A CATTLE MARKET GRIEVANCE.

Lessee Spink's Opinion of the Drovers—What the Committee Did.

The Markets and License Committee met yesterday, present: Ald. George Verral (chairman), Foster, Bell, Jolliffe, Saunders, Stanley, McMath, Pape, J. E. Verral, Hall and City Commissioner Coatsworth. Mr. C. Flanagan headed a deputation of drovers attending the meeting to protest against the high price for fodder charged them by the lessee of the Western cattle market, William Spink. It was alleged that the lessee also charged an unequal price, thus charging $1 a cwt. and another $1.50. Again it was further charged that the prices for feed were exorbitant. The deputation consisted of C. Flanagan, D. McDonald, James Halliday, John Foster, H. Austin, Colin Campbell, Hugh Munro, W. Hogg, Joseph Cook, Robert Holmes, George Cameron, William Carnegie, J. Clysdale, R. Teskey, John H. Bailey, William Fawcett, W. H. Mayne, Hugh Mills, Robert Lewis, R. Hershey, W. A. Kyle, W. Gillen, G. B. Keys, John Noble, George Wood, R. S. Wood, T. Didman, R. L. Briggs, F. W. Ritchings, T. Brennan, N. Weldon, J. Close, George Creabock, F. M. Bush, C. Zeagman, John Brennan, D. O'Leary, John Henderson, Thomas Neely, Thomas Purs, Thomas Heal, Charles Gillespie, William Heal, William Lapton, R. H. Rowan, Thomas Jones, Joseph Scholes, G. B. Slack, H. Heal, G. J. Watts, George Wynn, J. H. McDougall, Thomas Bromley, R. Pugsley, Allen Waimes, J. and E. Groff.

Mr. Flanagan made a strong appeal, explaining the ground on which the deputation based its complaint. He thought that Mr. Spink had no right to charge exorbitant rates for fodder or forbid drovers supplying their own feed. If the city did not come to their rescue the drovers intended to appeal to the law to aid them. It was evident from the different speakers that there was a substantial grievance. Owing to the arbitrary methods pursued in the market a number of the drovers had stopped calling at the market and sought other camping grounds. Mr. Spink got the floor and said he was going to stand on his rights. He knew what they were and would see them enforced. Half of the drovers were nothing but a pack of thieves, anyhow, and stole his hay right along. The City Solicitor will report on the subject.

PARKS AND GARDENS BUSINESS.

The Police Commissioners to Be Asked to Take Action.

Ald. Lucas was chairman of the Parks and Gardens Committee yesterday, in the temporary absence of Ald. Score. There were present: Ald. J. E. Verral, Macdonald, George Verral, Hewitt, McMath and the Park Commissioner. Ald. J. E. Verral made a big fight for a fence on the Wellington-street side of Stanley Park. The Park Commissioner strongly favored the proposition to place around it a chain and post fence like the one surrounding Clarence-square. It was decided to put a fence on the Wellington-street side and let the Commissioner send in a report on the other portions of the park.

Ald. Score about this time arrived and took the chair. He wanted the committee to take action in the matter of disgraceful Sunday exhibitions in the Queen's Park. He thought the time was come to stop this business.

Ald. Graham said it would be impossible to interfere, as it would be disturbing the right of free speech.

Under advice of City Clerk Blevins it was determined to ask the Police Commissioners to take the matter under their consideration.

Denies McConnell's Statement.

Editor World: On my return from England to-day a copy of your issue of the 13th inst. has been placed before me, in which charges of a grave nature reported to emanate from Dr. McConnell, V.S., are made against me and others as expert valuators of the street railway horses for the city.

I can only say here that the statements, charges and inuendo appearing in your paper are entirely without foundation, and I insist upon the fullest investigation by any competent tribunal of such charges and statements.

I may say in order that this may take place at once I have instructed my solicitors, Messrs. Murdock & Tytler, to put my claim of $1375 in court at once. When the city and the Street Railway Committee will have an opportunity of declaring themselves anent the unwarrantable and unfounded charges made in your paper.

In conclusion I court the fullest investigation, it cannot take place too soon in my interest. W. D. GRAND.

If True—Some One Has Been Negligent.

