They knocked the ball everywhere, over the fence and over the stand. The fielders grew weary and the spectators smiled. Dickey bowled Lord Hawke, after his Lordship had made 53 runs, Milles was caught by Boyd and Wright by Fleury. Ricketts made 29 runs, and then tipped a fly to Goldingham, who thus put him out. Woods knocked a high one to Fleury, and retired without a run. Time was then called and the Englishmen retired. They leave to-night for Ottawa. The score for this exhibition innings was as follows:

Remedy Strongly Recommended!-

The Results Are Wonderful! The world-known Sir Morell Mackenzie, M.D., asserts in one of his papers that influenza, or la grippe, which is still lingering in our midst, is the result of "poisoned nerves"; and from this hypothesis "the bewildering diversity of symptoms become intelligible if we regard them as the results of disordered nervous actions." Dr. Mackenzie compares it to the extraordinary disturbance in the telegraphic system produced by a thunderstorm, and says that is nothing "compared with the freaks played by the conductors in the human body if anything throws the governing centres out of gear."

This theory of "poisoned nerves" is one that explains an almost infinite variety of attacks and ailments. Some of the most common and best observed symptoms are nervousness, nervous headache, sleeplessness, irritability, nervous dyspepsia and morbid feelings. These are the most common ailments of to-day and are bringing thousands down to the grave. Only recently one of our noted Canadian physicians declared "that nine tenths of such victims could easily have been saved to their families and their country if their ailments had been treated in a commontheir ailments had been treated in a common sense way."
This same physician declared that "the nervous system was not properly fed"; these are strong and suggestive words.

The true, honest, educated physician of The true, honest, educated physician of our day is recommending nature's great nerve food in all cases where the nervous system is out of order. When he finds the poor sufferer with unstrung nerves, a sluggish circulation, a sallow countenance, sunken eyes or suffering from sleeplesness, and headaches, he advises the use of Paine's Celery Compound. He knows that rheumatism, neuralgia and dyspepsia are the result of a disorganized nervous system, and he at ouce says "use Celery Compound."

This grand remedy of nature is neither new nor untried; it has saved its tens of thousands from death, and possesses the same mighty power for the relief and cure of all who suffer to-day. It requires but one of all who suffer to-day. It requires but one of all to convince the most skeptical and oddurate. No other medicine has ever effected such wonderful results in our land.
