Supreme Confidence

No stronger indication of the political sentiment permeating the District of St. John's West was ever given than that displayed at last night's tremendously inspiring and thrilling meeting. St. John's West has at last awakened to the numerous perils, standing like lions in the path, that threaten to befall the city, should a renewal of confidence be given the men who to-day are seeking re-election on behalf of the Government. The dangers which menace the trade and commerce of the dominion are very real ones, and have not been magnified to suit a political purpose by the Opposition, because there has not been any need. They are great enough without being enlarged upon. They are real enough to compel the earnest attention of every intelligent man, who to-day can exercise his right to use the ballot as a protection to him and his against the dark future which looms ahead, under a continuation of the Coaker-Squires administration.

The issues dependent upon to-day's bye-election have been squarely placed before the electors. Without malice and with only a desire to show just where the capital of Newfoundland stands, should present conditions of Government be maintained and approved, the situation has been thoroughly and exhaustively explained, and the methods of correction expounded. There can be no denial of the facts. They are printed, as it were, in letters of flame, upon the mind of every man, woman and child in this city, for even the women and the children are interested in to-day's election, and are urging their men folk on to kill the monster of Toryism which has arisen in their midst. There can be no half measures about the process of destruction. The methods adopted need to be drastic and lasting. Scotching will not do, the killing must be, if salvation is a desideratum, done in such a manner that life can never be restored to the carcass of Toryism, and the only way to bring about the justifiable murder of oppression is by using the weapon of the ballot.

That opportunity, the last one, remember, offers to-day. The decision is between prosperity on the one hand, and stagnation on the other. By electing the candidates of the Government, the clock of progress will be put back to the old days when monopoly ruled the land, and advancement was frowned upon. Newfoundland has, by strenuous efforts, shaken herself free from those cords of bondage, but they have been again made ready to bind her in commercial thralldom. The Fish Export Regulations have been made for the sole purpose of putting the entire fish trade of the Dominion into the hands of the half dozen men who form the combine. A most dangerous and perilous undertaking. Let this combine once get control and good-by to competition. Already several of the large fish buying firms on Water Street, NOT IN THE RING, have announced that should these regulations continue, should the Coaker-Squires Government be kept in power: should St. John's West fail in its paramount duty to-day: should MARTIN and LINEGAR not be elected, they will have to curtail their operations and buy less fish, as well as cutting out the issuance of supplies to planters for the Labrador and Shore fisheries.

Is there any need to dilate upon what will happen, should it be found necessary to do this? The paralysis of trade, of labor and of industries will naturally follow, and upon St. John's particularly will fall the curse of Coakerism. Do the men of St. John's desire that this should be? They do not. The answer of many of them has already been recorded on the silent but omnipotent ballot, and that answer is in the negative. Others during the day will make a similar answer, and backed up by that overwhelming vote of Labor, which solemnly pledged itself to the candidates of the Liberal-Labor Party at last night's meeting, MARTIN and LINEGAR will roll up a solid majority, and their election will mark the beginning of a new birth of freedom for dear old Newfoundland.

How Klim is Made.

All the fresh liquid milk used in producing Klim comes from high-grade dairy farms, where the cows, stables, and milk cans are regularly inspected by our own dairy inspectors. The milk is received at our milk powder plants in the cool of the morning. It is pasteurized by the most modern methods and separated to remove most of the fat, and is then put through a process of concentration under vacuum, which removes most of the water. The resulting thick milk is forced through clean milk piping to the drying chambers, where the milk enters in a fine spray, meeting a blast of heated, filtered, pure dry air, which evaporates the rest of the water from the milk, leaving a fine dry product-powdered separated milk. At no time in the process of actually drying the milk does the temperature of it reach a higher point than 130 degrees F., which means that the milk solids are not cooked or boiled, and, therefore, the "life" of the milk and the flavor are retained in the finished powder. Klim produced in this way is practically free from bacteria and will therefore keep indefinitely, under ordinary conditions. The pasteurizing process destroys all disease bacteria so that Klim comes to you in the form of purest powdered separated milk, with the natural milk unchanged. It is packed in one pound and ten-pound tins for regular use.

Klim is sold by grocers everywhere at 55 cents per one-pound can which makes a full gallon of rich, delicious milk.

Foregone Conclusion.

Judging by the sentiment, which is very pronounced, exhibited by the voters of St. John's West, the results of to-day's election is a foregone conclusion in favor of the popular candidates MARTIN and LINEGAR. Basing this statement upon the sentiment which has grown and flourished in the West End since last night's meeting, nothing can be more assured than that MARTIN and LINEGAR will head the poll after the counting of the ballots. The statement made at last night's meeting in the Majestic Theatre, by Mr. Squires that the late Government had suborned certain questionable female characters, subsequent to their importation from the neighboring continent, to spy upon the party doings, during the November elections, is only what could be expected from a man lost to all decency and sense of honor. Fighting for a losing cause often commits men to statements made upon the spur of the moment, but with Mr. Squires, this assertion was made, coolly, calmly and deliberately, and with malice aforethought, and it is only upon a par with the utterances of his papers the Star and the Post since the present campaign began. The electors of St. John's West, know Mr. Squires full well and have already turned him down on their ballots to-day. The illiterate vote has gone in favor of MARTIN and LINEGAR and defeat now stares the ambitious Rensel of Newfoundland in the face.

