

SUSSEX SHOW OVER.

HAS BEEN A REMARKABLE SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY.

The Exhibits Were Good, the Financial Returns Large, Patronage Was Generous, and Every-one Was Pleased—Names of the Cattle Prize-Winners.

Sussex, N. B., Oct. 6.—There was another big crowd at the exhibition last evening and all the departments were running smoothly. Prof. Dowell on the traps pleased the spectators by his skill and daring acts and Mr. and Mrs. Kasey had the usual throng around them listening to the enchanting strains from guitar and mandolin. A specially prepared programme rendered by the 74th Battalion band was a pleasing feature of the evening.

This morning the weather was such as not to encourage thoughts of the very big attendance to see the horses judged, but as the rain held off until after dinner there were many more people on the grounds than were looked for. The display of horses was a grand one, by far the best ever shown here, and the judging on the whole was very satisfactory.

The exhibition, which closes this evening, has been a great success financially and otherwise and reflects nothing but credit on the management for the enterprise and energy they have displayed.

Notes.

The splendid exhibit made by H. E. Dryden of stores, silversware and the jolly popper Cumberland furnace attracted much attention.

A new patent churn, for which Fred Boyle, of Annapolis, is agent, last night churned two gallons of cream into 15 pounds of fine granular butter in 15 minutes.

Everybody who attended the show this year said they were coming back again next season.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FUND.

A BIG MEETING OF METHODISTS IN CENTENARY DISTRICTS IN CELEBRATION OF THE CHURCH FOR WORK IN THE NEW CENTURY.

Eloquent Speeches Urge the Importance of Raising a Million Dollars to Strengthen the Position of the Church for Work in the New Century.

There was a good attendance at Centenary church last Friday, at the meeting to launch the 20th century fund. Mr. J. R. Woodburn presided, and after devotional exercises, Rev. G. M. Campbell, of Sackville, president of the conference, made a few remarks. He appreciated the privilege he had in helping to kindle the watch fire in this great Methodist movement.

One hundred and fifty years ago, he said, a little band of men across which had expanded into great proportions. Their enthusiasm has kindled the greatest flames in history and when all creeds will combine in the one apostolic church, this little band will have the formative influence. The Christian organizations seem to have poured forth their life into the Wesleyan from whom we pass into the 20th century, he said, we bear a great heritage of theology and doctrine, the central truth of which is human freedom and individuality.

He has been a great blessing to the church, and we bear into the new century a memory of a heroic sacrifice. With these heritages of doctrine, song, church polity and strategy, let us pass into the new century.

Dr. Allison, president of Mount Allison University, was the next speaker and said it had been thought well to commemorate the birth of one century and the death of another by the raising of this fund. It has been an educational mission, superintending and redemption of local church debt. Some of these objects must appeal to us to regard it as a duty.

He proposed that $25,000 be wanted for Mount Allison College, $25,000 to put her on her former footing.

Mr. A. Stockton said that the general conference had decided that it was in the interest of Methodism to raise one million dollars for great objects. In a matter where the general conference and St. John are alike interested, in his remarks he made mention that the first Methodist church in the world was founded in the fall of 1791 and in 1808 the first church was dedicated. The founders of this church had not looked to the present time and it was a duty for this generation to do this. In the bounds of the Methodist conference there was a duty to be done.

Rev. John Read, pastor of Centenary, thanked the speakers and afterwards pronounced the benediction.

The campaign for the fund will commence tomorrow in Portland and Fairville churches.

The Venezuela Sobering.

An American author, residing in England at the time this country was under the Venezuelan insanity in 1855, wrote home to a friend that the English knew we were terribly angry about something, but had not the slightest idea what. No more had we. There never was a time when any rational answer could be given to the question why our secretary of state should suddenly take to writing radiantly despatches to Lord Salisbury or why our president should issue congress and the country by sending in like a bolt from the blue, a message to the latter to call a convention. We do not do something, nobody knew exactly what or where, it would be our duty to do it. It was a brief madness, but awful while it lasted, that period of shirt-sleeve diplomacy and breach-of-credit policy that we have had at least once a year since we were a nation.

Those who yelled loudest are most miserably silent at present, and no better proof can be had that the whole issue was factitious; that Mr. Cleveland's herculean effort to force England in war was a mere bluff, and that the fact that the country has since cared, and now cares, not one straw bit of the business, is a proof that the whole thing was a mere bluff.

We are not raging now to find the Paris tribunal giving England territory which she herself offered to Venezuela, and which the latter country, relying upon our powerful aid, indignantly refused to accept as a basis of settlement? We ought to feel humiliated and humiliated. As a matter of fact, we have no feeling at all about the affair, except annoyance that anybody should revive a bone which we had completely demolished and forgotten. "The Venezuela case, let's see, just what was that case?" "Why, that was the case on which you were going to war with England four years ago." By Jove, so it was. It had slipped my memory. What a good joke!

