ANOTHER MOVE IN THE SAUSAGE CASE

Conviction Granted Against Col. A. Blaine

Col. Blaine Was Fined $40 and Costs of $30 Last Year - He Refused to Pay Costs but Police-Magistrate Decided Against Him Today.

During the regular routine proceedings in the police court this morning, before Judge Ritchie, H. W. Robertson, counsel for Eben Perkins, moved that a conviction be granted in the case of Col. A. Blaine.

It will be remembered that last year Col. Blaine was charged by Eben Perkins with unlawfully sealing a liquor license to Wm. J. Savage to do business at 283 Main street.

The case was tried before the magistrate, and during the trial the facts elicited were that Miss Harris advertised for sale premises at 283 Main street, and that the purchaser would also be given the liquor license.

Michael J. Colohan, represented by E. S. Ritchie, was present at the trial, however, a new license was issued by Col. Blaine, chairman for both Col. Blaine and W. J. Savage.

At the conclusion of the hearing of the case, Judge Ritchie adjudged the defendant, Col. Blaine, guilty and imposed a fine of $40, and judgment was entered accordingly.

The case was taken on appeal by W. H. Freeman to the supreme court of New Brunswick, where the magistrate's decision was sustained.

The decision of the supreme court being given, and the fine of $40, plus H. W. Robertson's counsel's fees of $30, not being paid, the latter this morning moved for a conviction.

In moving in the matter, Mr. Perkins counsel stated that the late Col. Blaine was a person of excellent character, and an elderly man, but considered that he had acted in a very improper manner.

Mr. Robertson, however, stated that he had moved that counsel's fees be taxed by the court immediately on judgment being given, and that Judge Ritchie had ruled that he would look into the law on that matter.

Mr. Robertson stated that it was the fact that the full costs of $70, and that he could give counsel fees for that amount, but decided that he would allow the plaintiff's counsel the first day in court and $20 each for the four subsequent days, making in all $80.

Mr. Freeman questioned the power of the court to tax the costs, stating that should have been done when judgment was delivered, and that even the minutes of the conviction should have included that.

Mr. Robertson stated that it was the fact that the number of cases entered by Eben Perkins that could be paid for, and that Judge Ritchie stated that the conviction would be granted, and a matter of course a commitment against Col. Blaine would be issued.

MERCURY UP WITH A GALE

Another Lightning Like Change in the Weather Today - Wind Very High.

Another great change in the weather today. D. L. Hutchinson, of the meteorological office, reports that the lowest reading of the thermometer yesterday was 4 degrees above zero, and the highest 14 degrees.

At 9 o'clock this morning it was 26 degrees above zero, and at noon 31. The wind shifted from northwest to southwest.

The velocity of the wind at noon was 30 miles, with frequent gusts of 30 miles an hour. At 3 o'clock for some days last year, over an inch of snow fell between midnight and noon, and the snow on the ground was three feet on the level.

All along the coast the wind is blowing a gale today from the southwest.

WEDDINGS

Macaulay-Smith

The marriage of Miss Marion Smith to Dr. J. P. Macaulay takes place at four o'clock this afternoon in St. Luke's church, the ceremony being conducted by Rev. R. P. McKim, assisted by Rev. W. Hilyard Smith, brother of the bride.

The bride is Miss Edith Kerr and the groom is Dr. J. P. Macaulay, best man. The ushers are George Hilyard and W. A. Smith, brother of the bride.

The bride's costume is of navy blue, with hat to correspond, and bridal bouquet, while that of the bridegroom is of white satin.

After the ceremony a reception will be held at the residence of the bride's parents, Douglas avenue, and luncheon served. Dr. and Mrs. Macaulay leave by the six o'clock train for St. Stephen from whence they will proceed to Grand Manan, where they will make their home.

A goodly number of wedding gifts attest the popularity of the happy couple, who will have the good wishes of a large circle of friends.

The bride is a daughter of W. H. Smith, of Douglas avenue, and Dr. Macaulay an extensive practice in Grand Manan.

LATE LOCALS

An alarm was rung in this morning for a slight fire in the roof of Fred Lee's garage, on Strait Shore. No serious damage resulted.

Another large quantity of American goods is on the way to this port for shipment to Germany via Liverpool by the winter port steamships before the new German tariff is put on to United States products.

Under the circumstances last night the power to tax the amount of $200, but Mr. Robertson, however, stated that he had moved that counsel's fees be taxed by the court immediately on judgment being given, and that Judge Ritchie had ruled that he would look into the law on that matter.

Mr. Robertson stated that it was the fact that the number of cases entered by Eben Perkins that could be paid for, and that Judge Ritchie stated that the conviction would be granted, and a matter of course a commitment against Col. Blaine would be issued.

