MARGUERITE'S WEEKLY CHAT

Patriotism. Do we want to have to parody the old speech and say "Oh, patriotism what aine are committed in thy name?" Well don't you think that a halt had better be called and a sort of stock-taking held on our activities in some of the efforts for the cause of patriotism? Are our societies run on strictly honorable business principles, for instance. Are we sometimes doing in the name of patriotism what we would be rather averse to doing under our own name. Then again we should all feel very sure that we are working hard for the cause and not for any self glory. It does not matter whether Miss X or Miss Z did the work, earned the money held the banner, but how much was raised for the patriotic fund, whatever it may be. I do believe in not hiding the light of one's society under a bushel for there is always the good example to be set others and competition in efforts for charitable purposes may be good in themselves, but it is the person that matters so little, and the cause so much. I spoke to a lady much given to patriotic effort of every kind in this town about letting the light shine and she truly said: "Yes, but that does not mean standing on a hill shouting, 'look at my light, look at my light.'" Women as has been said many times have never had such a good chance to show what they are made of, and to live down all the pettiness of which in calmer days we were sometimes (may I say often?) guilty. That is why I feel so strongly that we should rise above any desire for self advancement, and act as sensible women. Sometimes one can get volunteers for some public service, but the necessary dusting of a Military Institution is not so romantic. I hate to write that for fear some man may say I told you so, for there are so many splendid women and girls, the V. A. D.'s, for instance, who have done all kinds of manual labor and never complained, only happy to strive their country in any possible way. Unfortunately the thoughtless one will sometimes bring reproach on the whole sex and it is this I want to guard myself and others, if I am right in my ideas, against. Let us see that we have our part in freedom's crowning hour, rise to the full height of our "priceless dower" and do our work never "balking the end half won for an instant dose of praise," but like true soldiers obeying orders only caring that our task shall be accomplished.

MONCTON I. O. D. E. HAVE TEA ROOM

I had the pleasure not long ago of visiting the Queen Mary Tea room in Moncton, which is in charge of the Queen Mary Chapter Daughters of the Empire. It was a delightful affair, when Moncton was reached and according to directions given I found my way up the Main St., to the tea room. It is above Woolworth's store, and one's first impression is of coziness and comfort. The decorations, which were newly done, are of Japanese cherry blossoms arranged at intervals above the plate rail with here and there a panel of black and white striped effect which gave a very artistic appearance to the room. Each small table had in the centre a diminutive tree in a pretty pot in keeping with the Japanese idea. The warmth of the room was not merely that of fire, which was very grateful (no pun intended) on the chilly day, but the warmth of hospitality for though a stranger to the lady in charge that afternoon, I was made to feel at home and among friends. A delicious afternoon tea is served and something more substantial, is one wishes to stay for supper. Many people make a practice of going there for supper, on the maid's day out, as well as entertaining their friends at this charming place. The regent of the chapter, Mrs. L. S. Chandler and Mrs. Purdy was in charge for that week. A committee is appointed who look after the supplies and arrange for the serving for a week, all of which is done by a voluntary staff. The funds are used for the many activities of this branch of the Daughters of the Empire.

A Memory

You came into my life for one brief day, Gave me the laughter of your lips and eyes, Touch of your hand in mine, then turned away, Yet left these memories.

Ah, child you brought strange sunlight to my gloom, So carelessly you gave a thing so fair, As though one passed through some closed haunted room, And dropped a flower there.

"High cost of living may be said to be a blessing in disguise."—Albany Journal. The disguise is perfect.—Rochester Post Express.

Trouble had come to a Washington nursery, and when the mother entered it was to find Charlie in tears. "Why are you crying?" she asked. "Because Louis slapped me." "But why didn't you slap him back?" asked mother, who evidently believed in a policy of retaliation. "Because then it would only be his turn again."—New York Times.

Queen Augusta Victoria as Nurse

Queen Augusta Victoria of Portugal has taken up nursing, and attends regularly at the Orthopedic Hospital. She has long been anxious to tend the wounded or assist in any war work but was kept back, first, by her imperfect acquaintance with the English language and, secondly, by her feeling that as a German she might not be welcomed. Time has given her a better knowledge of our

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; eat less meat; drink plenty of good water. Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinges of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

speech and our feelings alike. Queen Augusta Victoria, by the way, is a niece of our Ally, the King of Roumania, so she has relatives fighting on both sides. A pretty dainty little lady, always beautifully dressed and always anxious to make herself agreeable, the Consort of King Manoel is a favorite with all who know her.

