

- CCVII. The Diagnosis of Typhoid Fever.
New York Medical Journal, Nov. 4th, 1899.
- CCVIII. Hypertrophic Cirrhosis of the Liver, with Bronzing of the Skin: Hæmochromatosis.
British Medical Journal, Dec. 9th, 1899.
- CCIX. On Splenic Anæmia.
American Journal of Medical Sciences, January, 1900.
- CCX. The Home Treatment of Consumption.
Maryland Medical Journal, January, 1900.
- CCXI. A Case of Multiple Gangrene in Malarial Fever.
Johns Hopkins Hospital Bulletin, February, 1900.
- CCXII. Latent Cancer of the Stomach.
Philadelphia Medical Journal, February 3rd, 1900.
- CCXIII. The Visceral Lesions of the Erythema Group.
British Journal of Dermatology, Volume 12, 1900.
- CCXIV. The Importance of Post-graduate Study.
The Lancet, July 14th, 1900.
- CCXV. Elisha Bartlett, a Rhode Island Philosopher.
Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1900.
- CCXVI. John Locke as a Physician.
The Lancet, October 20th, 1900.
- CCXVII. Hemiplegia in Typhoid Fever.
Johns Hopkins Hospital Reports, Vol. 8, 1900.
- CCXVIII. Hepatic Complications of Typhoid Fever.
Johns Hopkins Hospital Reports, Vol. 8, 1900.
- CCXIX. Analysis and General Summary of Cases of Typhoid Fever from 1889-1899.
Johns Hopkins Hospital Reports, Vol. 8, 1900.
- CCXX. Special Features, Symptoms and Complications of Typhoid Fever.
Johns Hopkins Hospital Reports, Vol. 8, 1900.
- CCXXI. On the Study of Tuberculosis.
Philadelphia Medical Journal, Dec. 1st, 1900.
- CCXXII. On Perforation and Periforative Peritonitis in Typhoid Fever.
Philadelphia Medical Journal, Jan. 19th, 1901.
- CCXXIII. "Books and Men."
Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, Jan. 17th, 1901.
- CCXXIV. The Progress of Medicine in the Nineteenth Century.
New York Sun, January 27th, 1901.

Not included in collection (but reprinted in 'Aquanimitas [Sc.]', p. 227).