Notes of St Joseph's College

St. Joseph' Feb. 12-The Rev. E. Labbie, C. S. C., curate of St. Thomas' church, received word yesterday that his eldest brother has been stricken with paralysis. Father Labbie left for Quebec province by Father O'Neill, who has spent the pas week in the infermary, the victim of a rather painful attack of erysipelas, is now convalescent and expects to resmue his regular duties on Monday next.

convalescent and expects to resmue his regular duties on Monday next.

Rev. Mother Philomene, of St. Vincent's Convent, St. John, has recently been visiting the Westmorland Sisters of Charity. Her sojourn at the Sacred Heart Convent here was an egreable interlude in the ordinary routine of boarding school life.

The semi-annual examinations terminated on the 7th inst., and while the oficial returns have not as yet been publicly announced, he general impression seems to be that the results have been as satisfactory as could reasonably be anticipated.

The death of Father Michael J. Coughlan, of Johnyille, affected many members of the faculty as a personal grief. Just ten years ago this month the dead priest entered on his last session as a student at St. Joseph's, taking his B. A. degreee in June, 1893. His was, if a brief, a notably well-filled career.

Histrionic matters, scenic effects, stage properties, costumes, make-ups and rhearsals are the topics that bid fair to hold the floor during the next three or four weeks. The dramatic societies, English and French, are in full swing with their entertainments to be held on the March festivals, St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's, John Brady, of Philodelphia, moderator of St. Patrick's Literary and Dramatic Society, is rehearsing the four-act drama "The Irish Agent' as the main item on the programme for the 17th prox.

When Mr. McManmon, of Lowell (Mass.), left home in September last for St. Joseph's, the Lowell papers commented on the loss which his absence would inflict on the New England Basket Ball League of which he was admittedly one of the srongest players. "Mike's" presence here probably accounts for the unwonted vogue which basket ball has attained during the current winter. He has trained the college team to such purpose that its members are now on the lookout for outside competitors.

He appeared as a government candidate and it was only fair that he should tell the reasons that actuated him in changing from an opponent to a supporter thereof. He had been called inconsistent, but by whom? Was it the old friends who had stood shoulder to shoulder with Was it, then, by the friends of Mr. LaBillois? No. It was hurled at him by the gentlemen who had joined the opposition 24 hours after they had heard Mr. Mott had done so. In order to get at the reasons he reviewed some of the issues in the last campaign in which he opposed the present government. "You will remember," said ae, "in 1899, Mr. LaBillois was commissioner of agriculture for New Brunswick. I then stated in Restigouche and e.sewhere that was not an appropriate portfolio for him, but that it should be filled by a practical farmer, and now it is, and that part of my argument was swept from me and the government concurred with my views the government concurred with my views and that of a great many of the electors (Continued on page 7, seventh column.) and claimed that to get the best results they had better select a practical farmer. Now we have it so and 1 am now in per-gard to this.

"In the last fight—the question known as the steel bridge matter was raised in every county and I did take issue with the government and stated that I und not believe that such large contracts should be let by private tender. It was further brought out in the house and a committee in the legislature, with learned counsel from both sides, brought in a report ex-onerating the government. Could I do otherwise? I could not longer find fault and this became a dead issue.

"Mr. LaBillois lets all bridges to be built by public tender. I admit he has pursued a business policy and conducted the department to the satisfaction of the electors of Restigouche and of the province at large. (Cheers).

"In talking to an intelligent young man

"In talking to an intelligent young man of this county who graduated from the University of New Brunswick some time ago, he said: 'Do you know that Mr. LaBillois is a man greatly thought of in Fredericton and all parts of New Brunswick, and that it was a fact that he was the best thought of member of the present government.' (Cheers). I admitt d t at the manner in which he was conducting his department was fast winning him

Muskoka Lumber Matter. I had opposed the government for 10 years on another issue, and that is what is known as the Muskoka lumber deal. A company of this name acquired large tracts of lumber limits and I took the ground here and on other patforms that no num here and on other patterns that no number of men had a right to acquire public lands and not operate them, and I have nothing to take back. I was told they did operate. I took the same ground in 1896 and 1899, and who among the defendence of the present government are more ers of the present government was more strenuous and more eloquent in defending them than Mr. Mott, who later deserted the government on that self same issue. Further, in 1891, the present chairman, Kilgour Shives, began negotiations with the Muskoka Lumber Company to acquire these limits, and these negotiations con-tinued until March 3rd, 1902, when Mr. Shives obtained an option on these limits. Seven days later, on the 10th of March, a petition was presented, calling upon the government to cancel grant of limits of the Muskoka Lumber Company, because they had not operated on the limits. The speaker here quoted a section of the lumber lease act referring to this, showing that the government had no right to cancel a lease without first calling upon the ho ders to operate. Was the Muskoka Lumber Company called upon to act? Lucy were demanded to cancel part of their limits

Mr. Shives had an option at the time the petition was prepared.