It is no pleasure to us to recall those innumerable weeks of the close of 1895; but it is necessary, for the reproof of our few Chauvinists, like the Tribune, who have brass enough left to shout, "The American policy wins!" The Venezuelans know better; they are bitterly disappointed. Ex-President Harrison, their chief counsel, knows better; he has gone down to the tavern to rail at the court in fine old country-lawyer fashion. And quite irrespective of the terms of the award, so obviously favorable to England, the American policy did not win in the arbitration because the American policy did not contemplate arbitration at all. If it were fiction to assert now that it did. What was President Cleveland's proposal to congress which set the country on its feet? It was to buy the island of Porto Rico for $20,000,000, and to execute it? Was it arbitration? No, it was the appointment of a commission of our own to go and draw the true boundary line of Venezuela and then "hold" it in defiance of men or devils. That was the policy which we were called upon to "stand be-

A PUBLIC CONVENIENCE.

A HIGH WATER WHARF IS TO BE BUILT AT GLENWOOD.

Provincial and Dominion Representatives Have Been Successful in Having a Petition from the Residents Granted—Tenders Are Advertised For.

Glenwood, Kings County, Oct. 7.—The plans and specifications for the new high water wharf at Glenwood (formerly called Belyea's) in the county of Kings, have been completed by A. R. Wetmore, provincial engineer, and the following notice calling for tenders has been issued:—

"Sealed tenders marked 'Tenders for Belyea's Wharf' will be received at the department of public works, Fredericton, until Monday, 23rd day of October inst. at noon.

For building high water wharf at Belyea's Cove, Greenwich, Kings county, N. B., according to plan and specification to be seen at public works department, Fredericton, and at office of Hon. Wm. Fagley, W. P. P., St. John, N. B.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified bank check or cash for an amount equal to five per cent. of the tender (would prefer not receiving P. O. order), which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into contract when called upon. Should the tender be not accepted the deposit will be returned. Two good sureties must be named in each tender. Not obliged to accept lowest or any tender.

H. R. Evershew, Chief Commissioner, Department Public Works, Fredericton, Oct. 3rd, 1899.

The specifications, after describing a most substantial structure, provides that the work is to be completed on or before the first day of March next in order that the wharf may be ready for use by the public during the high water next spring. The residents of Greenwich and Hamstead and Peterville in the county of Queens feel deeply grateful to and highly appreciate the prompt response made to their request for this new wharf the representatives of the counties of Kings and Queens, and the provincial and Dominion governments. An arrangement has been made whereby each government contributes a share of the cost of the wharf, much needed improvement. The landing is one of the most important on the river, and the convenience and convenience of the new wharf to the people can not be over-estimated.

Great credit is also due Councilor Peckham of Greenwich, for the manner in which he has pressed the claims of the people in this matter. Mr. G. B. Foster, who has been appointed the land free to the government upon which the new wharf is to be built. Joseph A. Richards, of Greenwich, merchant in the building inspector. His appointment is generally accepted as satisfactory and a sufficient guarantee that the contract will be carried out to the letter.

POSTER FOR QUEBEC.

Will Abandon York as the Result of the Gagetown Picnic.

The "huge" Gagetown tent in which the Conservative political picknickers were to assemble to the tune of 3,000 strong was not at all taxed today. Its seating capacity, possibly 350, was not approached. Probably there were 250 men, women and children in the canvas enclosure. A drizzling rain damped the ardor of those gathered together and at no time, though repeated oratorical fireworks were thrown off, did enthusiasm reach an interesting point.

A party of about 75 St. John voters went up on the Victoria in the morning and returned on the held-over David.

Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, R. L. Borden and H. A. Powell, M. P., did not materialize on the programme of speakers as announced broadcast, by Hon. E. W. Foster, John Black of Fredericton, Harry Woods of Wolford, H. B. Hetherington and J. D. Hester were the speakers of the day. Chief interest, of course, centered in Mr. Foster's remarks. He undertook to rob the Liberal government of any degree of credit for the prosperous condition of affairs in Canada within the last three years, and participated on the minister of railways and other members of the cabinet. In an address of an hour and a half the ex-finance minister secured a good hearing, finishing in a desperate attempt at enthusiastic referring to the old flag, Transvaal trouble, etc.

E. B. Hetherington, before closing his blustering few words, nominated, unofficially, Mr. Foster as a candidate for Queens county in the next general elections. It was unanimously seconded, and with a cheer everybody assented. George Galas complemented, and the prearranged job was apparently satisfactory to him.

Deaths and Burials.

There were six burial permits issued last week by the board of health, the deaths being caused one each by malnutrition, meningitis, consumption, pleurisy, congestion of lungs, peritonitis. The death occurred suddenly at Coldbrook Saturday of Mrs. Fannie E. Wilks, wife of Mr. James Wilks, of the rolling mill. She was but 32 years of age and leaves her husband and two children to mourn her. Much sorrow is caused by her early and unexpected death.

Saturday the death occurred of John Mackin, the ex-baseball and member of the Alexis and latterly of the J. Ross team. Deceased was about 24 years of age and enjoyed good health up to about nine or ten months ago when
