ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI CONDEMNS STRIKE AGITATORS.

Montreal, April 26—(Special)—Archbishop Bruchesi has issued a letter condemning labor leaders and organizers. The message to the faithful which was read at all Montreal Roman Catholic churches today, advises laboring classes to pay no heed to the strike agitators, but look for arbitration on just and reasonable demands. In part, the archbishop says:

"Responsibility is not incurred by those leaders and writers, who profit by the slightest conflict between labor and capital to foment discord and rebellion and to inspire with hatred towards their employers.

"They are the most dangerous form of the people whose interests they pretend to serve. Let not our laboring classes heel their suggestions. They have absolutely nothing to gain.

"Deceived by those false friends and urged on by them to commit the most lamentable acts, they will on the contrary, forfeit public sympathy."

It is understood the defence will claim that a brother of the prisoner took a barrel of grease to the factory and left it and the prisoner who was interested in the sale going for the purchase money, asking for the weighing of it and that he did not steal or take away any barrel of grease belonging to the company.

Ites reported that for some time past the company has been missing grease from their stock but could not discover the leakage and probably would not have suspected Hamilton, who had been selling them grease for a number of yearst but for the fact of him purchasing sugar from the gang who stole the large lot in March from the C. He immediately hunted up Police Officer Lawson and in company with some train hands he went to the car and the seals were broken and the door opened. When Officer Lawson entered the car he found a man almost suffocated from his close confinement and the effects of the sulphurous fumes from the newly made pulp. He was quickly brought into the open air, and after they had worked with him for some time he was restored to consciousness. When questioned, he explained to Mr. Lawson that he was seaman off the steamer St. John City and had gone into the car on Saturday morning seeking shelter from the rain and had fallen asleep.

NEARLY SUFFOCATED,

Another Tradgedy at Fairville Narrowly averted Sunday.

Necessity for another inquest was narrowly averted in Fairville yesterday afternoon. On Saturday morning a car of pulp which had been loaded at the works of the Cushing Sulphite Company was sealed ready for shipment and was run out on a siding in Fairville.

Sunday afternoon as Robent Evans was passing this car he thought he heard groans issuing from it. On a closer investigation he was satisfied that some pertonal trades of that company. After this Mr. Robertson Interviewed.

George Robertson, M. P. P., was asked about the matter and said information had been received by the Imperial Dry Dock Company that a bill will be almost immediately introduced into the dominion house by the government providing for 3 per cent, subsidy for 20 years available for the company for the dock to be constructed at St. John. It had been intimated to the company, Mr. Robertson said he will arrange to meet Engineer Louis Coste in Montreal in a short time. Mr. Coste has the plans of the dock in a very forward state and they will be placed before the C. P. R. engineer at Montreal to see if any suggestions can be made with respect to the needs of that company. After this Mr. Robertson and the engineer will come to St. John and take some necessary measurements, and other matters pertaining to the site will be fixed.

The death occurred at Boston Friday night of Chas. W. Roberts, an old and respected resident of Indiantown. He was a wharf builder and contractor, having been in business for fully half a century, most of which time he was associated with his brother, David S., who, at present is Ottawa, April 26—(Special)—At the cabinet meeting on Saturday, an order-incouncil was passed giving a three per cent. bonus for a period of 20 years on the proposed dry dock at St. John (N.B.). This is all that Mr. Robertson, M. P. P., and his associates asked from the dominion.

Mr. Robertson, who was assisted in this instance by Hon. Mr. Blair, is to be congratulated for the able way in which he presented his claim to the government, and for the energy and persistence he has displayed in following it up. It may be taken for granted now that the dry dock is an accomplished fact.

Sad and Peculiar Case.

The case is a peculiar and a sad one. Mangan, whose home was at Liobster Cove, and where he plied his avocation of fisherman, came to Musquash Tuesday because of the municipal elections being conducted there that day. It is said he did not remain perfectly sober. Along in the afternoon he and Henry Devine, another fisherman who belongs to Dipper Harbor, started up the road to the old McGowan Hotel, where they had left their teams. There had been some old trouble between the men and as they walked along Mangan, under the influence of what he had imbibled, said to Devine: "Look here, we might as well have it out here." Whatever was said in reply, there was a clinch and Mangan went down.

The men went along together again, but once more they became envolved and at this juncture Peter Devine appeared on the scene. Peter is a brother of Henry years ago.