KING FERDINAND VIII. IS PROCLAIMED RULER OF THE DANISH PEOPLE

Proclamation Made by the Premier in Copenhagen This Morning - Late King Christian's Death Deeply Mourned in Great Britain - Court Drawing Rooms Postponed.

(See also Page 4.)

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 30.-Ferdinand VIII. was proclaimed King of Denmark at noon today in Amalensborg Square in front of the palace. The ceremony lasted only a few minutes.

The premier, M. Christensen, appeared on the balcony of the palace and announced to the 50,000 persons assembled below the death of King Christian IX, and the accession of his eldest son. The premier then called for cheers for King Ferdinand VIII.

The new ruler of Denmark joined the premier on the balcony and in a short speech declared that he would rule in accordance with the example set him by his father and trusted that the same accord between the king and the nation would continue as heretofore. His Majesty concluded with calling for cheers for the fatherland.

King Frederick received a warm-hearted greeting from the assembled crowd, whose cheers mingled enthusiastically with the national anthem.

Since nine o'clock in the morning all the shops have been closed from the forts, and all business has practically been at a standstill out of respect to the dead King Christian.

Prior to the proclamation of his accession, King Frederick held a council of state, at which the ministers tendered their resignations and were requested to retain their posts.

Afterwards the new ruler received the cabinet ministers, members of the Rigsdag, chief civil and military officials, and the court dignitaries. Then came the important ceremony of the day.

Promptly at noon the premier stepped out on the balcony of the palace and three minutes later King Ferdinand VIII. appeared on the balcony of the palace and three minutes later King Ferdinand VIII. appeared on the balcony of the palace.

King Christian IX is dead. Long live His Majesty King Ferdinand VIII. Sorrowful hurrahs broke from the crowd in front of the palace, and re-echoed down the streets opening on Amalensborg Square. The flags on the public buildings were run up to the mastheads and a royal salute was fired from the city's forts.

The coronation has been ordered to take place on Monday next.

King Frederick early in the afternoon announced his accession to the throne in a proclamation as follows: "We, Frederick VIII., King of Denmark, by the grace of God, do hereby announce and make known that our dear beloved father, King Christian IX, was yesterday gathered to his fathers by a sudden but calm and peaceful death. We have thereupon, in accordance with the law, acceded to the throne. While thus assuming this high and responsible position for which the Almighty has chosen us, it is our determination to maintain unswervingly the constitution of our country and to preserve the rights and privileges of our whole people. If the people themselves will have the same confidence in their king which we have in our people, then will God grant his grace and blessing to all of us."

At 10 o'clock in the afternoon King Christian IX was buried in the Royal Church of St. Nicholas. The funeral was a simple one, but deeply impressive.

ALAN LINE TO USE QUEBEC?

(Quebec Telegraph, Saturday).

It is stated on excellent authority that the Allan line of steamships is making preparations to follow the example of the C. P. R., and make the port of Quebec its headquarters.

The important steamship company did intend to stop at Quebec after the completion of the new bridge, but now that the C. P. R. steamer will utilize Quebec, commencing next summer, the Allan will hasten their arrangements in order to come here two years earlier than they originally intended.

This company want the company to connect the line of traffic from the C. P. R. depot at the Palais to their wharves in line with Champlain street, for the handling of their mail, then they will stop at Quebec. It is also other local railroads that intended the section of the C. P. R., which in turn has compelled the Allan and other lines to navigate big ships to follow suit.

Besides the big steamship companies, the Allan line will also have a fleet of smaller boats to carry passengers to Quebec, instead of carrying them to Montreal, which entails increased expense.

It is admitted, however, that all vessels of small tonnage will still proceed on to Montreal, and the low of the present season boats will be made up to Montreal by the great increase in the shipping trade, expected to reach immense proportions before many years.

WILL PROBE INSURANCE

In New York, Tennessee and Pennsylvania - Government Control in France.

A New York despatch says: District Attorney Jerome in the near future will be stated yesterday, move against the various insurance companies which were under investigation by the legislative committee.

A special grand jury is to be called in February to consider the cases. Assistant District Attorneys Nott and Kresel have been wading through the evidence taken by the legislative investigators, and in addition they have conferred with individuals who are in touch with the affairs of some of the companies. One of these companies is the Mutual Reserve Life, the policyholders of which held the annual meeting Wednesday. The Mutual Reserve sent out its own account of the annual meeting on Wednesday. It was also stated that only nine persons who demanded admission were refused by the committee on Wednesday.

It was also stated that the care taken by the company in determining who should attend the meeting was on account of the questions asked by Charles E. Hughes of the Armstrong committee as to what precautions were used to make sure that nobody voted in the meetings except those entitled to vote. The discussion at the meeting, according to the company's statement, was "at times animated, but in no way acrimonious."

A despatch from Princeton, N. J., says: Governor Roosevelt has done the same and have realized much more by subletting their quarters than they paid in the first place.

