City and District

—This is Uncle Sam's Thanksgiving Day.

—H. J. Lamb, civil engineer, of this city, is in Chatham for a few days, inspecting the Government piling on McGregor's Creek.

—A talent test will be given by the Helping Hand Guild on Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. (Dr.) J. N. Wood, 297 Wolfe street. These events are very interesting, and the invitation is extended to all who are desirous of spending a pleasant afternoon.

—Friday night at 7 o'clock the annual congregational rally will take place at Dundas Centre Methodist Church. Tables will be set for four hundred, and after supper a splendid programme will be presented. Five minutes speeches on "A German's View of the Kaiser," "If I Were a Minister," "The Water Question," "Sunday Cars," etc., together with musical numbers, will be given.

Keep Off the Grass.

The police have been notified to keep a close watch in Victoria Park for persons walking on the grass there. Several names were taken yesterday of those who were walking on the grass at the edges of the walks and they will appear in court shortly.

Late Thomas Parkinson.
The funeral of Mr. Thomas Parkinson was held from the family residence, lot 4, concession 13, of London Township, to Bloor Cemetery, and was largely attended. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Harvey D. Kennedy.

Money for Mr. Gibson.
Superintendent Heard, of Victoria Hospital, received a letter yesterday from an individual signing himself "A Friend" and enclosing $10, with the request that it be handed to Mr. Gibson, whose wife had unfortunately lost some money which had been sent from England to assist him, as he has been confined in the hospital with a broken leg for some time.

Recital in Congregational Church.
Those who attended the recital in the First Congregational Church on Tuesday evening were well repaid for facing somewhat unpleasant weather. The programme was artistically rendered throughout. Miss Gwendolyn C. Christie, who was heard Tuesday night for the first time by many since her graduation at Boston, revealed great power as a reader and improvisator. In each and every number, Miss Anthistle evidenced high attainment in her art, and delighted her audience.

Enjoyable Dance.

The weekly dance given by Messrs. Dayton & McCormick at the Palace Auditorium last evening proved another very enjoyable affair. A large number of guests were present and were furnished with a choice programme by the academy orchestra. The first hop of the December series will be held on Friday evening of next week, Dec. 4.

A Nordheimer Change.

A change in the local management of the Nordheimer Piano Music Company is announced by the promotion of Mr. J. J. Callaghan to the position of superintendent of agencies, and the return to this city of Mr. T. C. Wright, from Winnipeg. For some years both these gentlemen were resident representatives of the Nordheimer Piano Company in London, but some four years ago Mr. Wright was moved to Vancouver, then to Montreal, and for the past six months has been manager of the Winnipeg branch. Mr. Callaghan has been with the Nordheimers in London for many years, and his friends are pleased to learn of his promotion. Mr. Wright, while a resident of London, had many social and business friends who will also be pleased to hear of his return to this city. It is not Mr. Callaghan's intention to remove from London. He will make this city his headquarters.

SOUTH LONDON MAN INJURED IN WEST

Was an Engineer on the New Line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. Garfield Case, formerly a well-known resident of South London, is at present at his home, 193 Langarth street, suffering from injuries which he received recently in a collision on the new Grand Trunk Pacific line.
Mr. Case is an engineer, and a few days ago his engine ran into a yard engine, with the result that he sustained a severe cut above his eye and an injury to his leg. It is not thought that any serious results will follow.

A PRETTY WEDDING ON WELLINGTON ST.

Miss Lillian Bugg Becomes the Bride of Mr. Edward A. Jackson.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bugg, 262 Wellington street, when their daughter, Miss Lillian Bugg, was married to Mr. Edward A. Jackson.
The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. A. Graham, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.
The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Maude Bugg, and Mr. Harry Rose supported the groom.
Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left last night on a honeymoon trip, and on their return will reside in East London.

WILL GO TO CHINA AS MISSIONARIES

Farewell in Talbot Street Church to Rev. and Mrs. Brownlee.

There was a large attendance at the regular prayer meeting in Talbot Street Baptist Church last night, when a number of friends gathered to bid farewell to Rev. and Mrs. Brownlee, who sail for Jan. 10 for China, where they will engage in missionary work. Rev. T. T. Shields presided, and addresses were given by Rev. F. A. Steven, of the China Inland Mission, and also by Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee. Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee will speak in Stratford this evening, and then leave for Hespeler. Mr. Brownlee's old home, where they will rest a while before commencing their journey.

CARNEGIE'S PROTECTION

Surest Way to Procure It is to Reduce the Duties.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Serenio Payne, chairman of the House ways and means committee, today received a reply to the invitation which he extended to Andrew Carnegie to appear before the committee at the hearing of the tariff schedules. Mr. Carnegie thanked Mr. Payne for his invitation, but asks to be excused from appearing before the committee, saying that he has served his full term in Washington upon tariff matters.

"I am no longer in business, and in my Century articles," reads the letter, "companion to that of my experience with railways and rebates, I have said all that I have to say upon the subjects. Manufacturers will appear before you from whom you can obtain the required details."

