SECOND EDITION. SOUTH DAKOTA RAVAGES. TERRIBLE AND HORRIBLE PLAINS TO TELL.

Five Towns and Villages Abandoned to Ruin. A report of the ravages of the South Dakota prairie fires.

MONROE, Minn., April 4.—During the last few days South Dakota's prairie fires have swept by a number of wind storms, which have caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage to property, and several lives have been lost.

The greatest damage has not been caused by the wind alone but in many places trees were felled into fire by the storm. They wiped out of existence several small villages and hundreds of houses.

The town of Palsau, formerly known as Palsau, was almost completely destroyed. The town of Palsau, formerly known as Palsau, was almost completely destroyed.

A terrible gale of wind struck Millerton a few weeks ago and a small house that was blown over early on Tuesday night. No power could be kept in the place as a great gale of fire.

Nearby 200 families are homeless. The loss will be $200,000. It is reported that several lives are lost.

Four large elevators of the Milwaukee were destroyed. The loss will be $200,000. It is reported that several lives are lost.

HEWES, Dak., April 4.—No prairie fire in the history of this part of Dakota equals that of one of Tuesday. In this county the loss was much less than in its counties west.

A SAND ILLIZARD. ANOTHER FINE FEATURE OF LIFE IN THE NORTHWEST.

Great Damage Done to Growing Crops. Fire Adds Ice to the Storm.

St. Paul, Minn., April 3.—"A sand blizzard," says a Gary, Dak., special correspondent, "has continued all the afternoon. The air is filled with sand and the mercury falls sixteen degrees in two hours. The crops are already ruined and thought to be much injured."

An Aberdeen correspondent telegraphed a hurricane started this afternoon and continued all the evening. It was a large blizzard of sand and ice and other buildings. So far as reported no one was killed.

The storm in several places has been accompanied by the falling of snow. In the North-western part of the state the buildings destroyed were the main residence, the depot, two dwelling houses and a large flour mill. A thousand tons of hay were burned and all the barns in the place. The fire involved a large cattle corral and 40 or 50 cattle were killed. The destruction was caused by a prairie fire which had been burning since the 21st of last week.

BRIGIT'S FUNERAL ORATION. A Graphic Pen Picture of a Remarkable Man.

Mr. W. H. Smith rose to address the House, every eye being instantly turned to the speaker. The Conservative leader made an unfortunate slip in referring to the death of the member for West Brinsford, who happens to be Mr. Chamberlain, and who was at the moment favoring Mr. Smith.
