There are hundreds of brewers in Canada—but when you really want the best Ale you think of—

Carling's Export. This ale is the very finest product of a brewery famous for the quality of its goods.

Nothing is more disgraceful than insincerity.—Cicero.

Lady—What is your favorite dish, Mr. Pigge?—The biggest one, ma'am.

"I feel as if I should fly to pieces." How often those words are on a woman's lips. They express to the uttermost the nerve-racked condition of the body, which makes life a daily martyrdom.

If this condition had come suddenly it would have been unbearable. But the transition was gradual. A little more strain each day on the nerves. Little more drain each day of the vitality. Any woman would be glad to be rid of such a condition. Every woman tries to be rid of it. Thousands of such women have been cured by Dr. Pierce's treatment with his "Favorite Prescription" when local doctors had entirely failed to cure. "Favorite Prescription" contains no opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

Example is more efficacious than precept.—Johnson.

Food changed to poison.

Putrefying food in the intestines produces effects like those of arsenic, but Dr. King's New Life Pills expel the poisons from the system, gently, easily, but surely, curing Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Fevers, all Liver, Kidney and Bowel troubles. Only 25c. at A. L. McCall & Co.

Courtesy is a duty public servants owe to the humblest member of the public.—Lord Lytton.

Says He was Tortured.

"I suffered such pain from corns I could hardly walk," writes H. Robinson, Hillsborough, Ills. "But Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured them." Acts like magic on sprains, bruises, cuts, scalds, burns, boils, ulcers. Perfect healer of skin diseases and piles. Cure guaranteed by A. L. McCall & Co. 25c.

Jealousy is a pain which eagerly seeks what causes pain.

A Woman's "Wul" Peril.

"There is only one chance to save your life and that is through an operation," were the startling words heard by Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lima Ridge, Wis., from her doctor, after he had vainly tried to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Gall stones had formed and she constantly grew worse. Then she began to use Electric Bitters, which wholly cured her. It's a wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney remedy. Cures Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite. Try it. Only 50c. Guaranteed. For sale by A. L. McCall & Co.

The highest order that was ever instituted on earth is the order of faith.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Saw Death Near.

"It often made my heart ache," writes L. C. Overstreet, of Elgin, Tenn., "to hear my wife cough until it seemed her weak and sore lungs would collapse. Good doctors said she was so far gone with Consumption that no medicine or earthly help could save her, but a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I bought a box. It's absolutely guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all Throat and Lung diseases. 50c. and $1 at A. L. McCall & Co's. Trial bottles free.

To those whose god is honor, disgrace alone is sin.—A. W. Hare.

Lameness in the muscles and joints indicates Rheumatism. Don't dally with it a minute. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and cure it.

"What would you do if you were to suddenly fall heir to a fortune?" asked one anarchist.

"That is an absurd question," replied the other. "I am not so shortsighted as you believe. I would, through the family records and made dead sure that I couldn't possibly fall heir to a fortune before I turned anarchist."

KRUGER'S GRANDDAUGHTERS

Mrs. Eloff and Miss Guttman, as Seen With English Eyes.

I did not say all that I might have said last week about President Kruger's granddaughters, writes a Paris correspondent of London Truth. They are in all the illustrated papers. But the artists who engraved the plates toned down all that jarred with their ideas of ladylike distinction. Miss Eloff and Miss Guttman, her sister, are at once more and less attractive than in their pictorial presentations. They have wonderful sex charm. But they must be classed as ephemeral, because without mental interests, Carling care has been a stranger to them. Black labor spared their domestic drudgery. Hence their high spirits. But Dopper education has not killed in them a taste for the vain things of the world.

The American lady journalist wanted to interview them at Mar-selles. At last one, bolder than the rest, remembered she had in her possession the visiting card of a Countess, the wife of a Charge d'Affaires, so she sent it. She boldly sent it up to Mme. Eloff, who not only received her, but struck up a friendship, and in all her carriage drives took her with her. The hunter who heard in her drives. This went on until Dr. Leyds came. He at once "bounced" the so-called Countess. Leyds has himself a weakness for the titled aristocracy of the world, the Transvaal Legation with Jonkhers. A Jonkheer of ancient family was told off to escort Mme. Eloff, her children and sisters to The Hague.

The eldest Eloff—a boy—is absurdly like the great-grandfather. He is about three years old, and already seems deeply serious and a mine of power. The baby, Annie, is a bright little thing with piercing eyes, richly tanned and narrow, and the unmarried one—a sky-blue peignoir not less handsomely trimmed. They never put themselves forward when deputations came. While Oom Paul received they stayed in the next room.

CHARM OF MANNER.

It is Worth More to a Woman Than Beauty or Intellect.

It was at the most of the most brilliant functions of the season that a man recently remarked to an interested onlooker: "The only empire freely conceded to women is that of manner; but it is worth all the rest put together."

And a young mother of the writer's acquaintance, speaking of her baby girl, said earnestly: "If I might claim a fairy godmother's single gift for her it should not be beauty, intellect nor wit, but that charm of manner which makes its possessor universally liked." We instinctively feel that the graces and amenities of life must always be largely under the direction of women, and these graces and amenities are too strong a power to be ignored. One often sees women who may be intellectually ignorant and narrow, but whose charming graces give them a social power quite beyond their broader and better educated sisters.

And, after all, to make pleasantness and peace for all one's life, to make one's house a place where every guest enters eagerly and leaves reluctantly, to give courage to the timid, ease to the awkward, to repress undue vigor of discussion and to make even controversy pleasant, all belongs to woman's traditional sphere, and it is a sphere so important that even the virtues are not quite complete without it.

A Champion of the Worm.

The recent session of the British Parliament furnished an amusing illustration of the occasional power of satire to bring about results which sober argument has failed to accomplish.

A bill designed to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity had been presented, and was opposed by a number of members on the ground that, if passed, it would endanger certain kinds of legitimate sport.

The Earl of Kimberley arose and gravely admitted the force of this argument. "Undoubtedly," he said, "the bill would put an end to fishing with worms as bait. It is a bill," he continued, "to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity; the schedule says the word 'animal' shall be held to include reptile; a worm may be held to be a reptile; a worm impaled on a hook must certainly be held to be in captivity; therefore the angler who uses a live worm for bait would be guilty of cruelty to an animal in captivity."

The laugh with this argument raised at the expense of the solicitous sportsman robbed the Opposition of whatever force it had and carried the bill to a successful issue.—Youth's Companion.

Docking Horses.

Time and time again has the question of docking the tails of horses been discussed, and always humanity comes out on top. All the driving horses in Russia have long tails, and the coachman of an ordinary Russian carriage takes no trouble to prevent the reins from dropping about his horse's hind quarters. In spite of this, however, the reins rarely become entangled with the tail, and even if they should do so the horses never kick. This striking fact is an eloquent answer to those who uphold the cruel practice of docking on the grounds that otherwise the horse is liable to flap his tail over the reins.—American Cultivator.

Woman's best attitude is tact; man's, a good memory.

Mrs. John Sheridan

writes: "I have suffered with bladder and kidney troubles. The pains were simply awful. I was nervous and unable to sleep at nights. I was very weak, had severe headaches at times. After having tried so many remedies I was greatly discouraged, when as I began taking them I got immediate relief and I have never been so well as I am to-day."
