EARLY WINTER ON THE FARM. Home-Raised Beef - Farm Accounts -

Western dressed beef could not compete with home-raised beef if the Western beef was not of good quality. Much as has been said in regard to the monopoly of the markets by dressed beef, the fact is that it is of excellent quality compared with that which has been furnished the consumers by butchers who have accepted old cows, poor steers and other animals that have been out of condition for the butcher in many ways. When the farmers begin to raise "choice" beef, by using beef-producing breeds, they will be able to compete with Western beef without difficulty. It is a said truth, but lack of quality in home-raised meat has given up the markets to Western ready-dressed beef.

At the end of the year each farmer should survey his work, and compare his expenses with his receipts. Credit that which was purchased for the family, and also the proportion of product of the farm that was consumed, as well as estimating the value of the manure and increase of stock. The result may show that the farmer has made a fair profit. Keep accounts next season and learn what has been done.

Radishes for winter may be stored in sand in the cellar. Root crops may also be kept in this manner.

Working the garden with the spade and hoe on heavy soil, is hard work in the spring, and is not much relished by farmers, who prefer the horse hoe. The soil can be mellowed some if it is deeply plowed at this season. or if the plot is too small to admit of plowing, it may be spaced. No raking is necessary, but a heavy application of lime should be given.

All small fruits in the garden will be benefited by a heavy mulching of manure, which protects the roots against frequent thawing and freezing

Farmers who believe that farming does not pay should ask themselves if they are using the best kind of stock, Gloves. improved labor-saving makes. Also, if they allow their manure to go to waste, and if weeds are allowed to rob the soil and the plants. Farming, like any other business, pays in proportion to the skill bestowed in the management.

Rich food is essential to secure the maximum product from an animal, but such food should be fed to stock that can utilize it to the best advantage. Some animals may not consume as much as others, but will more completely digest and assimilate the food, pletely digest and assimilate the food, and thus avoid loss of portions that would be valueless to animals that are unable to convert food into more than the average proportion of available pro-

A Successful Social.

The first grand concert and social under the auspices of St. Joseph's Court, No. 370, Catholio Order of Foreters, was held at Dingman's Hall last night before a large and appreciative audience. The program, which was lengthy and good was contributed to by the following ladies and gantlemen: Misses Dennis, Flynn, Evoy, Herson, Curran, Mrs. Green, and Messrs. F. Richard, J. W. Wright, rFank Wright and Lubar's orchestra.

After the concert dancing was indulged in till after midnight. St. Joseph's Court is steadily growing, and it now embraces a large number of members. There is no doubt that it is doing a good work in the East end of the city. A Successful Social.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Logan & Co., Chicago: The wheat market co., Chicago: The wheat market he price; thes for a time was the only sustaining power to it. Cables came higher, but against that there were no shipments from the seaboard. Telegram frem New York suys tonage cannot be had until the middle of next month; meantime our stocks continue to increase. Without exports there cannot be any permanent advance. We look for European markets tojce pup and go higher. The absence of shipments from this side will help the advance there, although it may not help us any. Corn-The trade is very light in the pit; the cash demand 'was good for all grades at yesterday's prices. Our advices fare, receipts will keep up as they are, which is not in favor of any advance at present.
