TWO MONTHS FOR STEALING NINETEEN HANDKERCHIEFS

Alexander Kent Took Goods from the West Side Freight Sheds—A Warning from the Court

Three dollars were sent into jail this morning in default of paying four dollars each.

Alexander Kent was charged with stealing 19 handkerchiefs and a ball of twine from No. 1 warehouse at Sand Point. Kent, who is a married man residing in Carleton, was employed as a truckman for the C. P. R. Yesterday afternoon Joseph Walsh, who is on Detective L. L. Cooke's staff discovered that a case of handkerchiefs had been broken into and a quantity stolen. He informed Detective Cook of the affair and in a short time Kent was arrested and 19 handkerchiefs and a ball of twine were found on him. He was handed over to Policeman Lee and locked up. In court this morning Kent pleaded guilty. He said that it was not in No. 1 shed that he stole the goods but it was in No. 2 shed. He was walking through the shed and noticed the corner of one handkerchief sticking out. He picked it up and instead of only one 19 came out. He did not know at first what to do with them and placed them behind a shed door. Later on he put them under his coat where the C. P. R. officers found them.

The magistrate said that he could send the prisoner to the penitentiary for 14 years. A number of persons have been allowed to go under suspended sentence but it has apparently not been a warning to others. Kent was sentenced to two months in jail with hard labor. The magistrate said he wished the newspapers to make a note as a fair warning to all that the next man brought before him for this kind of thieving would only have himself to blame if he is sent to Dorchester for a number of years.

DASTARDLY ATTEMPT TO WRECK HALIFAX EXPRESS

Heavy Piece of Iron Clamped on the Rail Nearly Ditched Yesterday's C. P. R. Coming to St. John—An Investi- gation Being Held

What seems to have been a malicious attempt to wreck the C. P. R. express bound here from Halifax yesterday afternoon, was made four miles east of Sussex. Some excitement has been caused by the act, and as a result an investigation will be held.

The C. P. R. express which is due to arrive here at 5.40 p. m., was in charge of Conductor Thomas Guinan, who was seen this morning in connection with the affair. Although reticent, Mr. Guinan admitted that an attempt to wreck the train had been made. He said that a piece of iron was on the track when the train passed. It was about three inches in circumference and from all appearances had been intentionally placed there. The train was running at a high rate of speed, about four miles the other side of Sussex.
Suddenly a severe jolting was felt and as soon as possible the engineer brought the train to a stop. On getting out and walking back a few yards the train hands found a piece of iron on the east side of the track. It was then partly clamped to the rail but it was at once seen that the iron had been securely fastened and the weight of the train had loosened it somewhat. The iron was taken aboard the train and the journey to this city was resumed. Conductor Guinan states that there might be a chance of the iron having fallen from another train, but he is not at all firm on this point. When it is taken into consideration that the piece had been fastened to the rail, this theory is hardly credible. Fortunately the passengers who were on board the train for the act, chose a straight piece of track, and as a result the obstacle was not large enough to derail the engine or any of the cars. Had the iron been placed on a curve the whole train would probably have left the rails with the results which usually attend a derailment.

One passenger, a New Glasgow man, who was on the train states that he was asleep when the cars were over the cars. He distinctly felt the jar and when he awoke the rest of the passengers were quite excited and knew that something had been done.
He was in the last coach and this car came the nearest to being derailed.

Many rumors are abroad as to the parties concerned in the derailed train but as Conductor Guinan said, no one knows who the guilty parties are. The most feasible explanation of the affair is that some boys placed the iron on the rail more for excitement than anything else. This mode of making excitement is, however, too serious, as it endangers many lives yesterday.

The obstacle on the rail was not seen by the engineer before the train ran over it, as it had been placed on the freeman's side. It is stated that a boy was seen running through the fields at some distance from the track.

It has been learned that the obstruction on the rail was one coil of the spring of a draw bag. One end was clipped on the head of a bolt on the inside of the rail and the other end was on the other end of the bolt right at the joint of the rails.
