Public Visit Shelter.

The Bruce County Children's Shelter, which was recently opened in Walkerton held an informal reception on Saturday afternoon, when the public visited the institution in large numbers and deluged the plant with donations of fruit, groceries and other necessities. The matron, Miss Deacon, who has had many years of experience in such work both in Toronto and the United States, has had the place equipped until it is a veritable paradise for the children, besides presenting the clean, sanitary aspect of a hospital. As saving children is cheaper than punishing criminals. Miss Deacon has demonstrated in the lay-out of the institution that she understands throwing the life-line to the children, alright. The shelter is comprised of three flats, the top flight being given to the boys, the second storey to the girls, while the main floor is equipped with waiting room office, dining-room, kitchen, etc. While the place is being equipped for the accommodation of 18 wards, it will be used more as a clearing station than a boarding house. Already ten are on hand, the eldest being 20 years and the youngest only a few months, so the public who wish to adopt children will have all ages to choose from. In short the Shelter must, like a pretty girl, be seen to be appreciated.—H & T.

A Story for the Times.

Abe Lincoln, who was famous as a story teller, once answered a friend who found himself in a blue funk over the outlook in the Civil War, by telling him a little story worth repeating these days. While still a young man, the genial Abraham was boarding with a very orthodox Presbyterian deacon. One night he was awakened suddenly by the sound of something thumping at his room door. Lincoln leaped from his bed and ran to open the door. He beheld the deacon standing trembling in his night gown, pointing to the window and crying, "Arise Abraham! The judging hath come!" Going to the window with the deacon he witnessed what he had never in his life seen before, a shower of meteors. For a moment he was troubled a little, but soon he discovered that beyond the falling stars the steady old constellations were shining fixed and firm. "And so," said the popular president to his doubting friend, "when there are meteors falling about me I remember the fixed stars."

One has only to remember in the days when the despatches are not so encouraging as they might be, that, after all, the ideals of democracy and the sacredness of human rights are still fixed and firm, and before the end comes, will be fully vindicated before the world.

Courtship.

"Back of all courtship should be the purpose on the part of both the man and the woman to establish a home and have children," said Dr. Kurtz. "A nation is safe only when men and women have this purpose."

The physician's prescription for choosing a wife is as follows:
Don't depend upon accidentally meeting your prospective wife but choose her.

Mix in the kind of company you want your wife to be in.

Study the girls you meet and pick the girl of your own nationality, religion, educational standards and about two years younger than yourself. Then cultivate her friendship and propose to her.

Let your intellect direct your love instead of your sex-impulse.

Don't let lack of money deter you from proposing marriage—both your wife and you can work until you are able to support the home alone.

Get married if possible before you are 25 years old.

Don't live in a boarding house after marriage, but establish your own home.

Be careful in the choosing of your wife and you won't land in the divorce court.

Believe in and practise the single standard of morality.

Took His Own Life.

On Saturday afternoon, the 3rd inst., Mr. Reuben Wittig made a gruesome discovery in the bush on their farm on the 4th of Bruce, when he found the body of Malcolm Campbell, a bachelor, who lives on lot 29, 2nd of Bruce, lifeless hanging in a tree. Mr. Campbell had been missing since the previous Monday. He has not been in the best of health for some time and it is surmised that in a fit of despondency he took his life. He was about 55 years of age and lived with his mother and sister. The body when found had the feet resting on a limb below. The funeral took place to Tiverton cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.—Kincardine Reporter.

The Wm. Davies Harrison canning factory is, we understand, to close this week. This factory began about last Easter to manufacture and can beans for the use of the Allied field forces overseas. The liberal wages paid to male and female help, young and old, attracted a large number to seek employment there. At the first, help enough could not be got to run night and day, eventually a full complement of about 400 was secured and things were booming for a few months. Then there came about a shortage of cans, and the hands were greatly reduced, and consequent also an unsteady work to those remaining. After an interval there was another demand for fresh help and steady work once more. Now it is to close down, for how long is not stated. In order to attract female help from a distance, a number of enterprising Harrison citizens formed a company to purchase the Royal Hotel from Mr. Bingham, which was fitted up at considerable expense for a Hostel or boarding house for girls only. The Hostel was placed under the management of the Young Women's Christian Association. The young ladies were kept in restraint as to regular hours, and surrounded with best influences. These conditions were satisfactory, and worked admirably. As nearly all the boarders worked at the canning factory, no doubt the hostel will close now also. Should the Wm. Davies people wish to start up the factory later on, they may find difficulty in getting help to come from a distance another time.

A woman speaker in Frisco declared that men cease to love their wives when they become 40. Men are a cruel lot. Many of them whose wives are 40 are always chasing around trying to change them for two twenties.

Gypsy's Prediction True.

Will the war be over in two months? Those who believe in seers and fortune tellers believe that it will.

