

Lt.-Col. Taylor Dead.
Kingston, Ont., Jan. 29.—Lieut.-Col. Norton Taylor is dead, from the effects of injuries received from slipping on an icy pavement, consequent on the brain resulting. He leaves a widow and three children. One son is a teller in the Halifax branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Archbishop Gauthier is dangerously ill.

The financial statement of the liquidators of the defunct Locomotive Works Company was made known today. There are 126 creditors, whose claims total $339,503.12. The assets will pay 50 cents on the dollar.

Eulogies of Verdi.
Rome, Jan. 29.—The Chamber of Deputies was crowded yesterday, when the president, Signor Valla, the Minister of Education, Signor Gallo and Deputies of all parties eulogized the late Giuseppe Verdi. It was decided to drape the chamber in mourning for seven days, and a delegation to the funeral, and to hold a solemn memorial celebration a month after the funeral, which, in accordance with Verdi's request, will be most simple. The session of the House was then suspended.

Protruding, Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist Minister, Concession, Prince Edward County, Ont., states: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed, and I had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose. "Now, imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared, and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man to-day, and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation and many years of suffering. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

THE "CABINET FREE LANCE"

Hon. Mr. Dobell Says Fast Atlantic Project Is Only Quiescent.

Would Retain Mr. Peterson's Forfeit Money, as It Is Due to His Failure to Finance That the Question Remains in Abeyance at Present—The Hon. Gentleman Spoke Feelingly on the Death of the Queen.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—The Hon. Mr. Dobell has returned from England, admitting that the fast Atlantic service had not advanced at all, but stating that it must not be considered dead.

"The scheme is quiescent," is how the hon. gentleman put the matter. "We lost the opportunity mainly through the action of Mr. Peterson. We went a certain length with that gentleman, relying on his statement that he could finance the operation. He did not succeed. All was chaotic. There was nothing definite. Mr. Peterson failed and we have to bear the effect of that failure. I for one think that Mr. Peterson's forfeit should be given him. If there is any thought of returning it I shall certainly have no party to the idea. I will have nothing to do with it. Mr. Peterson is entitled to lose his forfeit. Had we imagined that they would be any difficulty we should not have proceeded so far with Mr. Peterson. But we shall have the fast service in time. The scheme is not dead. We shall have to wait for it. I do not believe in forcing matters. At the present time all the great ship-building yards in England, Scotland and Ireland are full of orders. I have been making inquiries. Some of them are full up for the next two or three years. There would be no use in pressing the matter now, for there would be no competition, and the prices asked would be out of the question. When things are normal again in the ship-building world the question may come to the front."

Mr. Dobell in New York.
New York, Jan. 29.—"If the United States would only be a little more generous and less selfish an arrangement might be arrived at by which the United States, England and Canada could join in building an international Nicaragua Canal without forts and without soldiers."

Thus spoke R. R. Dobell, a member of the Canadian Ministry, who arrived from England on the Etruria yesterday.

"A far away where is a menace," continued Mr. Dobell. "The absence of forts and soldiers on an international canal at Nicaragua would be the best possible guarantee of peace. In case it were threatened by foreign nations, the combined fleets of Canada and the United States would ensure its defence."

Influence of the Queen.
Mr. Dobell did not hear of the death of the Queen until the news was brought aboard the steamship by the Sandy Hook pilot.

"Thank God," he said, "that she passed away without pain. Her history is unique, and her influence does not die with her, but will last for generations. It is also very far-reaching, and it should have the result of uniting all the English-speaking nations and peoples in the closest and most friendly of friendships. Indeed, I think it will have this result, and bring especially Americans, Canadians and Englishmen into a closer and warmer relationship."

A Cabinet Free Lance.
Mr. Dobell somewhat facetiously describes himself as "a sort of Cabinet free lance, since, although a member of the Canadian Ministry, he carries no portfolio. This leaves him free to look after things in general. Concerning the Boer war, he said: "I have been watching things very closely with regard to South Africa, and I think the trouble will soon be over. It will if Devent surrenders. We should then hear the last of the war."

"Great Britain would then give the Transvaal and other disaffected colonies in South Africa a free Government, with equal rights to all, such as she gave to Egypt, which was sunk in degradation. Today Egypt is prosperous and a fertile country, and under British rule the once-degraded Egyptians have become a self-respecting and law-abiding nation. The soil of Egypt has been so assiduously cultivated that it has become a garden spot, and what England did for Egypt she can do in South Africa."

MINISTER BLAIR IN EARNEST.

