A parent who read with interest the report of Rev. Dr. Flanders' protest against corporal punishment in schools, called up the Times to say that anyone standing in the hall of Winter street school may hear belated the smack of the descending ruler. The parent is opposed to that sort of punishment.

Hon. William Pugsley, who reached Rothesay last evening after his tour of Canada, came to the city this morning, and is devoting his time to business. The minister is looking well, and was heartily greeted on his return. He was unable to state this morning how long he would be in St. John.

Rev. Mr. Miller, of Jemseg, preached in the Waterloo street Baptist church yesterday morning. In opening, he referred to his early association with this church when he was a boy in St. John. Referring to the great changes and the passing away of so many old friends and associates at the years are numbered, he forcibly pleaded for the same faith and the same gospel that had cheered the fathers in the days gone by. Two solos were sung at this service by J. H. Wetmore, who met many old friends in the congregation.

CARD SHARPERS

GET AWAY WITH $500 IN MONCTON

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 30.—(Special)—A number of Moncton sports are mourning the visit of an American card sharp, who in company with a St. John man, got into a couple of card games here last week, and skinned the local players of about five hundred dollars. Stud poker was played. The American gamblers were represented as a contractor who was on his way to Halifax, and was willing to while away a few hours with a social game. It is said the pair have gone to Nova Scotia.

METHODISTS AND BAPTISTS UNITE IN SUNDAY SERVICE

In Germain Street Church Last Evening Able Discourse By Rev. Dr. Watson Was Heard

The joint service at Germain street Baptist church last evening was unusually interesting. Baptists and Methodists united to form the congregation that listened to a very able discourse by Rev. Dr. Watson of Mount Allison. He set out to show what it is that mankind seeks in life, and that they find it most abundantly in the Christian religion. Other great world-religions were scanned, with special reference to Buddhism, which sways one-third of the earth's people today.

In each of these religions there was some truth, and he believed a revelation came to the founder of each, and the missionary to the east who began by treating their ancient religion with contempt would not succeed. It was for him to discover the truth in their religion and then apply the principles of the Christian religion, showing that here was the fulfillment of all that had gone before.

Dr. Watson described the Christian as one who believed in and followed Jesus and he commended his hearers to the life of Jesus as their example. To every man at some great crisis in his life came the old question: "What is the meaning and purpose of life?" The answer was found in true Christian experience. The musical programme included a quartette, and a solo by J. H. Wetmore, who was heard with intense pleasure by the congregation.

PLEASANT TIME AT BELYEA'S POINT

The week-end at Belyea's Point was very pleasantly spent on Saturday afternoon and evening. An exciting game of baseball in which the Belyea's Pointers defeated the Boldville Sluggers by a score of 13 to 10 was the chief event of the afternoon. The game took place on the grounds of E. L. Belyea. Refreshments were served at the conclusion. The battery for the winners was made up of Codner and Bailey and for the losers Patterson, Howard and Black.

In the evening a very enjoyable dance was held at Neiderret, the summer cottage of W. H. Smith. The cottage was very prettily adorned with Chinese lanterns. A very pleasant evening was spent in dancing games and music and the gathering broke up a few minutes before 12 o'clock. There were about fifty guests present.

POLICE COURT

"I'm innocent of whatever charge you bring against me," said James McDonald, in the police court this morning. McDonald was arrested on charge of wandering in King Square between eleven and twelve o'clock last night by Patrolman Hughes. McDonald came into police headquarters and declared that somebody intended to kill him. Subsequently he complained to Sergeant Campbell that he was pursued by a mob and suggested that the sergeant and Policeman Hughes accompany him to police headquarters, so he would be immune from the attacks of the crowd.

He said he left $10 with the clerk of the Ottawa Hotel, where he boarded, and added that he was "afraid to go home in the dark," although the hotel was but a few steps away. He was, however, persuaded to sleep for two hours and at half-past eleven emerged hatless and coatless with the declaration that he was the victim of a conspiracy. He pleaded to be freed and asserted that he would leave the city immediately.

He was, however, remanded and the jail officials will be notified of his condition and advised to remedy it, as it is believed to be the result of a spree.

Andrew White was fined $8 or two months for inebriation, and the same penalty was imposed on James Harrington. Harry McDonald was fined $8 or two months for intoxication, and remanded on charge of fighting and obscene epithets said to have been addressed to women on the street.

M. R. A.'s Unrivalled Suits for Fall Wear

An Unusually Choice Assemblage of the Newest Models in Saxons, Cheviots, Tweeds—Fine and Broad Stripe Patterns in Varied Shades of Green, Grey or Brown.

M. R. A.'s unrivalled suits for men are honestly made to wear; cut by experts, tailored by skilled workmen—with the shape that stays, built in.

Until you see the new models for fall you cannot gather a clear idea of their great attractiveness to men who desire to be perfectly fitted in fashion's nobbiest manner at a moderate expense.

In all coats this season the backs only trace the outline of the figure, and, if anything, lean more to roominess. Tight-fitting and shaped-in coats are no longer in vogue. The lapels are moderately deep and roll softly; they are not to iron flat. The coat fronts are as pliable and as free from stiffening as possible. The stiff front coat is clumsy, hard to button, and does not lie flat and snug over the chest. For the most part coats are without vents, though some show a centre one. Trousers are a trifle narrower and straighter, though still roomy.

Materials are Saxons, Cheviots and Tweeds. Stripe patterns in all degrees of prominence, from the feather stripe to the bold chalk lines, and from these to wide bars. All the various new shades of green, grey and brown.

Prices Range from $10 to $23