One of the most peculiar stories bearing out the assertion that the world conflict will end in January, 1918, is vouched for by a London woman, whose friend was one of the occupants of an automobile which broke down on the Hamilton to Toronto highway several weeks ago. Here is the story as told to the Londoner:

"We had a breakdown on our trip to Toronto, and were told by the chauffeur that it would be an hour before we would be able to proceed. A gypsy encampment had just been passed a few hundred yards back, so we went to get our fortunes told. After the girls had had their past and future life foretold the old gypsy turned to Mr. —

"Before you tell my fortune, will you be so good as to tell me when the war is going to end," he asked with a laugh. "January, 1918," was the reply given unhesitatingly.

"Yes; but how do you know that?" was asked.

"How do I know that your chauffeur is lying dead under your car a short way down the road?" asked the gypsy.

The party did not wait for more, but hurried to the car. The chauffeur was lying dead under the machine as the gypsy had foretold. Investigation proved that he had died of apoplexy.

How did the gypsy know the man was dead, reasoned the party, if she knew of the chauffeur's death, was it not reasonable that she should know other things. They at least are convinced that the war will be over at the beginning of the year. They are also uneasy over a number of things that she predicted during the fortune telling.—London Advertiser.

"Take The Loan"

Come, freemen of the land,
Come meet the great demand,
True heart and open hand—
Take the loan.
For the hope the prophets saw,
For the swords your brothers draw,
For liberty and law.
Take the loan.

Ye ladies of the land,
As ye love the gallant band,
Who have drawn a soldier's brand,
Take the loan.
Who would bring them what she could,
Who would give the soldiers food,
Who would staunch her brother's blood,
Take the loan.

All who saw our hosts pass by,
All who joined the parting cry,
When we bade them do or die,
Take the loan.

As ye wished their triumph then,
As ye hope to meet again,
And to meet their gaze like men,
Take the loan.

Who would press the great appeal,
Of our ranks of serried steel,
Put your shoulders to the wheel,
Take the loan.

That our prayers in truth may rise,
Which we press with streaming eyes,
On the Lord of earth and skies,
Take the loan.

The Canadian Army

Naturally we are disposed to think highly of the performances of our "brave boys at the front" under General Currie.

We may not believe all that is in the newspapers but there is evidence enough of ridges won and villages taken to warrant the belief that there are no better soldiers in the war than those which make up the small army from Canada. They appear to be the "shock" troops of the British Army.

No doubt the British and French have captured ridges and villages as difficult as those taken by "our boys" but it is significant that after taking famous Vimy Ridge they were assigned the job of working up to Lens, and having carried out that undertaking they were moved north to the old battle ground at Ypres where General Haigh is endeavoring to break a way through the German line. There again they were assigned tasks of the utmost difficulty. Though opposed by the best battalions of Germany every undertaking of the Canadians has been carried out with complete success. They have won every objective, and held their ground against the most savage and persistent attacks of the best men the Kaiser could send against them.

This much is warranted—it has been proved again and again—that the Canadian army can defeat, either in attack or defence anything that Germany can put in the field.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS TORONTO.

There was a good active market out at the Union Stock Yards yesterday for anything of good quality, but common to medium stuff was slow of sale and hard to get rid of.

The quality of the offerings generally was bad. For butcher cattle with quality there was a steady market, as well as for heavy fat cows.

Canners were 15c to 25c lower, and there was a steady demand for breeder stockers and feeders, and distillery feeding steers, weighing 950 lbs., at upwards

The bull market was steady. We look for a good trade for the better class of butcher cattle, but the outlook for the other classes does not seem to be any better.

There was a fair run of sheep and lambs, and the market held steady and if anything a little stronger.

Choice lambs sold at from 16c to 16 1/2c light sheep 12 1/2c to 14c, heavy fat sheep and bucks 9c to 11c.

There was a light run of calves with a steady market. Choice veal calves sold at from 15c to 15 1/2c; medium, 11 1/2c to 14c grassers and common calves, 6c to 8 1/2c, and heavy fat calves, 8 1/2c to 11c.

The market for hogs was steady at from 17 1/2c to 18c, fed and watered, and and 18 1/2c off cars.

Total receipts on the Union Stock Yards yesterday were 258 cars, consisting of 4849 cattle, 244 calves, 2595 hogs, 2536 sheep and lambs.

Which is Better?

Some folk are debating those days as to whether their money would be better invested in the Post Office savings or in a government Victory Bond. Well, the security is exactly the same and the Government will pay 5 1/2% per annum. So it depends on whether you want 5% or 5 1/2%.

An Uncrowded Industry.

Pat had just arrived from Ireland, when Mike, who had been in America for some years, spied him.

"Faith, Pat!" exclaimed Mike, "what are you doing over here?"

"I've come over," answered Pat, "to try if I can make an honest living."

"Begorra, Mike, me boy, that's dead aisy over here, for it's damned little competition you have in this country."—The Lamb.