Editor World: On July 16 a statement appeared in your paper to the effect that one medical gentleman in Toronto had 50 cases of diphtheria in his practice. As this assertion tends to create a false and alarming impression I wish to say that there are only 53 cases of diphtheria reported throughout the whole city since June 15, or last month. Some physician in North Toronto must be very remiss if he has had 50 cases in his own practice and has reported only a small per cent. of them. A. H. PYNE,

Contagious Disease Officer.

The Veterans of '37.

Editor World: Just received two papers, one to W. Simmons, our delegate to represent the old veterns of '37-8, who went with J. P. Merritt of St. Catherines from here, but returned without Mr. Merritt. I would like to hear from Mr. Merritt, as he is our best delegate. As the cause of the old vets. will now come before the House the movements of members at Ottawa will be watched with interest. I am encouraged to press their claims. GEORGE MERRILL.

Belleville, July 17.

Hanlan's Point.

This afternoon and evening the world's greatest horizontal bar performers, Napier and Marzelo, will give their two last exhibitions. The Grenadier Band will play on each occasion. On Monday afternoon Manager Conner's new attractions will commence their week's engagement. Zamora, the Mexican wonder, will give his unequalled trapeze act. McDonald, the King of Clubs as he is called, will give an exhibition of club swinging, probably never surpassed by any artist that has appeared in Toronto. Performances will be given each afternoon and evening next week at 4.30 and 9.30 o'clock, weather permitting. On Wednesday, both afternoon and evening, the celebrated XIII. Battalion Band of Hamilton will give concerts. All performances are free to the public.

The Best Pills.—Mr. William Vandevoort Sydney Crossing, Ont., writes: "We have been using Parmelee's Pills, and find them by far the best pills we ever used." For delicate and debilitated constitutions these pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

First Aid to the Injured.

An ambulance class of Grand Trunk Railway employes under the instruction of Dr. Riordan have just completed the course of five lectures prescribed by the St. John Ambulance Society of London, Eng., and have been examined by Dr. E. W. Spragge. As the result of the examination the following gentlemen have been recommended for a "certificate of proficiency": Mr. William Ball, George Foreman, Timothy Epps, Henry Richardson and John Garden.

The Usual Way.

The usual way is to neglect bad blood until boils, blotches and sores make its presence forcibly known; every wise person ought to be careful to purify the blood by using the best blood purifier and tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. Its purifying power is unrivalled.

Competing for the Medal.

Messrs. John I. Hobson of Mossboro and F. C. Hodson of London have just returned from visiting the farms between Toronto and Hastings County, competing for the medal offered by the Dominion Live Stock Association. Their decision has not yet been reached. They report fine crops and the prospects of a bountiful harvest.

Holloway's Corn Cure destroys all kinds of corns and warts, root and branch. Who then would endure them with such a cheap and effectual remedy within reach?

THE KHAN'S TRAIL.

His Progress Towards Beverly Swamp Plainly Marked.

The Khan left Toronto for a well-earned holiday on Tuesday. The readers of the World can testify that his Pegasus has been climbing the Parnassian heights very industriously for the past few months and though the noble steed showed no signs of waning powers yet it was thought safest to send him out to grass for a few weeks. A few extracts from contemporaries show that the steed and its gifted owner are making their brilliant way homeward.

Hamilton Spectator: The Khan came here Tuesday on the Modjeska. He is going home to Beverly to wait until the National Teachers' Convention is over. The presence of 10,000 school ma'ms has frightened him out of Toronto.

Dundas Banner: The Khan blew in from Toronto on Tuesday. He is going home for a few weeks rest. It is said he has several capitalists interested in the removal of his stone quarry to Toronto. The Khan, however, does not want anything said about it.

The Banner also publishes the following effusion by the Khan on a local celebrity named Bub Russell, for whom the police are looking:

Bub Russell.

They are wanting Bub, and the chief of police
Is sweating to catch this outlaw small,
But while they are searching for Bub on the hill,
He is trolling for pike in the flowing canal.

Then while they are searching the breezy canal,
Bub Russell is up, with an elegant gall,
And cunningly laying their well-planned plans
Full as a goat, near Mr. Devan's.

Each place and port under heaven's dome
The chief has sought him living or dead—
If the good old chief would only go home
And earnestly look underneath the bed
He will find—'nuff said.

