PERSONALS

VOLUNTEER ACTION CENTRE

The Volunter Action Centre (Phone 482-6431), a United Way agency, is recruiting volunteers to work in correctional institutions, where they are needed to compile assessments, tutor and counsel inmates, help with recreation, escort inmates on passes and work one to one with people recently released from institutions.

Volunteer instructors are needed to teach cooking and nutrition, rock and roll dance, and recreation awareness to metnally handicapped adult, and to be partners in recreation classes with handicapped people who need extra help and encouragement.

The Edmonton Police Department's Crime Victims Assistance program needs volunteers to provide support and information for crime victims; city hospitals and nursing homes need volunteers for a wide variety of assignments, including recreation, assistance at swimming lessons, meal time help, visiting, escorting, library cataloguing, editing assistance for a history book, plant care, cart maintenance on the wards and special visiting for young, brain injury patients and groups who speak French, Hungarian or Ukrainian.

Urgent requests for individual volunteer assignments include need for a resource assistant, a photographer, a calligrapher, and an organizer for a Monday afternoon seniors' grop.

Volunteer are also needed to provide information about birth control, sexuality and contreption, both by telephone and in person. Extensive training and staff support is provided.