"I am aware, this is contradicted by the opposition press and I called on Mr. Shives and have this information over his own signature and the very time the petition called for a cancellation of the lease Mr. Shives had an option and had associated ated with him capitalists who found $750,-000 to operate these limits and who are now erecting a mill at a cost of $75,000 three miles from the town of Campbell On the other hand the very respectable gentleman on the petition asked for can-cellation that he might obtain it." The speaker drew a very striking com-parison of the benefits to the country as a result of this capital invested, with the benefits which would have been derived if the petitioner had got the limits and operated a small industry.

It would have been better, he said, for the people of Restigouche to have com-pensated the loser than to lose such an pensated the loser than to lose such an industry as the one now operating these limits. Many towns would gladly bonus such to the extent of $20,000 or $25,000. There was only one thing for the government to do in the interest of the county, and it was to endorse the transfer of that leave to the Shives Lumper Company. and it was to endorse the transfer of that lease to the Shives Lumber Company. (Cheers).

"Some of the opposition speakers say the Muskoka Lumber Company made $200,000.

Muskoka Lumber Company made $200,000, and the St. John Sun says they robbed the province. The lumber is there yet and Mr. Shives will have to pay as much in the way of stumpage and employment as any of his competitors. If any one lost it was the chairman. Does he look as if he was badly bitten? (Laughter). Is he complaining? No. It is left to the St. John Sun to do so, and if that is the best it can do it is weak. (Laughter). St. John Sun to do so, and it that is the best it can do it is weak. (Laughter).

"The government here again met my contentions and in fact when I heard of the fight that Mr. Shives and his associates were having, my sympathy went out to him and I said then, if the government did right they should be backed up and I expressed such to Mr. Shives up and I expressed such to Mr. Shives many months ago.

"I don't care what the past policy of the government was. I want to know the fu-ture and the future of the government is sufficient for me. (Cheers). So far a is sufficient for me. (Cheers). So far at a lean learn its policy is now in accord with what I consider beneficial for Restigouche and the province at large."

The speaker, at some length, referred to the attitude of Mr. Mott in seeking the support of the Liberals in 1890 and the manner in which he repaid them in 1900.

Although not a native of Restigouche, he had taken a prominent part in all the elections that had taken place, and had something to say on all public matters, and therefore was not a stranger but personally known to most every one in the meeting and throughout the county. Head always been an opponent (not a candiday was returned.)

Amid cheers he swept away several de-nominational canvasses stated by the op-position and concluded a most forcible

HON. MR. LaBILLOIS.

Chief Commissioner Disposes of Opposition Hon. C. H. LaBillois was greeted with prolonged cheers. He said he was pleased to be able to address an audience compos ed of the leading citizens from the differ ent parts of the county, which was the largest in his 20 years' campaigning. He feit he would be taking too much upon himself if he placed the policy of the government before them. As the premier and Hon. Mr. McKeown would address them at a further meeting he would therefore take up generalities. He referred to the report of the public accounts committee which not only exonerated the government on the charge of bridge extravations.

He stated that it was the subsidies to railways that had increased the public expenditure, and in glowing terms and amid cheers reminded the electors of res amid cheers reminded the electors of restigouche that they should be the last to find fault on this score, having subsidized as they had the Restigouche & Western Railway which, with its terminus at Campbellton, was opening up such a rich and valuable country. He referred to the creditable educational policy of the government, and also particularized the agricultural policy which has been such a benefit to the framers. He showed how Restigouche now derived an annual expenditure of $20,482 as compared with $5,734 under the old government, and, in closing referred to the prosepects of the government winning in the province and stated that they would not elect Mr. Hazen. (Cheers).

He predicted a large majority in Restigouche. Government meetings will be held at various places during the next few in lights. The government committee rooms are thrown open and the friends of the government are working harmoniously and energetically and if the other counties follow Restigouche there will be no opposition.
