

ONTARIO'S GOLD LANDS WEST OF GREAT LAKES

Interesting Facts About Section of Province Rich in Mineral Resources.

ONTARIO'S GOLD FIELDS.

W. Saunders of Kenora commences to-day a series of letters on the trans-Superior gold fields. The letters will appear at intervals and will contain valuable information on this interesting topic. Mr. Saunders knows the trans-Superior country as few men do, and his letters will carry special value for this reason.

By W. Saunders.

KENORA, April 2.—The troubles of this part of the province, which occurred between the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries (1784 to 1880) undoubtedly retarded the prospecting of the country for metal and mineral deposits. The skirmishes between the representatives of the rival Hudson Bay and Northwest companies, followed by the onslaught of Indian tribes, had left the Lake of the Woods district with a danger mark upon it, and those who took in hand the surveying or exploration portion must have realized some tough experiences. History records the trials of various parties who entered its shores, and that until the great railroad which the C.P.R. built up and brought the prospectors to its doors that part of Ontario was practically unknown so far as scientific research into the geological formation was concerned.

Pioneer Railway.

In the year 1881 the pioneer railway company opened the gates of the west to the gold-seeker, and it was not very long after that that the first rush of prospectors made their appearance in the Portage area. The first centre of the Lake of the Woods. Their finds may be taken in hand in order of date as showing the lines they adopted, and fortunately the first real prospectors disposed of their discoveries at a practically nominal figure, so that the real value of the field as a gold-bearing one has only been partly borne out. During the past 15 months those discoveries have been supplemented by others from scientists who have made gold a study. America is pointed at as being the chief source from which the most important results will accrue in the future, and that that enterprising nation is represented in the Lake of the Woods there is no reason to doubt.

Boundary Dispute.

The boundary dispute of 1882 between Manitoba and Ontario unsettled things for a time, as it was not considered wise to invest money where the title was considered insecure. But from the year 1888 the migration of prospectors began, and innumerable claims were registered. To illustrate the methods of prospectors then, and the scientists of the present time, the lack of knowledge in treatment of ores, as compared with what is now adopted, only shows to what an advanced stage gold mining has reached. The early prospectors' advice and opinions state that the ore usually met with on the Lake of the Woods was refractory, whereas the late date brethren all affirm that it is good, free-milling stuff. Another variation that mention can be made of is that the former considered that the width of the veins would be lessened at the deeper levels, but experience has proved otherwise. But this comparison can only be drawn when a true figure vein has been struck.

Flissure veins have been found and worked on numerous properties at the Lake of the Woods, but owing to the methods adopted in mine management, and to the unscientific way of treating the ores, the companies owning these properties have been the sufferers, and the mines which ought to have produced dividends to their stockholders have been closed down. It is common knowledge that unscrupulous miners came into the Portage bearing the results of labor and capital investment by those whom they were working for, and with the stolen proceeds have had, as they state, a good time. These are the men who have helped to partly cripple the industry, and they can be easily located it would not be difficult matter to compile a black-list of the unscrupulous surveyors who have given false certificates may be added. It is these classes of parasites that have made investors cautious of taking out money in the Lake of the Woods.

Change is Coming.

A change is becoming apparent, however, and the district is likely to rival the Manitowish, which, owing to Anthony Blum's scientific methods adopted at the Laurentian, has sprung to the front as a gold producer. It came as a surprise—everybody when the Sultana mine shut down, as it was considered to be one of the best. Suddenly, striking a true fissure vein, which increased in width, and keeping a uniform value as they sunk down beyond the 200 feet, the managers were confident that the mine was to become a certainty. Then an erratic dip lower down of the vein caused a lot of unnecessary exploration at those levels which cost a considerable amount of money to its promoters, and did little good. Later knowledge bears this out. Whether modern systems of mining will make the Sultana a payable proposition remains to be proved, but it is directly on the cards that it will be re-opened shortly under the auspices of fresh English capital introduced into the concern, under the management and control of one of the best mining experts of the present time.

A Rich Prospect.

