The management of the skating rink is arranging for a grand masquerade carnival on Wednesday evening next. Valuable prizes will be given for the best costumes. As this is the first carnival of the season, and perhaps the only one, it should draw a crowd.

The Fernie Bagpipe Band is practicing daily for the Bonspiel. At their meeting Monday Alex. McCord was elected pipe major and A. D. Carrie manager. Those desirous of joining the above organization may correspond with the above officials. Carrie's Augmented Orchestra has been engaged for the opening of the Flathead Hotel at Corbin on Friday, Jan. 9.

The Great Northern Railway is issuing monthly a calendar which makes the prettiest hanger we have seen this year. The pictorial part of the January card shows Two Medicine Camp and Lake, in Glacier National Park, just across the international boundary line to the south of us. Those who are fortunate enough to receive these calendars may, if they save them for the entire year, make a very beautiful wall panel which would be an ornament to any room in the home.

Fernie is to have a notable visitor on Jan. 18. Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, the general superintendent of the Methodist church for the whole of Canada, is passing through the Crow's Nest region and has agreed to speak here on Sunday, Jan. 18, at the Methodist church. Those who fail to hear Dr. Chown will miss a real speaker, a man who has something to say on twentieth century subjects and can say them in a strong and compelling way.

The big Morrissey snowslide, which failed to mobilize for the last three winters, got the notion on Tuesday morning at about 8 o'clock, and laid its nose across the G. N. track. There is not much snow in the bottom of the Elk valley at present but the slide shows plenty of evidence that there is snow higher up. A rotary plow was requisitioned from Whitefish and while it was boring a hole through the snowbank the G. N. operated its trains over the C.P.R., making the transfer at Fernie and Waldo. A number of people from Fernie went down to Swinton to get an eyefull of the sight.

It's a hard cold world. A boy approached the secretary of the dog racing association with an inquiry as to whether goats were allowed in the races. The look of utter obsequiation that he received put him back about a year's growth.

Died: In Cial Creek, on Jan. 7, Thomas Joyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Joyce, aged 10 years. The funeral will take place from home at Coal Creek on Sunday afternoon, interment being made in St. Margaret's cemetery on arrival of the four o'clock train.

City council met last night in a short session. Various accounts were passed and the engineer's report received. Sherwood Herchmer addressed the council in reference to a bill against "Roarin' Game," for $73 for water extension to curing rink. The matter will be left for next year's council.

THE DOG RACES

Providence having sent the snow and the business men of the city having contributed the prizes, the Annual Dog Races promoted by T. Hugh Whelan, will be pulled off next Wednesday afternoon, on the trail of '97, if the crowds stand back far enough to give the dogs seaway.

In order that there may be no slips, errors, miscalculations or mistakes, it should be noted that all entries must be made at the Napanee hotel before Monday night next. All a boy has to do is to give his own name and the name of his dog. That is simple enough.

The contests are open to the world or any other territory, and cross dogs should be muzzled. Contestants coming from foreign parts are advised to secure standard convention certificates from railway or steamship ticket offices. Stable accommodations will be provided for all dogs.

The Grand Free-for-All will cover a course three blocks long and as wide as events may determine. The slow race will be pulled off with the drivers exchanged. Every boy entering the races will get a prize. Here is the list. It looks attractive.