ENAMORED OF AMERICA.
LONDON, Jan. 21.
The Prince of Wales was the guest to-night at a large and enthusiastic dinner of the Pilgrims. More than three hundred persons were present. The Prince made a speech, partly serious, partly humorous. With some modesty he delivered personal touches as here and there, and had a clamorous reception. The Prince reaffirmed his intention to visit America, particularly the Middle West and Far West, saying that the best proof that he had enjoyed his visit was his earnest desire to repeat it.

Gaul's Cod Liver Oil Compound shines as a tonic to build up rapidly tissues that have suffered as the result of acute illness of any kind, and a bottle taken during convalescence from an attack of feverish cold or bronchitis gives remarkable results. The use of this Compound cleans up the remainder of the cough, stimulates the appetite, increases the powers of resistance to fresh colds, and strengthens the system generally. On the whole we can recommend this Compound as being one of the most valuable preparations of the kind. Price $1 a bottle.

Sydney Woman Was Afraid to Sleep at Night

Mrs. O'Neil Almost Desperate From Ill Health But Tanlac Soon Restored Her.

"I am just so happy over what Tanlac has done for me that I don't find words that will express my gratitude," was the characteristic statement made recently by Mrs. John O'Neil, who lives on Victoria Street, Sydney, Nova Scotia.
"For three years I have been troubled with indigestion so bad that I thought I would have to give up entirely," continued Mrs. O'Neil. "I was in such misery after nearly every meal, the pains in my stomach and across my chest would draw me double. Gas bloated me up until I simply had to fight to get my breath, and my heart palpitated something terrible. Night after night I sat up in bed afraid to go asleep, and often the choking spells were so bad that I would have to get up and walk the floor. When I got up of mornings I felt so weak and had so little energy that my house-work was a burden. Life was no pleasure and I worried so much all the time that I was almost desperate."

"When I began taking Tanlac I had already taken so many medicines that did me no good at all, that I had but little faith in anything to help me. But I quickly changed my mind, because I started to improve in almost no time after I began taking it. I took five bottles in all, and to-day I am in better health than I have been in many years. I can eat just anything I want now and digest it perfectly. The gas does not trouble me any more and I have never had a pain of any kind. As my breathing is free and easy, I am no longer afraid to go to sleep at night, and I fall asleep just as soon as I go to bed. I never once woke up till morning and when I get up I am feeling full of life and energy. At times it seems so wonderful the way Tanlac has built me up that I can hardly realize myself what perfect health I am enjoying."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, in Harbor Street, by Thomas Walsley & Sons; in Placentia, by James Murphy & Son, and in Topsail by J. K. Bursell.—adv.

Have You Voted?

Unless a man has recorded his choice of representatives by eight o'clock to-night he has forfeited a privilege which he should prize above all other things, and to possess which has been countless struggles and battles have been fought and waged. The both rooms close at that hour and no one may vote. Once in every four years the people are the supreme power, and the man who does not exercise that power is not a true citizen of the country or city in which he resides. To those who have not yet voted this advice is tendered: There is but one man less patriotic and less alive to the duties which are his and that man is he who votes for Squires and Brownrigg or either of the two, and thereby throws away his last chance to "HANG 'ER DOWN!"

IN LOVING MEMORY
of my beloved father, John Nottall, who was lost at sea from on board the ill-fated steamer Beverley, January, 1918.
Sweetly he rests while others sigh.
With care and grief oppressed;
Softly his head doth lie
Upon his saviour's breast.

We miss him, and how sadly.
Bleeding hearts alone can tell;
Earth has lost him, Heaven has gained him;
Jesus doth all things well.
Inserted by his daughter Isabella.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of my husband, Thomas White, who was lost at sea from on board of the Barco, Lake Simcoe, January, 1915.
Rest in peace.
We miss thee from our home, dear,
We miss thee from thy place;
A shadow on our lives is cast,
We miss thy smiling face.

We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care;
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere.
Inserted by his wife.

Why Do We Use Copper Telegraph Wires?

One of the characteristics which distinguished copper is its color—a peculiar red. It stands next to it, but that is not the only reason, looking, and comes next to iron and steel in tenacity—which means the ability of its tiny particles to hang on to each other. That is why copper wire bends instead of breaking when you twist it. But that is not the only reason, though an important part of the reason, why we use copper for telegraph wires. Copper is an extremely good conductor of electricity when it is pure. So are gold and silver, but we cannot afford to buy gold and silver wire for the telegraph, telephone and other wires, and if we used such wire the cost of the equipment would be so great that we could not afford to have telephones in our homes. But there is a great deal of copper in the world, and it is very cheap, and so it makes an ideal element for use in things through which electricity is passed. When you compound it with other substances it loses some of its conductivity. Copper is used extensively in many ways in the world. This book is printed, for instance, from copper electrolyte plates. The whole business of electrolytizing is based on the use of copper.