The Ophir Mine, which proved itself at once as being the richest prospect in the whole district, met with legal troubles which closed it down. But these are now got rid of, and the property is to be united with the Sultana under its new regime.

Another prospect named the Crown Reef, which is known to have been well-known in the Rand gold fields, has been added to the foregoing proposition, and the ore taken from the last two is to be treated by the stamps now already erected on the Sultana.

The knowledge gained on the South African fields, in the treatment of refractory and free milling ores, will serve the Lake of the Woods in good stead, as it is felt by those interested that the treating of ores by the methods have led in a measure to the falling off of interest in the industry. The Regina, which is known to have three fissure veins, is another property which has been closed down thru inefficient handling. The main shaft has been sunk to a depth of 560 feet, and when it is stated that the ore averages between 11 and 12 dwts. to the ton, it will readily be wondered at why it has not returned continuous dividends. For the same reasons as before stated, a loose system of mining, inexperienced handling and want of proper control.

Other Good Prospects.

There are numerous other excellent prospects on the Lake of the Woods, and special mention can be made of the Victory and the Gold Coin, the former of which, with only three or four men working this past three months, only last week sent up a brick valued at $4000 to Montreal. With regard to the second named, it is remarkable that an English company, after expending about $50,000 in the purchase of the property, should have thought fit to liquidate without proceeding any further, as it contains some fine veins.

The coming season will therefore witness a revival of the gold mining industry in Ontario from the Lake of the Woods portion of that province, and as there are now some British Columbia miners, as well as Americans, in touch, it can at once be seen that different aspects is becoming apparent from the sloughy stage of primitive gold mining that was in evidence about 1896-8.

OUTBID J. P. MORGAN.

George H. Gooderham, who is touring Europe with Dr. Joon, has purchased the famous painting "The Temptation of St. Anthony," at Florence. It is stated in a letter from Dr. Orr that Mr. Gooderham had as competitors in the bidding the Russian Government, the Vatican and J. Pierpont Morgan.

LOCAL TOPICS.

The Toronto Plate Glass Importing Company have applied for a license to construct a four-inch pipe from their factory on the Don Roadway into the river, and to convey sand, gravel and other material to the river. The city engineer has recommended that permission be granted.

Mr. D. McNeill, first vice-president, J. W. Leonard, general manager of the C.P.R., were in the city yesterday in connection with the Toronto terminals, including the first train from Toronto and North Toronto. A number of local officials accompanied them.

Two hundred emigrants passed thru Toronto yesterday morning en route for Europe. They are from the Middle States, a large proportion coming from Chicago.

S. P. McCready, professor of botany at the University of Toronto, has been appointed to the Toronto Exhibition authority, suggesting that special prizes be donated this year for exhibits of reboil garden work.

A Large-Hearted Judge.

KINGSTON, April 2.—After the dismissal of the assault case this morning Chief Justice Sir W. Mulock wired to Ottawa at his own expense, requesting the minister of justice to release the prisoner, Minerva Topping, who is serving a two-month sentence for vagrancy in the County Jail, in view of having her sent home to her parents. His lordship then most generously handed the girl $5, owing to her destitute circumstances.

Sun Shines Out West.

WINNIPEG, April 2.—To-day the weather is warm and sunny, following the great storm of yesterday, and the indications are that spring has come to stay. Low temperatures are reported from a number of places along the line of the C.P.R., but on the whole the weather map is encouraging.

Coal Men Deadlocked.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—Shortly after 3 o'clock the conference between the miners and operators adjourned without reaching a settlement. Both sides were deadlocked all day, but it is said another effort will be made in a few days.

THE BARRIER

First of all this new novel by Rex Beach is a big, buoyant, bracing story of the last frontier—Alaska—a story with the dash and swing of The Spoilers. This is one-half of THE BARRIER. The other half is its triumphant love story. Here the new book far surpasses The Spoilers. There is a new setting, too, but still in the virile air of the North. The new people whom Mr. Beach makes live before you in the clean-cut pages of THE BARRIER are intensely human. More than one of them will become celebrities in fiction.
