Ireland.

The following lines were written by Mr.
Robert Graham, merchant, of Lucknow.
Though an Orangeman, we are glad to find his sentiments possess the true ring of Irish nationality, and we fondly hope that the time is not distant when all the children of the old land will join with Robert Graham in thus expressing their tokens of love for their country, though separated from it by thousands of miles. We also hope that the Orange and Green will yet vie with each other in the endeavor to make the Emerald Isle a land of peace, plenty and happiness, and free from is as senseless as it is criminal:
Dear land of my birth, when I think of the Dear land of my birth, when I think of the past, To see your green valleys once more I do sigh;

Your heather-cap'd mountains that wave
with the blast,
Still sacred and dear, and to my heart nigh. Land of my forefathers, who, for liberty's

And heart-strings still rend for those of the slain.

Dear land of my birth, tho' scourged you have been
By famine and war, from door unto door;
Yet still through it all your island as green
As when "Bryan the brave" Danes drove from your shore.

St. Patrick, too, let all honor be given;
Who spread the glad truth throughout your fair land;
Directed the way that leadeth to heaven,
The standard was planted first by his own hand.

The Shamrock that grows on our own native An Emblem of Erin; that is dear to us all;
Oh! may it still flourish, that emblem of God: Until the last trump with its blast do us

Though absent we've been for many a long year,
We cannot withdraw from the scene of our youth,
Our playmates in childhood we remember so That played with us then, by the bridge and the forth.

Ah! meek little daisy, I remember quite well, Blue-stockings and primrose so gaily in bloom;
The blackthorn and bourtree that grew near
the well,
And up the rough lane where grew the green broom.

Hazel nuts, haws, and sloes I have pulled On the face of the brea, away down in the semb scrub:
Grandmother's flowers from her garden I've culled,
And sailed in the shough in mother's big

The hounds I have followed when hunting the hare. the hare, Far over the mountain and through the wet bog; Heather and whins my feet often would tear, And bleeding and lame oft homeward I'd

From mountain and Nough when herding the cows,
The cots on Lough Erne were plainly in view. I can never forget the cuckoo and crows, And the lark with her song, that heaven-ward flew.

Fairest Isle of the sea, tho' in a far-away land My heart breathes a prayer for your welfar and peace; Very near the day when united in hand, Sons of fair Erin, and bigotry cease.

Adieu, now farewell, to the land of my birth, May gladness and peace with you ever be seen,
Is your patriot's prayer, fair Isle of the earth;
Ireland, sweet Ireland, bright land of the green.

On June 6th a most successful mission was brought to a termination in was brought to a termination in Templeorum church. It was conducted by the Rev. Messrs. Power, Doherty, and McLoughlin, of the Redemptorist order. The mission lasted three weeks, opening in Owning church the first week, Piltown church the second week, and Templeorum church last week. The churches on many occasions being unable to hold the number of persons anxious to hear the sermons, they were delivered in the church-yard.

MEATH.

Mr. John Hill, farmer, of Kinnegad, county Meath, deceased, has by his will left several charitable legacies. He bereathed sums amounting to £600 queathed sums amounting to churches and convents named, and the residue of his assets to such charities in Kennegad and Clonard as his executors may select.

A special meeting of the Kells Town Commissioners was held on June 9th, for the purpose of providing some employment for the laboring men of the town, whose condition is simply deplorable.
Twenty men were ordered to be employed at sanitary work.

LOUTH.

On June 10th the Most Rev. Dr. McGettigan, Archbishop of Armagh, blessed and laid the foundation stone of a new church at Termonfeckin, Drogheda. CORK.

On June 8th, a little boy named McCarty was accidentally drowned in the Market Dock, at Youghal. He was playing with some younger children and fell into the water, where he was for some time before the alarm was given, and on the body being taken out life was found to be extinct.

Gurrane, six miles from Mallow, for non-payment of rent. To eject him from his dwelling, it was deemed necessary to call into requisition the services of the subsherriff of the county, two bailiffs from the city of Cork—Mr. P. Creaghe, sub-inspector, Irish Constabulary, Mallow, two sergeants, two constables, and a score of sub-constables. When all had arrived on the scene, a knock was given at the door the scene, a knock was given at the door of the dwelling house, when it was opened by Riordan, the tenant, and in walked the two bailiffs, and handed it over to the landlord's representative.