Dundas Star: The murky atmosphere which permeates the circumambient atmosphere of the office in which the agricultural, religious, snake and other editors of this great organ of public opinion put in their time was brightly illumined on Tuesday afternoon. It was the Khan who was responsible for the illumination. He dropped in on his way home, where he will lubricate his brain until the end of the month, when he will leave for New York to take a position on the staff of The New York World. Rockton and Canada have reason to feel proud of this literary genius, as only literary stars are engaged to write for this great paper. His salary will be $300 a week.

STOLE A CORPSE'S CLOTHES.

A Convict Hides in a Coffin in the Dead House and Swims to Liberty.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Daniel C. Curry escaped from Hart's Island in a novel manner. Curry was a quiet prisoner. He soon won the favor of the keepers, and was put to work with a gang in Potter's field. Many liberties were permitted him that the others did not have. When the keeper called the men together at night on June 26, and marched them to quarters, Curry slid away and skulked along the bushes on the roadside until he reached the dead house, where he pushed himself in through an open window and climbed over a pile of plain wooden coffins. Into one of the coffins he jumped, lying down and drew the cover on. Until night he stayed in the coffin. Then he climbed out, and finding the body of a man brought there for burial, proceeded to strip the corpse of its clothing. He clothed the body in his convict suit and put on the dead man's clothes. Then Curry stole out of the window and ran down to the shore to make his escape. A storm was gathering and not a soul could be seen. The waters tossed a heavy log upon the shore and Curry seized it and rolled it to one side. From a board fence near by the convict ripped off four planks and lashed them together with rope and seaweed picked up from the shore. He used no nails lest he should attract the attention of guards. Placing the boards on the log, he procured a long strip of wood, and mounting the rude raft, paused off from the shore and paddled southward in the storm.

Three times he was thrown off, but he succeeded in getting on the raft again and paddled along. He drifted down the sound opposite Berrian Island, a distance of ten miles, when he was tossed from his raft and swam to the shore exhausted. It then was about 2 o'clock in the morning. It was mid forenoon when Curry hailed three men in a row boat, whom he told that he had been out rowing and his boat sank. The boatmen took him to the city. The keepers on the island did not discover Curry's escape until morning. They believed he had tried to swim to City Island, a distance of a mile and a half, and finally concluded that he had been drowned. Keeper Rehan learned at the Eighth Regiment Armory where the convict's wife lived. He visited the house with Policeman Pertell and found Curry and he was returned to prison.

Musee Theatre.

The largest and most beneficial of the conventions held by the teachers during the past three or four years is the one just held in our city. The strangers while sojourning here have availed themselves of visiting the different points of interest as well as the places of amusement afforded them by our city, but it is a noticeable fact that none of these have contributed so much to their real enjoyment and edification as has Toronto's palace amusement resort—the Musee Theatre. They are unanimous in pronouncing it the most educational resort of amusement in America.

The strangers who remain over until next week, as well as our own patrons, will have an opportunity of witnessing another big list of novelties in both Lecture Hall and Theatre. The Theatre program will be furnished by the Walters' Australian Novelty Company, which is composed of some of the most noted American and European Vaudeville Artists. Prof. Greenwood, the perfect ventriloquist, Miss Blanche Walters, serio comic soug and dance artist; Ben Lodge, the inimitable comedian; La Petite Mable, character change artist; Paul Stanley, the great and only comique; Miss Emily Tenafield, in warbling songs; Mable and Blanche Walters, skipping and skirt dancers. In the Lecture Hall Walter Haggard's "Me and Him" will appear in a burlesque boxing match, also our Canada's products. Prof. Squires, who plays upon piano, four violins and cornet at the same time. Prof. Sig. Andres, the celebrated mandolinist.

Buying Titles.

The New York Sun caustically and sarcastically observes: These data may interest the American girl ambitious for titled consorts:

King of Roumania crazy, the Emperor of Austria melancholy, the Czarina, the infant King of Spain, and the sovereigns of Italy, Portugal and Belgium are invalids, while the Czar and the Sultan and King Milan are sick with fright. Grave fears are expressed for the health of the English Crown Prince, and his recent conduct might give reason for entertaining yet more serious doubts of his sanity. All of these, too, except the King of Spain, are married.

"Doctor" Bunnel Loses a Foot.

PICTON, July 17.—An old man named Bunnel was knocked down and run over by some cars that were being shunted in the C.P.R. yard here this afternoon. One foot was cut off at the instep. He received other injuries of a serious nature. The old man was an itinerent peddler of medicines and was known throughout this section as Dr. Bunnel.
