

10. Sectoral analyses / Government procurement /
Analyses sectorielles / Marchés publiques

See also sections 11 (studies of the Mexican market) and 18 (forecasting effects of NAFTA).

Voir aussi les sections 11 (études du marché mexicain) et 18 (prévisions des effets de l'ALÉNA).

Andere, Eduardo, and Georgina Kessel, compiladores. México y el Tratado Trilateral de Libre Comercio: Impacto Sectorial. México, D.F.: McGraw-Hill/Interamericana de México, 1992.

Automotive Parts Manufacturers' Association (Canada). "A Comparative Study of the Cost Competitiveness of the Automotive Parts Manufacturing Industry in North America: Final Report, March 26, 1990." Toronto: Booz, Allen & Hamilton / Pilorusso Research Associates, 1990. HD9710.3 .A88 1990

Ayres, Heather R. "The North American EDI 'bloc'" Twin Plant News 8 (February 1993): 32-33. Looks at prospect of harmonization of North American standards in electronic data interchange.

Baker, George. "Reserves Dispute Points to Need for U.S.-Mexico Cooperation on Oil E&D." Oil & Gas Journal 90 (9 May 1992): 34-38.

Baker, Stephen, and Greg Bowens. "Detroit South: Mexico's Auto Boom." Business Week (16 March 1992) 98-103. On the Mexican automotive industry in NAFTA negotiations.

Bonturi, Marcos, and Montague J. Lord. "Commerce latino-américain de produits manufacturés: une étude empirique." In Options stratégiques pour l'Amérique latine dans les années 90, edited by Colin I. Bradford, Jr., 21-103. Paris: OCDE, 1992. Comprend vingt-huit tableaux des statistiques analytiques sur les industries de fabrication et le commerce latino-américains. ZZ EC140 92S75 FRE Doc & Mform

_____. "Latin America's Trade in Manufactures: An Empirical Study." In Strategic Options for Latin America in the 1990s, edited by Colin I. Bradford, Jr., 21-99. Paris: OECD, 1992. Includes twenty-eight statistical tables. ZZ EC140 92S75 ENG Doc & Mform