After breakfast and a short visit to Grandfather Mounteer, who is recovering slowly from the effects of the runaway last week, we soon reach Louisslowly from the effects of the run-away last week, we soon reach Louis-ville, for the wheeling is excellent, to find the Methodist Sunday school only half attended and the class

only half attended and the class meeting omitted altogether, to make way for their harvest home festival. The Baptist church kindly withdrew their service to unite with a sister church, both ministers are in the pulpit, Rev. Mr. McFarlane, the new pastor of the Baptist church, opens the service with prayer. He is growing into the good will of this section. Rev. Mr. Garbutt is the speaker of the day and the sermons most suitable; usual decorations with a grand floral display, the Kent Bridge choir and a packed congregation make a beginning. Music and congregational singing very good; Mrs. Pickard has her assistants in fine training, their diminuendoes and crescendoes in the two anthems would do credit to any city church. They would have another service at night with the choir of the Huffman church of Harwich to lead, and no doubt they were packed out, and will be to-night in the another the survey of of the Huffman church of Harwich to head, and no doubt they were packed out, and will be to-night in the annual banquet, to be followed by music, recitations and addresses from the neighboring clergy, both members of Parliament, the Mayor of our city, and others. Hastening home, the front tire explodes within two miles of town, and Bloomfield Sunday school opens at 2.45, but we have miles of town, and Bloomfield Sunday school opens at 2.45, but we have ten minutes of song with the boys and girls there before that time. Miss Sarah Dolsen and Mrs. Drury are at their post faithfully and anhour is enjoyed here, while Brother Ward sees Union Hall Sunday school is not left without help. Some local wavarm hearted workers are badly meeded to take hold here; no doubt they are willing but have never been terained to lead in prayer or praise, which is a great pity, for the children attend well. Separation Agreement Attacked by Minority In the Storthing.

Minority In the Storthing.

Christiania, Oct. 9.—In the Storthing Saturday a debate was opened on the Karlstad agreement concerning the dissolution of the union between Norway and Sweden. The Republican minority, which is opposed to the agreement, and which is supposed to number twenty votes, profited by the occasion to attack Premier Michelsen and Foreign Minister Loveland, and the other Norwegian negotiators. wegian negotiators.

The discussion began in the morning

The discussion began in the morning and was adjourned late Saturday night. It will be continued to-day and will undoubtedly result in the acceptance by an overwhelming majority of the Government's proposals. Norway then will await a corresponding decision by the Swedish Riksdag, and the notification of its acceptance of the dissolutions of the union before electing as king, Prince Charles of Denmark, which is expected to take place the last week in October.

M. Prehenzem, chairman of the special committee appointed to report on the agreement, opened the debate. He said, a different result might indeed have been desired in many respects, but that the house would serve the true interests of the country by adopting the agreement row. ommittee a the agreement now.

interests of the country by adopting the agreement now.

The spokesman of the minority said that if the fortifications were razed. Sweden would be able to develop an army and hinder Norweglan mobilization and render Norway powerless. The minority, he added, had hoped to secure the full independence of Norway, but the agreement curtailed independence to such an extent that the minority would rather retain the constitution.

Premier Michelsen said the laurels won by the Swedish chauvinists filled the Norwegian chauvinists with envy. It had been the object of the Norwegian policy to repress this chauvinism. The whole of the north was grateful to the Swedish Liberals for combating chauvinism. All the powers, the Premier continued, had earnessly advised Norway to arrange the relation with Sweden, to which the Government's efforts were directed, and added that a majority of the experts consulted were of the opinion that the retention of the fortifications was a vital question.

Victoria Park commissioners held a meeting behind closed doors Saturday morning.

The most important action taken was in respect to the application of the International Railway Company, operating the Niagara Falls Park and River Road, asking that the company be permitted to use some of the electricity generated at their power house in the park for the American side of the river for traction purposes.

After a thorough discussion the commissioners decided to deny the application on the ground that such a permit would engender disputes between the city and the railway company, both of whom take water from a common intake.

over the Dougherty school fund scandal.

Evidence was presented to the county inquisitors indicating that Dougherty stuffed the teachers' pay rolls to the extent of $3,000 or more a month for an indefinite period. On the showing of steals thus perpetrated in a single month, 114 new indictments for embezzlement and forgery were voted, making the total number of true bills, so far, 222.

The accused man is having difficulty finding sureties. The grand jury found the names of fifty-seven fietitious teachers on the pay roll for one mouth. They were all down for various amounts running from $45 up to $80.

The stuffed pay roll in September, 1903 has thus netted Dougherty $3,000.

All over Wales God's people are building churches or chapels, seating from 300 to 500 cople. In Rhos the public house men owned the instruments for a band that used to play to entice the minera to spend their money on Saturday nights for liquor. These public houses remained openfill 11 or 12 o'clock. The churches there got together and purchased the instruments for £60. The members of the band were converted and became workers in the good ceuse. A bandsman had told him of the great benefits he had received in accepting Christ. The band that once catered to the public house was now playing ing in the church and Sunday school!

Christ did not respect the Weish cople any more than the Canadians, Germans or any other nationality. The speaker exhorted his hearers to a more consecrated life in the Master's service. Continued from Page One,
