Antarctic. Over this sloping mass would be seen a bronze group of Captain Scott and his two companions struggling with their sledges to their final camp. It is proposed that the lower portion of the monument should be of classic design, in the walls of which could be placed high relief bronze panels showing other striking incidents of the expedition. The smaller view shows the effect of the monument when silhouetted against the sky.

MISS DAVISON FIRST MARTYR TO THE CAUSE

Woman Who Tried to Stop King's Horse at Derby Dies from Injuries.

HAD BEEN NOTED FOR HER DARING

Militants Hope Her Death Will Make Government Realize Sincerity of Suffragettes—The Sunday Riot.

London, June 8.—Miss Emily Wilding Davison, the first martyr to the militant efforts of women to obtain the suffrage, died today at the Epson hospital as the result of a fracture of the skull sustained in an attempt to stop the King's horse, Anmer, during the running of the Derby on Wednesday last. Only the martyr of the hospital and two nurses were present at the death of Miss Davison's relatives having left the building when told there was no hope of her regaining consciousness. A few moments before her death two comrades draped the screen surrounding the cot with the red and white colors of the Women's Suffrage and Political Union which she wore when she made her sensational appeal to the women of the classic of the British turf.

In her foalbrady act at the Derby Miss Davison struck on her head, when knocked down, and it was believed at first that her thick hair had saved her from more than concussion, but a later examination showed a fracture of the base of the skull. An operation was performed, but the case was hopeless from the beginning.

Miss Davison was noted for her daring feats in behalf of militancy. One of her earliest exploits was to barricade herself in a cell, and she was only overcome by the warders with the aid of a fire hose. She was one of the most persistent invaders of the House of Commons, which she gained at one time by way of the airshafts.

The inquest will be held Tuesday. The funeral will take place in London and the members of the Women's Political and Social Union will take a prominent part.

Speaking with great emotion at a Hyde Park meeting this afternoon, Mrs. Despard said she hoped that the case of Miss Davison would kindle a flame in the souls of men which would be the present avenger of the wrongs of women. Miss McGowan, another suffragette leader, said that Miss Davison had given her life in order to call attention to the wrongs of women.

In striking contrast to the meetings of the constitutional society in Hyde Park this afternoon and which met with only mild success the attempts of the W. S. P. U. speakers to address the crowd resulted in considerable disorder and a number of fights between the male bodyguards of the women and the women themselves.

The Brotherhood of L. C. R. trainmen, including O. R. C. B. of L. E. and B. of R. T. this morning held a memorial service in St. John's Presbyterian church, the sermon being preached by Rev. Dr. G. M. Campbell, Sackville.

LEADERS OF UNITED MINE WORKERS CHARGED WITH VIOLATING SHERMAN LAW.

Leaders of United Mine Workers Charged With Violating Sherman Law.

COMBINED TO RESTRAIN TRADE AND COMMERCE.

Conspired With Coal Operators to Raise Wages in West Virginia So As To Kill Competition.

Charleston, June 7.—John P. White and eighteen other officials of the United Mine Workers of America were indicted in the federal court here today on a charge of violating the Sherman anti-trust law. It is alleged the defendants conspired with the coal operators of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to raise wages in the West Virginia coal fields so as to prevent its competition with the other four states in the western market.

The indictments charged that the fifteen men affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America, did, in Kanawha county, West Virginia, and within the jurisdiction of the federal district court, conspire in a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce in the markets of the states of the United States to have started September 1, 1912, and continued since.

It is charged in the indictment that the defendants conspired with the coal operators of said states to combine and conspire together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia, in order that and with the intent that said organization by regulating the wages to be paid to said laborers for their work could and would fix control of the price at which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania, and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in the markets of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of