AN INSURANCE INSPECTOR

Claims That There is a Lack of System in the Toronto Method.

Insurance Underwriters, has been revived by the Eckardt fire of Toronto. World's articles on the Toronto brigaue were extensively read here, and nearly gade. One man whom The World met was an inspector of a leading Montreal H. S. fire insurance company, who was at both the Eckardt fires, and speaks with authority. According to the inspector, lack of system was the noticeable feature in the light against each. The captain of each station's sole alm was not to find our where the seat of the fire was, but to see who could get his hose first to work. There was no thought-out campaign, but a slap-dash determination to get the water in. "In fighting fire," said the inspector. "the insurance companies by general consent give the palm to the methods of Chiefs Aitchison of Hamilton and Calder of Brantford. Aitchison's secret of success lies in his using his head and having a thoroughly disciplined force behind him. fire insurance company, who was at both

WHITE IS A BAD MAN,

In Chicago. He has deserted his wife and four children, and their destitute condition has been made public, Mrs. White's story is as follows:

"I married Samuel T. White in the parish of St. Aussell's, Cornwall, England, on May 14, 1884. He soon afterward went to Canada, and some time afterward sent for me and our boy, and also for his mother, and we came out and joined him.

"In Toronto he worked for H. P. Davies, and bloycle manufacturer, but on account of an embezziement of $800 was forced to seek refuge in the United States, where, since his arrival, he has proteoded to he."

Solve the full stan, offering to make terms of submission, and promising to surrender all the loot and the Government rifles. It is believed they will surrender on any terms.

According to a telegram from Peshawur to Jamrud, were driving from Peshawur to Jamrud, were fired at by men hiding in the rocks less than a mile from camp. They had a narrow escape and their coachman was killed. ish of St. Aussell's, Cornwall, England, on May 14, 1884. He soon afterward went to Canada, and some time afterward sent for me and our boy, and also for his mother, and we came out and joined him. "In Toronto he worked for H. P. Davies, a bicycle manufacturer, but on account of an embezzlement of $800 was forced to seek refuge in the United States, where, since his arrival, he has pretended to be a native-born American.

"He came to Chicago, where he obtained employment selling bicycles on commission. I followed and rejoined him, and helped out by working in a braid factory, and thus kept him when he got out of work. After working for various bicycle firms he got a position, three years ago last December, with the Western Wheel Works, North Wells-street, from which he received, and still receives, a large salary, out of which he allowed me $50 a month to support us and his mother, and to pay for furniture.

"He stayed away from his home for port us and his mother, and to pay for furniture.

"He stayed away from his home for months at a time. At length certain matters aroused my suspicions, and I became convinced that he was seized with the epidemic of inidelity that is now getting men jobs as freaks in dime inuseums. Through a detective agency I learned that he was living with another woman, known only as 'Flo,' as man and wife, at 3124 Wabash-avenue, and from a diary of his that I accidentally disovered, I found that on his travels he was much in the company of sundry Jessies and Idas, goodness knows how many of them.

"Last June, I had him arrested, and he gave bond before Justice Everett for $750. A meeting was arranged between us in the office of his attorney, Harry Rubens, and there he wanted to arrange for a divorce, threatening otherwise to throw himself in the lake.

Wanted His Medals. A telegram from E. Harris of the Hamilton Klondike party settles the fact of the drowning of W. K. Patterson in the Grand Rapids of the Athabasca River. The party will not go to the gold fields this year. Richmond and Hunter will trapon the Athabasca River, and Harris and Devine will winter in Winnipeg. In the spring the attempt will be made again and along the same route.

gave bond before Justice Everett for $750. A meeting was arranged between us in the office of his attorney, Harry Rubens, and there he wanted to arrange for a divorce, threatening otherwise to throw him self in the lake.

Wanted His Medals.

"He proposed to take my two eldest children, and wanted me to give up to him the gold and silver medals and other prizes he has won in bleycle matches, which I refused. I may state that he is a great bicycle rider; it is only about two weeks since he won his latest prize; it was given by the Lincoln Cycling Cluo, for a race run, I think, at Aurora.

"Soon afterward he ceased sending us any money. I wrote to Mr. Day, the manager of the wheel factory, but got no reply. My husband's mother, an aged won man, who lived with us 13 years, left meshe is now at 1180 Lexington-avenue. I have taken an action against my husband for separate maintenance and the custody of my-children.

"We have had nine children, four of whom are living, but one of these 's now ill with diphtheria. We are now practically destitute, and dependent upon the charity of some kind neighbors."

The case of Mrs. White is exciting much kindness toward the distressed family; "the treatment of the woman and her children by the man who is bound to care for them is perfectly shameful, and I think the police ought to look into the matter."

THE GREAT BRIDGE CARNIVAL. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has written to Secretary G. J. Robertson of the Canadian Club of this city, regretting that, as his visit will be confined to Toronto, he will be unable to attend the banquet by which it was proposed to signalize his visit to Contario. The remains of Mr. James M. Irwin, late of the G. T. R. office here, were laid at rest this morning in Hamilton Cemetery. Rev. Canor. Sutherland officiated at the grave. The deceased was a clever, bright young fellow of promise, and a nephew of F. W. Bearman, proprietor of the American Hotel.
