The Farmers' Exchange

ARE there articles of various kinds scattered around your house and farm which you no longer use, but which would realize you a neat little sum if you could find a buyer? Perhaps it's a buckboard which has been superseded by a new top buggy, or an old gun which has been replaced by an up-to-date hammerless. These articles while they have ceased to be of service to you may be just what some other farmer is looking for. If you have any articles of this kind which you would like to sell you can tell the news to over twenty thousand farmers at a very small cost through a "Want" Ad. on this page of The Guide. For example, should you wish to sell a gun you might say:

FOR SALE, SECOND-HAND TWELVE BORE double-barrelled Remington Gun, in excellent condition; price $18.00.—Apply, John Brown, Springbank Sask.

This advertisement would cost you 48 cents for one week, or $2.40 for six weeks, the rate being two cents per word per week, six weeks for the price of five. Farmers who have used The Guide for this purpose say it pays.

Proof Positive

At Thanksgiving time, when the dainties were being cooked, Walter's mother returned to the kitchen after a brief absence.

"Some of you boys have been eating my raisins," she commented. "I see the seeds on the floor."

"Well, it wasn't me," denied Walter, "for I was careful to swallow all my seeds."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Quite Likely

Mrs. Benham—"All things will be changed when we get to voting."
Benham—"Yes; I suppose you will have the official ballots tied with pink ribbons."

Our Lady of the Ballot

By William J. Lampton.

Oh, Woman, cease from troubling!

Why should you feel distress

Because no crown is given

To suffragist success?

The rest of us don't want it,

Though you may think we do,

Because when you are voters

We'll have no fun with you.

As now you fill the papers

With wild delicious news

Of suffragette capers,

Without it we would lose

Such interesting reading

That really we think

Your triumph for the ballot

Would put our joy to rest!

So ladies, please continue

Your scrapping as you do,

Because mankind, world-weary,

Has so much fun with you.

Political Opinions

He—"A woman can spank a boy all right, but she should keep her hands off the ballot box."

She—"Oh, I don't know. I think if woman could spank the ballot boxes as they spank the babies, we would have very much better politics."

The Milkman's Explanation

Mrs. Younghridge—"Mrs. Smith says there is lots of cream on her milk-bottles. Why is there never any on yours?"

The Milkman—"I'm too honest, lady. I fills my bottles as full there ain't no room left for cream."

A Lesson in Politeness

He was dining at a French restaurant, and while he was sipping his black coffee and firing five hundred glances a minute at a girl in a fluffy pink and white dress, a stranger gracefully commandeered his overcoat. He had just reached the door when the waiter tapped him on the shoulder.

"Pardon me, sir," he said meekly, "but will you allow me to get another cigar from my coat pocket, in case I do not meet you again?"—Tit-Bits.

A Primal Instinct

"Well, Eve had one blessing," sighs the woman. "She didn't have to clean house."

"No," agrees the man. "But I'll bet a dollar she did, just the same."

An Appropos Quotation

If Dr. Watts had ever met an up-to-date real suffragette, he would have said (as to a star), "How I wonder what you are!"
