-"You are as full of airs as a music box," is what a young man said to a girl who refused to let him see her home. "That may be," was the reply, "but I don't go with a crank." -"Will you have salt on your eggs?" asked a hotel waiter of the guest. "Oh, no, thanks. They are not at all fresh." Then the waiter went out to consuit the landlord, to see if the hotel had been insulted.

A young man asked the lady of his Ayoung man asked the lady of his affections the other evening how she liked the look of his new style standing collar. After critically surveying him and the collar, she replied, "Very nice indeed. It looks like a white-washed fence round a which I will sell low for cash.

—"Can you tell me," said Emory Storrs, cocking his right eye at Blaine, "why it is the Irish are so much in love with John Logan?" Blaine gave it up. "Can you?" turning to Mr. Tenney. "No. Why?" "Because he murders the Eaglish."

—A conceited young country parson, walking home from church with one of the ladics of his congregation, said, in allusion to his rustic audience, "This morning I preached to a congregation of asses!" "I thought of that," observed the lady, "when you called them your beloved brethren! Times are Hard and I will Sell Cheap to Everybody.