He Will Really Take Up the Question of a Railway Commission.
Ottawa, Jan. 29.—It is stated here that Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways, is really taking up the question of a railway commission, and that if not this session it is certain by next session he will have a bill in that direction ready to submit to Parliament. It is further said that the present manager of the Intercolonial Railway, Mr. Pottinger, will be a member of the commission, and it is hinted that not unlikely a seat on the commission will be offered to Hon. John Haggart, ex-Minister of Railways and Canada.

Not Initiated But Good.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Street yesterday decided in connection with the North Bruce election trial that the ballots not initiated by the deputy returning officers should count. Either side may now count these. The court sits again on Feb. 4, this time at Southampton, to hear evidence on the charges of corruption.

DEATH OF GIUSEPPE VERDI.

The Greatest Musical Composer of Modern Times

Breathed His Last on Sunday Morning— Was Eighty-Six Years of Age—Came of Humble Parentage, and Musical Genius Was Helped by a Benefactor— His Death Was Peaceful—The King Sends a Telegram of Condolence.

Milan, Jan. 27.—Verdi died at 2.50 o'clock this morning.

King Victor Emmanuel sent to the family a telegram of condolence on behalf of himself and Queen Helena, saying: "We join in the homage of regrets and admiration to the immortal memory of Verdi, the musician and the glorious art of our country. He suffered a loss as serious that it is beyond repair."

Sketch of His Life.
In the development and perfection of the Italian school of music, no name stands higher than that of the great master, who has just passed away.

Giuseppe Verdi was a native of Busseto, Northern Italy, and was born in 1813 of humble extraction, his father being an innkeeper. He was indebted for musical initiation to a local organist and in 1832 the munificence of a wealthy patron furnished him the means for perfecting his studies at Milan. Falling to obtain admission to the Conservatory, he was placed under the tuition of a member of the orchestra of La Scala. The next six years he spent in mastering the details of operatic structure, and in 1838 launched on his great career by the production of his first work, "Oberto il Re di Bonifacio," which was moderately successful. His next effort was "Il Giorno di Reano," a comic theme, hastily written to order in 1841, and a positive failure. The following year saw the production of "Nabucco," which instantly established his fame. In this work he developed those characteristics of brilliant melody, combined with vivid musical-dramatic effects, which have maintained his popularity intact to the present time. In 1843 he produced "I Lombardi," a somewhat of the same type, musically, as "Nabucco," the rather more finished in detail. The next two years brought forth four grand operas: "Ernani," "I due Foscari," "Alzavola di Arco" and "Alzavola di Arco." For a time Verdi was the most popular of his works. Its distinguished features are extreme vigor and brilliancy of melody, without floridity, strong sense of rhythm, and a certain grandeur of orchestration. It was first presented in Venice in 1841. His next opera, "Attila," followed two years later, at Venice, but was a success. In 1845 he produced "Macbeth," which, the exceedingly faulty, was accorded extraordinary public recognition. The author was called before the audience at each of the performances, and the first three performances, escorted to and from the theatre by enthusiastic crowds and presented with a golden crown. This, however, was not altogether a success, and the artistic merits of the opera, Verdi was an ardent sympathizer with the Liberal politicians of Italy and the friends of "Macbeth" contained many allusions which the censor interpreted in a political sense. The same year Verdi visited London and there produced "I Masnadieri." In the representation of which Jenny Lind took the leading role. In spite of this, however, the opera was a decided failure and was pronounced by a local critic the worst ever heard in England. In 1847, also a French version of "I Lombardi," under the title, "Jerusalem," was given at the Grand Opera, Paris. The following year the composer wrote for Trieste "Il Corsario," which was a success. In 1848 he produced "La Forza del Destino," presented at St. Petersburg, 1863; "Don Carlos," 1867; "Aida," first production at Cairo in 1871, and writer at the request of the Khedive of Egypt, and in recent years, "Otello" and "Falstaff." The last three operas, constituting what may be considered the third and final stage in the evolution of the author's genius, have done much to elevate his reputation, being characterized by great elaboration and amplified with all the resources of modern instrumentation. Verdi usually spent the winter at the Borja palace in Genoa. In 1859 he was elected a member of the National Assembly of Parma and in 1861 sat as a deputy in the Italian Parliament. In 1874 the King appointed him a Senator.

DISLIKES HIS MAJESTY.
Public School Teacher's Opinion of the New Sovereign Given to Her Pupils.
Toronto, Jan. 29.—Some very un-patriotic references to the new sovereign made to school pupils may get a young lady teacher on the Public School teaching staff in "a heap" of trouble. She is said to have even gone so far as to have deplored His Majesty's accession to the throne, because, ostensibly, he has been a patron of the turf and mingled with Monte Carlo type of men. A clergyman yesterday entered a protest at the inspector's office against such "reasonable" utterances before school pupils.

