

for Empire and for the pride of a great Confederacy ; and they have paid the penalty, first, in the poison which the domination of the slave-owner has spread through their political and social system, and, secondly, in this dreadful and disastrous war.

THE END.