Asked if it was the intention to remodel the upper portion of the building and fit it up for offices (as it was stated some time ago, might be done) he said he did not think there would be much change made in the present conditions, but the main object of the board to read the quarters so that they would bring in enough revenue to pay expenses and to permit a little surplus. The director also stated that he had sent a notice to quit to the City Board of Health, who have had the second floor of the police station for a number of years at a rental of $50. He said it was now up to the board to say what action would be taken in these matters. He had done his part and if an increased revenue was wanted the board could move out of the building.

Concerning the plans for a new laundry for the market in place of the disreputable one that is there now, he said tenders would be called for it as soon as the plans for plumbing had been made. The new building would be of brick and the interior finished in tile and it would be fitted with all modern improvements. The entry for ladies would be in the interior of the building, while the men's entry would be from South Market Street.

THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA has ordered an investigation of the insurance department to ascertain what has become of $80,000 in fees collected by the actuary of the department. Robert E. Foster, Philadelphia, in the past six months. In a statement recently filed with the legislative, Insurance Commissioner Austin said that none of the actuary's collections had been turned over to the present commissioner. Austin succeeded James W. Durban, late boss of Philadelphia, as insurance commissioner in July last. Foster is understood to be willing to explain the disposition of the money.

The actuary collects fees directly from the insurance companies, and accounts to no one. The proposition has already been that the insurance commissioner received these fees.

PARIS, Jan. 29.-(Special).-Decees dealing with governmental control of French insurance companies in order to safeguard the interests of policyholders appear in the Official Journal. No mention is made of the foreign companies doing business here.

FUNERALS The body of the late Mrs. Alex. Cairns arrived in the city on the noon train today from Boston. The funeral took place from her brother's residence, 67 Main St., at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Samuel Howard conducted the burial service and interment was made in the Methodist cemetery.

The body of W. Allan Dillon who died at Rutland, Vermont, was brought to the city today on the Atlantic express and taken to his father's residence, British St., where it will remain until tomorrow when it will be taken to Port Lorne, N. S. for interment.

ANOTHER BOMB OUTRAGE. TIFLIS, Trans-Caucasia, Jan. 30.-General Grigashoff, chief of staff to the Viceroy of the Caucasus, was killed by a bomb yesterday. The assassin has been arrested.

HIRAM WANTS A KAKE. Mr. Hiram Hornbeck came to town yesterday, and when he heard in one of the morning papers that an automobile and driver were in the city, he immediately set out in a motor car to look for it. He was a strong, well-built man, and he had a very good eye for a man.

As Birdie had not lost her new teeth, but had them with her at the party, and as she had not been in Fairville for a long time, she feels that she was gratuitously insulted by the young ladies. Naturally, she is quite indignant.

BIRDIE IS INDIGNANT. At a five o'clock tea yesterday Miss Birdie McWhorter observed two young ladies looking furtively at her and giggling over a paragraph in a newspaper. Later she secured the paper and read the item of news from Fairville.

"No one has yet appeared to claim the articles found on Miss street by Mr. Chas. Mullin. Should the owner not be forthcoming they will probably be sold at auction to pay the expenses."

It is expected that the Ludlow will be given her liberty for a time this afternoon. If she behaves well she may be restored to favor and given another try at the east side flats.

LATER The Ludlow will not go on this afternoon. It is a bad wind.

CITY TENANTS HAVE LARGER RENTALS

Some City Tenants Have Received Notice To Quit. SOCIETIES MUST MOVE Unless They Agree to Pay Higher Rents They Must Seek Quarters Elsewhere - Director Wisely says They are Sub-letting at a Profit.

Speaking with Director Wisely this morning regarding the plans for increasing the market revenues during the year commencing May 1st, he said he had recommended increasing the rental of the stalls 800 each and doubling the rental of the racks, this would mean a considerable increase in the revenue.

In regard to the quarters in the upper portion of the building at present occupied by various societies he had given them notice to quit on May 1st, next. He referred to the fact that the Historical Society which has the top floor of the building does not pay any rental to the city but that they sub-let their premises from time to time and have in this way derived a revenue of about $800 a year.

Other societies who are only paying a nominal rental have done the same and have realized much more by subletting their quarters than they paid in the first place.

Asked if it was the intention to remodel the upper portion of the building and fit it up for offices (as it was stated some time ago, might be done) he said he did not think there would be much change made in the present conditions, but the main object of the board to read the quarters so that they would bring in enough revenue to pay expenses and to permit a little surplus. THEY WANT MORE ROOM

Ottawa Members Are Cramped - Hyman to Provide Larger Quarters.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 30.-(Special).-The members of public works have decided to consider the question of providing additional accommodation to the house of commons. Mr. Hyman considers that this is a matter in which both sides are deeply interested, and as a consequence, both political parties will be represented in the committee.

The present office accommodation for members is entirely inadequate, and it is how they get along at all before Mr. Tarr's office is vacated.
