Paints Thing As He Sees It With Breadth and Idealism

St. Thomas Smith Keeps Gulf Fixed Between Fine Art and Interior Decoration.

Over the old-fashioned white marble discovered a fireplace in the art gallery at 205a Dundas street there hangs a canvas which is the gem of a collection of paintings to a sister tree on the other, all safon view this week and next, the work standing sential and the typical of Mr. W. St. Thomas Smith. Below october sky and atmosphere hinted in the hearth glows a coal fire. From the picture comes the radiance of a golden sunset, as caught and held by the artist in Pitheen Harbor, Fife-the artist in Pitheen Harbor, Fife-scene laid in the river valley in years.

In the foreground is dark fishing in St. Thomas. In marked contrast craft, rearing sombre sails high into the sky. Off to the right is the out-the grass on the flats.

The minor key is struck once and topaz light for topaz light. Where-sver attention wanders, always it re-turns to the Kohinoor, symbol of a haunting wraith of a picture. peace, safety and light at eventide. Suggesting Turner in the warmth of the coloring and diffusion of light, it has the authority of a masterpiece.

Keeping to nature, which he love as poet and idealist, as well as realist, whatsoever St. Thomas Smith does, he does wondrously well. Always he has been noted among Canadian painters for the excellence of his deep water effects. Descendant of a line of sea-going folk, he has painted the sea in its many moods with the inherited understanding of those of the man who sails before the mast. But, as revealed in his present exhibit, he is equally in tune with a Fifeshire coast village, the Orkney moors, the as it breaks upon the Nova otia shore, Western Ontario gorgeous autumn dress, or St Paul's Cathedral, London, Ontario, on a rainy evening.

There's a stretch of mid-ocean that is stupendous in its depth and power, as constrasted with the masted ship that is tossed about like a cockleshel Of just such a canvas by St. Thomas Smith, a sea captain said a few years ago. "It's the only real picture here It is the only water I ever saw I felt I could plunge into and swim."

A London Connoisseur who dropped in to view the exhibit yesterday insisted upon carrying away one of the smaller paintings, a fisherman's house, rearing its rough-cast walls, with glints of red in the roof, on the rock coast of Fifeshire. "I was born in Fifeshire," he exclaimed. "I must have that picture on my walls before

Nova Scotia Lady, After Suffering For Nearly Three Years Turns To Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mulgrave, N. S., March 5.

(Special.)—"I cannot recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills enough." This enthusiastic statement is made by Mrs. Alex. Goodwin, a well-known resident of this place. "For nearly three years I was run down, had a very weak heart, and was so nervous that at times I would almost faint away. Many people re-commended Dodd's Kidney Pills for my trouble. I found, after I had taken two boxes, that they were doing me good, and after using six boxes I was completely relieved. I can now do a good day's work, and scarcely ever feel tired."

Mrs. Goodwin's troubles were caused by the kidneys. That's why got such prompt and complete relief from Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they act only on the kidneys.

St. Thomas Smith paints with a fine regard for drawing, for perspective and composition. He paints houses trees, boats, rocks, skies, moorlands, hills and water recognizable as such, but with a soul-satisfying breadth, sweep, vision and imaginative quality, which removes his work far from the nigged and photographic. When he has taken the last stroke with his schools of Minnesota. Mrs. Shaw is brush, the result is finished but never finicky. A master colorist, even in the most vivid and pictorial bits of Methodist Church autumn landscape, or in the highly-keyed reproduction of a fishing village, he remains strictly within the realm of fine art, keeping a very realm of fine art, keeping a very definite gulf fixed between that and make CHLD WELFARE mere mural decoration. mere mural decoration.

his, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Advt.