INCREASED PRODUCTION. Delegates of the various women's societies are being asked to attend a meeting to be held in Fredericton on Friday, which is being arranged by the Department of Agriculture. Discussion will take place on the matter of increased production of foodstuffs.

To be Repeated. The opera "Pinafore" will be repeated in the Opera House on Friday night in the 80th Anniversary of the Veterans' Association. This opera drew large crowds last week and a bumper house is expected.

Harold Lloyd and Bebe Daniels, who give so much zest to Pathé's "Lake" comedies, get their recreation after the arduous labor of a week's work in the studio by taking in a life dancant. Here they have shown themselves so proficient that they have already won three prize cups.

Y.M.C.A. Notes. Many events of interest have been planned by A. M. Gregg of the Y.M.C.A. for the months of May and June, including a paper chase to Green Head on May 12th, a fishing trip to Little Lepreau River on the 18th, a hike to Sandy Point, with lunch included, on the 20th, an all day stay at Sand Point on June 8th, and a fishing trip to Loch Lomond on the 16th. A free swimming campaign for all boys from twelve to sixteen years of age will be held from the 12th to the 16th of May and the men will hold their campaign from the 4th to the 8th of June.

HAD BOILS For Six Months. B.B.B. DROVE THEM AWAY

When the blood becomes impure the very first symptoms which manifest themselves are a breaking out of various forms of skin trouble such as boils, pimples, sores, etc., and to get rid of these troubles you must cleanse the blood thoroughly with a good blood remedy. The best blood cleansing remedy on the market today is Burdock Blood Bitters. Thousands of people from one end of Canada to the other have used it during the past forty years, and have nothing but words of praise for its cleansing properties. Mr. Rufus Beers, Upper Main Street, N. B., writes: "I want to say a few words about your medicinal, Burdock Blood Bitters. I had boils for six months and sometimes was so bad I could not work. I tried lots of cures but nothing would drive them away for me until I took B. B. B. In a short time I was all better. It is a dandy medicine. I keep it in the house all the time." Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont., but so well known and favorably known that there are many imitations on the market. See that our name appears on the wrapper.

Who's Who and What's What in the Picture World and on the Stage—Favorites and What They Say and Do.

OPERA HOUSE. Only a few more performances of this week's splendid vaudeville programme at the Opera House. See it this afternoon or tonight. Usual afternoon and evening performances tomorrow and a matinee on Friday afternoon. No evening show on Friday as the house has been secured by Returned Soldiers' Association for a repeat performance of Pinafore, starting at 8.15.

THE SAME LINES 1,108 TIMES.

Arthur Bauer, who plays the villain in support of Gladys Hulette in "Pots and Pans Peggy" at the Lyric Theatre holds the unique record of having spoken the same lines 1,108 times in succession. He did this in "The Merry Widow."

KATHRYN ADAMS IS "DRAWING ROOM MARIAN."

Kathryn Adams, who is "Drawing Room Marian" in "Pots and Pans Peggy" has shown her ability to play with equal facility sweet girls and vampiress. In this picture she is a little bit of both and she plays her part very charmingly.

A NOVEL DEBUT.

Wayne Arey, who plays Gladys Hulette's chauffeur-lover, has had wide experience on the speaking stage, playing prominent parts in New York productions of David Belasco and Charles Frohman. Arey was born in Rock Falls, Ill., and grew up there. Probably his first stage appearance was as one of the grave diggers in "Hamlet." The theatre was over a stable. There was no trap-door in the stage so they cut a hole and let him stand on a load of hay underneath, leaving him exposed from the waist up to the audience.

It is reasonable to suppose that it would have been a great success if the man who owned the hay had not driven away in the midst of the scene, carrying Arey with him.

S. Rankin Drew, director and actor, was born in New York city. He first assisted his father, Sidney Drew, in his vaudeville and plays. In his screen career he has acted and directed "The Hunted Woman," "The Daring of Diana" and others. He produced "Mita" and "Stewart for Vitaraph" and takes leads.

