

Library of Modern Progress

WHAT READERS SAY OF IT. SHORT EXTRACTS

"The Work is of very great interest and value."—
A. B. Storms, President Iowa State College.

"The treatment of the various subjects is comprehensive and, what is necessary to a busy man, concise."—
Ralph Connor, Winnipeg.

"The best summary of human progress to be found in the English language."—J. W. Bashford, President, Ohio Wesleyan University.

"These volumes are fascinatingly different from the mechanical style usual with many of the cyclopædias."—
Isaac Crook, Ex-President Ohio University.

"The Work is as useful as an encyclopædia, and as interesting as fiction."—Quebec Chronicle.

"This Library is a noted one and displays much scholarship."—The Christian Advocate, N.Y.

"I congratulate you on your success."—Sir Charles Tupper, ex-Premier of Canada.

"From careful investigation I regard the Work as very valuable."—James H. Cartwright, Chief Justice, Supreme Court, Oregon, Ill.

"It leaves nothing to be desired."—Francis Clark, President U.S.C.E.

"The pages of this Work come like a panorama portraying the distance travelled since the dawn of 'the wonderful century' until now."—The Catholic Register.

"It is a most complete and interesting record of the wonderful century."—Rev. H. A. Constantineau, O. M. J. D.D., Rector, Ottawa University.

"The Work is of inestimable value."—Rev Douglas Laing, ex-Pres. Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

"The Work is done by men who are masters of their subjects and also fascinating writers."—A. S. Draper, President University of Illinois.

"It is a remarkable monument to a marvelous century."—The Churchman, New York.

"A nice combination of interesting reading and historical records of change and advancement."—The Globe.

"No Library should be without it."—Mail and Empire.

"A most valuable contribution to the mental furnishing of the men and women of the twentieth century."—
Chancellor Burwash, Victoria University.