HAPPY MOTHER OF Cayuse Woman Proud of Duplicate Babies. WILL BE ALLOWED TO LIVE.

WILL BE ALLOWED TO LIVE. Him-ye-aa-hi-hi is a Caynes squaw who has the distinction of being the mother of the only pair of twins in the tribe. It is the custom in her tribe to slay all babies that come in dupli-cate, and the woman, known as White Fawn, is proud that an excep-tion has been made in favor of her of apring-two little daughters, as cute as Indian babies can be. When the rides into Pendleton, Ore, near, which the reservation of her tribe is located, she lays them across her balar of staddlebags, and no whimper is heard from them as the pony logs along over the rough and rugged and. It is said among the Caynes Indians that the two daughters of Chief Qui-the paleface had todden over the hoppy valleys of the red man, when upon the mountains thero roumed the spiraty and wild goat: when the stream were full of fishes, and when the and made good pasture for great herds of ponies. nocks. But before the Umatilins and the Walla Wallas could join their ai-lies the Bannocks, 1,000 strong, had almost exterminated the Cayuses and returned home. The medicine man of the Cayuses attributed their defeat to the twins of Cougar Shirt, and since that time till Tox-elox and A-lompum came, two and a half years ago, no twins born to the tribe have been allowed to live. When not far from How-tim-e-nee creek, which flows, near the southern boundary of the Umatilia reservation, White Fawn gave birth to these two paposes, Chief Si-ah-sum (No Shirt) remembered, doubt-less, the bad luck the twins of Cou-gar Shirt had brought upon the Cay-uses, issued an edic declaring (that the tribe must comply with their ancient law-that the twins must be killed. Ha-hots-mo-mo (Yellow Griz-siy Bear) the father of Tox-e-lox and A-lompum, loved his paposes and did not want to see them put to death. He therefore induced Chief No Shirt to chal the great council assembled Yellow Grizzy Bear, dressed as if ready for the warpath, his face painted yellow and red, beat for a few minutes with his war club the big rawhide council drum. He was the greatest orator in the tribe and hoped by power of speech to save the hives of his twink. When there was no noise but the rusting of the leafy branches under while the coun-cil ast, his stolid _face mere than calm, Yellow Grizziy Bear began to speak. . . TLEADED FOR HIS CHILDREN.
