

1. Pharmaceutical industry – The pharmaceutical industry is a major player in the healthcare sector, responsible for the development, production, and distribution of drugs. It is a highly regulated industry with significant barriers to entry, including high R&D costs and complex regulatory requirements. The industry is characterized by a high concentration of large, multinational corporations.