Teutonic Forces Unable to Resist Blows Dealt Them by the Russians

Russian Military Critics Dwell on Russian Successes on the Various Fronts and the Absence of Any Indications That the Enemy Forces Are Able to Effectively Parry Them

THE INVASION OF HUNGARY HAS BEGUN

Russians Are Now One Day's March Into Hungary and Threaten Austrian Rear in the Mountains—Russian Advance Continues in Asia Minor—No Confirmation Yet of Report That Russia Gets Both Banks of the Dardanelles

LONDON, July 19.—When General Haig's afternoon report was despatched from Headquarters in France, violent fighting, which had developed from a German counter-attack, had been going on all night long, and had given the Germans a footing in Delville Wood and Longueval, and it is still in progress. German attacks on Waterloo farm and other points were repulsed. In the brief despatch tonight General Haig sends the announcement that most of the ground this had been regained in both places, and that the British have dispersed the Germans who were massing for a further attack on Waterloo farm. These despatches seem to confirm the opinions expressed by correspondents at the front, of the declining strength of the German counter-attacks.

enemy forces are able to effectively parry them. The recent Russian successes have brought them much nearer Vladimir and Kovel. The German communications between Kovel and Lemberg are threatened by the Russian advance on Stoynoff and Sokal. Preliminary to the investment of Lemberg in Transylvania, the Russians have succeeded in crossing the important eastern passes, in the Carpathians, Jablonitz and Kirilbaba, while they also hold the command of the Deltay-Budapest railway, their cavalry moving in the rear of Genl. Panger's forces between Kimpolung and Kutly. Apparently the invasion of Hungary has begun, and according to one report the Russian force is already one day's march into Hungary, and threatening the Austrian rear in the mountains. The Russian advance continues successfully in Asia Minor, and it is reported that the Turks have again evacuated Kermanshah. There is no confirmation as yet of the interesting statement made by Professor Paul MituZoff to the Duma, that Russia had reached an agreement with the Allies by which she is promised both banks of the Dardanelles.

Will Wait for Page's Report

U. S. Government Will Await Ambassador Page's Report Before Taking Action re U. S. Firms "Blacklisted" by British Government.

NEW YORK, July 19.—An Associated Press despatch from Washington says that action on Britain's black list of nearly a hundred firms doing business in the States, under the terms of the "Trading with the Enemy Act," is being delayed by the State Department with the expectation that Ambassador Page in London will send some sort of report. If a report does not arrive soon, the department probably will cable an enquiry, which in turn will be presented to the British Foreign Office. At the State Department to-day it was stated that every development was being carefully observed. There was some intimation that Britain's latest action might be construed as unfriendly. Hitherto representations on behalf of American firms placed on the black list have resulted in the removal of their names.

ANOTHER JOLT FOR MINISTRY IS RECORDED

Motion Submitted to Commons Dealing With Extension of Life Present Parliament is Withdrawn by Asquith as Strong Opposition Was Registered Against Measure—Carson Denounced Government's Attitude

LONDON, July 20.—The question whether a general election should be held when the present parliament expires in November led the Government receiving a rebuff in the Commons to-day. Herbert L. Samuel, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, on behalf of the Government, submitted to the House a motion in favour of the appointment of a committee to consider the advisability of preparing a new electoral register, including adequate representation for those engaged in war work and to take other measures necessary for the holding of a general election during the war. The motion was warmly opposed by all sections of the House as being merely a move to shelve the issue.

Sir Edward Carson strongly denounced the proposed course and took exception to the view of the Government that it was inadvisable to hold an election during the war. He stoutly opposed the idea that Parliament was elected to abolish the House of Lords and to do away with armaments was a proper one, but to represent the country when peace is eventually declared. Sir Edward characterized the Government's motion as a farce.

After a number of other members had spoken, the Premier said the motion appeared to meet with little favour. Obviously, however, he said the existence of the present Parliament could not be prolonged indefinitely. The problem had been acted and the Government, he declared, would accept the judgment of the House and withdrew the motion.
