Trusts Everywhere Bourke Cockran's speech in Lewiston Friday night consisted largely in charging the organization of trusts against the American protective system. President Roosevelt in one of his recent speeches in Maine aptly remarked that in 1893 nobody comin trouble, workingmen and women were in enforced idleness, credit was broken down, free traders had their tariff and the devil was to pay. Now notwithstanding there are some trusts that are misemploying their Yukoner is in From Whitehorse Misappropriating Dust From Mrs. power, labor is employed better than The Morning Joke Misinterprets Some Months Ago Now Filled by at any time in American history, and at better wages-the cost of living even being 20 per cent. less than in 1880.
