ite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bettle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

UNCONVENTIONAL RELIGION.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
 Is is not strange what an irresistible appeal the teaching and spirit of Jesus makes, when it is separated from conventional ideas and detached from all the sectarianism. dogmas and ritual with which it is usually associated? The other day a whole theatreful of people were convinced of the truth of His words by a moving picture, if one may judge by the profound emotion which moved many of the audience to tears.

with the "Sermon" will benefit none, but if we have the spiritual vision indicated by the bishop's actions, our outward conduct will be in conformity thereto. Anyway I believe Jesus meant a great deal more than it is convenient for most Christians to admit. The living fruit of the bishop's action is the conversion of the hardened degenerate convict into a benevolent unselfish man. Note the story of this conversion: does a Billy Sunday go into hysterics in order to arouse the sleeping soul? does a Salvation Army hand or speaker move there.

No less was the audience impressed by the third grand act of Hugo's divine tragedy; wherein Jean, in order to save a man whom he has never seen, delivers himself up in the courtroom; and by the scene where the Catholic nurse for the first time in her life utters a falsehood, to prevent the arrest of the noble mayor, who was the former convict Jean.

Some may say this is fiction. Jean, the bishop and the nun never really existed. To what extent that is true, it is needless to inquire. Neither did the "Prodigal Son" ever exist, for that matter. Facts are nothing, spiritual import is everything. Fiction, when it is the fiction of a Jesus, a Shakespeare or a Hugo, is true than fact. Truer physician. Material facts and personalities are temporal, spiritual principles and ideas are eternal. A minister is traveling all controls. uai principles and ideas are eternal. A minister is traveling all over this continent telling the story of "Les Miserables," that's all. Generally even standing room is all taken up at these recitals. There are a hundred stories nearly as good as this one. Then why, oh why, do we not read modern literature in our Sunday schools and so give Jesus Christ a chance? Jesus Christ a chance?

It is only prejudice that prevents us from seeing that European literature is just as much inspired as the collection of Hebrew and Greek classics known as the Bible. We are created by our ideals; let us seek the best in the great Temple of Literature, and when, far from our goal, our faith grows weak, let us remember Jean Valjean and "Les Miserables," the greatest sermon ever preached.

Lastly, is one word of Scripture heard by Jean as he fails on his knees in an agony of repentance? Nothing of the kind occurs.

What magic touch has melted the heart of this man, whom society has treated worse than a wild beast? It was the vision of a Divine Humanity incarnated in this Catholic bishop, that loved him and forgave all. He saw no Saviour stretched on the Cross, but by the light of the bishop's sacrifice, he saw the eternal Son of God, the Divine Humanity, which was crucified when it condemns its own product to the galleys, or to the gallows; for the whole nation is the creator of its own thieves and murderers. stand why cosmetics generally injure the complexion," says a well-known physician. "The skin, smooth as it looks to the naked eye, under the glass exhibits a lacework of tiny holes, mouths of myriads of little glands. To keep the skin healthy, these holes must be unobstructed, that the perspiration and natural oil can have free outlet. Should the glands be blocked up with irritating gritty particles, a common result of the giands be blocked up with irritating gritty particles, a common result of using powders and creams, nature retaliates by causing sallowness, roughness, blotches or pimples.

"As a substitute for all cosmetics I recommend ordinary mercolized wax. It not only does what the various face preparations are supposed to accomplish, but its peculiar absorbent action frees the pores from the daily accumulation of impurities, also absorbing the devitalized particles of surface skin. This produces a natural, healthy, youthful complexion. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, usually suffices to rejuvenate the poorest complexion. It is put on nightly like cold cream, and washed off mornings."—