ACCORDING TO SCRIPT.

Richard Stewart, who plays the part of Edouard in the serial "The Girl Philippa," released by Pathé, with Mrs. Vernon Castle in the title role, was seen limping along Broadway looking rather woe begone. "What's the matter, Dick?" asked an acquaintance. "You don't look over cheerful for a fellow with a fat part in a big show." "The fat part is all right," wailed Stewart, "but it has its drawbacks." "That's wrong?" "That's wrong," everything correct and according to scenario and director's orders. Mrs. Castle knocks me down a flight of stairs with her grand-father's clock and throws the bedroom on top of me. I'm bumped and bruised all over by the time I reach the bottom and the spots on my body that escape punishment get their good and plenty from Miss Gilla. She is so kind all over by the time I reach the bottom for that purpose, and tramps all over me. Look at this lump on my head! Oh boy, I'm sore all over." And Stewart limped on his way.

Anders Randolph, who takes the part of Wildress in "The Girl Philippa," is a native of Denmark. He has played on the speaking stage with William Farnum's All-Star Company, and with Henrietta Crossman in "As You Like It." His screen career has been with Vitaraph, playing in "The Wheels of Justice," "The Island of Surprise," "The Hero of Submarine D-2." He is talented as a portrait painter, is a costume expert and a swordsman.

AGNES JOHNSTON.

"Pots and Pans Peggy" is an excellent example of the talent of Miss Agnes C. Johnston, perhaps the youngest scenario writer in the motion picture business. Miss Johnston has been with Thanhouser but a short while, yet she has written four very successful photo-plays: "The Shine Girl," "Prudence the Pirate," "The Fear of Poverty," and "Her New York." THEA BARRA'S CHARTERIZATION OF A WOMAN. Miss Thea Barra, who has portrayed every part of a woman on the screen is a deep student of the fair sex, and at the same time a merciless critic. She has this to say of woman: "A woman is sometimes fugitive, irrational, indeterminate, illogical and contradictory. A great deal of forbearance ought to be shown her and a good deal of prudence exercised with regard to her, for she may bring about innumerable evils without knowing it. Capable of all kinds of devotion and of all kinds of treason. Monster incomprehensible, raised to the second power, she is at once the delight and the terror of man." And Miss Barra ought to know.

Anita Stewart, the popular heroine of the Girl Philippa.

Harold Lockwood, Metro star, has begun work on his eighth pictorialization of a popular novel at the Metro-York studios, Hollywood, Cal. This is "The Haunted Papayas," from the novel of the same name by Francis Perry Hill.

Ed Laurie, the Mutual-Vogue baby, says that you can always tell the amateur photoplayer. "He is the one that moves in the stills and is still in the movies."

ALICE FAIRWEATHER.

McADAM

McAdam, May 1.—The people of McAdam were greatly grieved to hear on Thursday afternoon that Collector of Customs J. W. Hoyt had passed away. Mr. Hoyt had been ill for some time, and all that medical skill could do had been done, but without avail. For weeks it had been known that he could not recover, yet the news of his death was a shock to all, and his loss to the community is irreparable. Mr. Hoyt was kind, genial and unselfish in all his works. He was a friend to all with whom he came in contact, ever striving to do something for the uplift of humanity, and for the betterment of the place in which he lived. For over twenty years Mr. Hoyt had been collector of Customs at this port, and was a great favorite with the travelling public. The vacancy left by his removal will be indeed hard to fill. To his sorrowing wife and sons goes out the sincere sympathy of the entire community. The funeral was held from his late residence on Saturday morning. After a short service at the home the body was taken to his old home at Hoyt, where a most impressive service was held, conducted by the Rev. of Ashlar Lodge F. and A. M., of which he was a charter member. Rev. Dr. Kierstead, of Fredericton, preached the funeral sermon. A very large procession followed to the last resting place the remains of a true friend and noble man.

Following is a list of floral tributes: Square and compass, lilies and roses; Ashlar Lodge F. and A. M.; McAdam; wreath, lilies, carnations and daffodils; Clark Wallace Lodge, No. 72, L. O. L.; roses, carnations and sweet peas; Customs Staff, St. John, N. B.; pillow.