DAM BURST AND FLOOD.
Gaysboro, N. S., Post Road Under Water and Traffic Blocked.
Halifax, N.S., Jan. 29.—By the bursting of a 20-foot dam at Soller's Lake, in Halifax County, on Saturday, the Gaysboro Main Post road is severed at a point where it is a distance of three miles, blocking all traffic in that section of the county, and preventing passage to Musquodoboit by that route. The Crossley dam and the Miller dam are being repaired, and it is feared that they will give way and flood a large section of the county. If the Miller dam breaks it will sweep away Stevens' sawmill and a number of houses.

FOREIGN ENVOYS CONFER.

Meeting at Peking to Decide Upon Punishment of Officials.
More Chinese Negotiators—Two Additional Ones Appointed to Assist Prince Ching and Earl Li—A Shanghai Report That Li Hung Chang Is Very Ill—Chinese Officials and Captured Boxer Leaders Held For Punishment.

Peking, Jan. 28.—A meeting of the foreign envoys was held today, which was attended only by those whose fellow-countrymen have been killed in the insurrection. The object being to decide upon minor officials. A report will be made to a general meeting of the Ministers, to be held probably after the funeral of Queen Victoria. The Ministers refuse to state the decisions arrived at, but it is believed that few will be headed, and certainly not the highest officials.

More Negotiators Appointed.
Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching have, on their request, had Cheng and Chou appointed as negotiators. The negotiators, Chou Fu is the newly-appointed treasurer of Chili, and was formerly Chinese Minister to Korea.

Chinese Officials to Be Punished.
Hsin Tung, the notorious anti-foreign guardian of the bell apparent, and also Chih Sin, a member of the Tsing Yi Yamen, and the Boxer leaders, captured in the Japanese quarter are being held for punishment.

Christianity Dead in China.
New York, Jan. 29.—George Lynch, an English war correspondent who has arrived here on his way to England, having gone through the atrocities committed by the allies' soldiers—from which the Americans, the Japanese and the English troops were exempted.

"Any thoughtful person who has been in Peking with the allies cannot but speculate as to what effect this visitation will have on the population of China. It is luminously evident, to my mind, that for generations to come the progress of Christianity in China is absolutely dead. The faith was practically making no real progress, and what little progress it has made among the lower classes and the destitute coolies, who form the bulk of the so-called

QUEEN FEEL FOR DREYFUS.

She Regarded Him as "The Just" and as "Victim of the Crime of 1894."

New York, Jan. 29.—The Herald prints the following despatch from Geneva:

The Journal La Suisse de Geneve publishes the following article relative to Queen Victoria and the Dreyfus affair:

"To mention only one instance of the Queen's deep sense of justice, I will content myself with recalling the attitude taken by the sovereign during the years of the terrible 'affaire.'"

"From the outset she has espoused the cause of the innocent man, whom she described by the charming expression, 'the just.' The smallest details of the heartrending drama were faithfully recounted to her, and often in private conversation she spoke with tears in her eyes of the sufferings of the victims, for she felt as much attachment as admiration for the whole Dreyfus family."

"Few people know that during the Rennes trial, she had instructed her Ambassador to keep her informed of the results of each session. When, causing anguish shared by all her entourage, the monstrous verdict became known to her, she had the following words said to her:

"Thank for your telegram giving the finding against that poor martyr. I hope he will appeal against that fearful sentence."

"Thereupon she withdrew into her private apartments, and passed the greater part of the evening to pray for 'the just man' and his admirable helpmate."

"Among the great ones of this earth there is not one who had a doubt of Dreyfus' innocence. Yet there was no other who dared so openly and frankly to display sympathy for the victims of the crime of 1894."

A CURE FOR DEFORMITIES.

An Austrian Surgeon Reports a Discovery of Great Merit.

Vienna, Jan. 29.—Prof. Robert Gersuny, one of the most eminent surgeons of Austria, reports an important discovery which he has just made. This discovery consists in the use of a mixture of paraffin and vasoline in curing physical deformities and filling cavities caused by the removal of portions of bones. In a large number of experiments this treatment has proved perfectly successful.

The mixture is injected beneath the epidermis at a temperature of 104 degrees. It hardens quickly and remains in position without the possibility of shifting. It does not irritate the surrounding parts, and is in no way harmful to the blood.

Prof. Gersuny declines to allow the discovery to benefit him financially, declaring that he values it purely from the medical and scientific standpoints.