KERRY. At the Causeway Petty Sessions, on

At the Causeway Petty Sessions, on June 8th, some sixty persons were prosecuted for assaulting the Sheriff, bailiffs, and police, on the 10th of May last, and police, on the 10th of May last, and also for tumultuous gathering on the occasion of evicting a man named John Kelly, at Aghabeg, at the suit of Mr. Samuel Murray Hussey, the present owner of the Harene Estate. Great intercent of the Harene Estate. owner of the Harenc Estate. Great interest was manifested in the proceedings. From the evidence it appears that on the 10th of May last the sub-Sheriff, Mr. W. C. Harnet, accompanied by a large posse of police and a number of bailiffs, proceeded to Aghabeg for the purpose of evicting a man named Kelly, who was joint occupier, with three others, of a holding. Two of the occupants were unable to pay their rents. When Kelly was asked for possession he refused to give it, and stood at session he refused to give it, and stood at the door with a four pronged pike. He made several attempts to stab the sheriff made several attempts to stab the sheriff and the police, who, with drawn swords, protected themselves. Ultimately one of the constabulary (sub-constable Michael Brennan) succeeded in wrenching the pike from Kelly, who was placed under arrest. The bailiffs then proceeded to remove the furniture, but were subjected to severe assaults from the sympathisers of Kelly. One of the bailiffs—Patrick O'Brien—swore that he received a blow from a scythe on the forehead, and no less than twenty cuts on the head from stones, sticks, &c., from the effects of which he was confined to bed at the County Infirmary. There were no effects of which he was confined to bed at the County Infirmary. There were no less than 300 persons concerned in the riot, and ultimately the sheriff, who it was alleged was also struck with a stone, had to abandon the execution of the habere, and Kelly and his family are still in possession. The hearing of the case lasted six hours. Two persons named Thomas Dooling and Patrick Connell were sent for trial to the assizes on a charge of riot; while John assizes on a charge of riot; while John Kelly, sen., Maurice Connelly, Dooling, and Pat. Connell were also returned for grievous assault. Some thirty persons were fined in sums varying from 2s 6d to 21s for assaults arising out of the riot. The parties sent for trial were allowed out ARMAGH.

One of the most beautiful ecclesiastical churches in Ireland, of the modern date, is the Roman Catholic Cathedral of Armagh, of which an interesting account, from the pen of the Rev. John Gallogly, has recently been published by Messrs. Gill & Son. The Cathedral was commenced forty years ago, and the work proceeded under the primacy of five suc-cessive prelates. On the 17th of March 1840, the foundation was laid by the Most Rev. Dr. Crolly. During the time that the Primatial See was held by Drs. Cullen, Dixon, Kieron, and McGettigan the work The new small-pox epidemic is spreading in Dublin with alarming rapidity. In the first week of June there was 18 deaths from the disease, being double the number Gallogly does not content himself with the first week of June there was 18 deaths from the disease, being double the number and the proceeded, and finally on the 24th of last August the church was dedicated. Father Gallogly does not content himself with giving merely a description of the erection were admitted to the hospitals.

Mr. John Leland, who has been employed as a clerk in the establishment of Messrs. Hogg & Co., Cope street, Dublin, committed suicide on June 7th, by cutting his throat, at his residence, No. 22 Chelmsford road.

A shocking accident recently occurred to a tenant-farmer named Larkin at Ballinakill, near Loughrea. Larkin purchased a quantity of dynamite, in order that he might be able to kill some fish in the river adjacent to his residence, by flinging the powder into the river. While he was proceeding from his residence to the river, a quantity of the dynamite exploded, blowing off his right arm and destroying his face. Shortly dynamite exploded, blowing off his right arm and destroying his face. Shortly after the occurrence, the injured man was taken to his residence, where he lay in-sensible for sometime. Medical aid was at once procured, when it was found the injured man's life was in danger. The latest accounts state that he is recovering slowly. slowly.

CHEAP GOODS THE YEAR ROUND

IN CALLING THE ATTENTION of the Purchasing Public to the above somewhat unusual heading, our idea is to protect people generally from being misled by certain advertisements calculated to influence at least the unthinking. The people of London and surrounding country are no doubt aware, or should be, that THE DODGE of SELING OUT, REMOVING and GOIT or BUSINESS, in order to get patronage under the guise of selling cheap, is a VERY OLD ONE, and also a reprehensible practice, particularly when these FLAMING MANIFESTOES are not carried out; and when those dodges are PERIODICALLY PRACTICED, people should be on their guard, frown down such practices, and stamp them out by buying their goods from houses WHO SELL CHEAP ALL THE TIME, in a straightforward, business-like way. Every intelligent buyer knows well that to carry on business honestly a living profit must be made, and the very idea of selling goods BeLow cost, at an actual loss, bears on the face of it at least Too Much Generosity to be Real. We have no hesitation in saying—and our sales so far this season prove the truth of the assertion—that WE ARE NOT BEING UNDERSOLD IN THE CITY. Our goods are Fresh, Seasonable and UNIFORMLY CHEAP all through. Customers are well served at the counters of our large and attractive Store which extends from street to street. CONVENT OF ST. This spacious and beautiful institution, conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph, is situated in the most healthy and picturesque part of the city. That the locality has superior advantages, the presence of the many Educational Institutions in its immediate vicinity is the best proof. The Scholastic year commences the first Monday in September, and is divided into two terms of five months each. Payments to be made half-yearly in advance. Pupils are received at any time during the year. No deduction is made for withdrawing pupils before the end of the term, unless in case of protracted illuess or dismissal.

AYER'S PILLS have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every-body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the human skill. While they produce power-ful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed. They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing. and strengthen the system by freeing it

Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these Pills may be taken with safety by anybody.
