

I have been told, and sometimes in the same breath, that such teaching as is contained in the present tract is apostolic but dangerous, a contradiction that needs no answer ; be careful to be apostolic, and we cannot be dangerous ; or, to quote the words of Dr. Fuller, present Bishop of Niagara, " If anything deserves to be called folly and madness, it is the preferring human inventions to the wisdom which comes from above." (Sermon : Religious Excitement tried by Scripture.)

And my prayer is, that those who read this may be helped thereby to exclaim, (if feebly,) " And the life which I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me."