Mr. Carnegie says that judging from the comments upon his article by Washington, as published, he feels that they have not read the article itself, but only a few extracts separated from the context.

"When you read it," he continued, "you will discover that my faith in protection, wherever it is proved to be necessary, is as strong as ever, and that I continue also to believe that the surest way to procure needed protection is to reduce protective duties from time to time, and finally to abolish them when no longer needed."

"Pursuing this policy our party has already reduced duties on steel rails from $8 to $7, and other duties in greater or less degree."

YACHT SALE A BIG SUCCESS

Efforts of the Ladies of Christ Church Appreciated by the Congregation.

The "Yacht Sale," for which the ladies of Christ Church have been busily engaged making preparations for some days, opened in the schoolroom of the church last night, and will be continued this afternoon and evening. The sale is one of the most unique ever held in the city, the various articles being offered for sale in regatta boats. The boats are attractively attired in sailor costume. The schoolroom is profusely decorated with flags and other decorations, the scheme followed being that of a harbor or bay full of boats. All the boats are in full sail, and the sails are laden with articles to be sold. Last evening a large crowd was in attendance, and many of the sails were temporarily depleted, only to be filled again soon after by a large variety of the beautiful articles which are being sold. Before going aboard the boats the tourist is taken to an orange tree laden with large oranges, each of which contains a prize. The tree is in charge of Mrs. Henderson and members of the Junior Mission Band. On leaving land and entering the bay the tourist visits the following yachts:
The Bon Bon—Filled with candles, and in charge of Mrs. Schaefer, Miss Winnett and Miss Wheatcroft.
The Domestic—A boat containing a wedding cake. This boat is one of mystery, as it has not been known who is to get the cake, and is in charge of Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Dean and Miss Hodgins.
The Shamrock—Beautifully decorated with shamrocks and a big harp, and alongside the Lipton. These two boats are in charge of Misses Woodward, Long, Chittenden and Drake and here ice cream and tea are served.

Near by is the Pinafire, in charge of Messrs. Bending, Parsons and Tucker, where an attractive display of aprons and similar articles are offered for sale.
The next boat, the Dolly Varden, is the joy of the children, and is loaded down with dolls and other toys. This boat is in charge of Mrs. Logan and Misses Cullis, Reed and Rouson.
The last boat is the Knic-Knac, loaded down with small articles. It is in charge of Mesdames Speer, Bayden and Morley, and is one of the busiest of the fleet.
The supervisors of the "Yacht Sale" are Mesdames Howard, Logan and Wilson.

Mrs. Howard stated to The Advertiser today that last night's sale was most successful.

The boats were loaned to the ladies by Mr. Bert Thomas, to whom those in charge of the sale are deeply grateful.

CHATHAM LADIES LED TO THE ALTAR

Three of the Maple City's Fair Ones Secure Partners for Life.

Chatham, Nov. 25.—This morning at 9 o'clock a quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Joseph's Church, when Miss Cora Melloche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch. Melloche, Charing Cross, was married to Mr. Hammond T. Myers, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Herman. Only the immediate friends and relatives were in attendance. The bride was assisted by Miss Ouellette and the groom by Mr. William Melloche. Mr. and Mrs. Myers will remain residents of the Maple City.
An hour later, in the above church, Miss Theresa Fitzgerald, daughter of Mrs. Peter Dezella, of this city, was united in marriage to William O'Neill, of Chicago, Rev. Father James officiating. The bride was assisted by Miss Gertrude Dezella, and Frank Upton, of Chicago, was best man. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill, amid the hearty good wishes of their many friends, left for Chicago, where they will take up their residence.
The Edmonton (Alta.) Bulletin of Nov. 19 announces the marriage of Miss Katherine Gordon Cameron Wilson and Colin Gemmel Groff. The bride is the third daughter of Albert Wilson merchant, of Chatham, Ont., and is a niece of Mrs. Huff, at whose residence the wedding took place on the 18th inst. The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. Alex. P. Groff, of the Bulletin. The bride was attended by Miss Isabel Groff as bridesmaid, and Miss Jessie Huff, who made a dainty little flower girl, while Mr. R. B. Best supported the groom.

LORD GLENESK DEAD

Proprietor of London Morning Post Was a Tory and a Primrose Leaguer.

London, Nov. 25.—Baron Glenesk, proprietor of the Morning Post, died today.

The first Baron Glenesk reached the peerage in 1895. Before that he had been for fifteen years Sir Algernon Borthwick Hart. He was born in Cambridge in 1830, and his father was Mr. P. For Everham. He was educated at King's College School and King's College, London. He contested the Evesham seat in 1880 and was beaten. In 1885 he got into the House of Commons for South Kensington, and sat until he was made a peer. He was married in 1870 to Miss Alice Lister, who died in 1898. He leaves no heir, his only son having died. His daughter is the Countess Bathurst.

The Morning Post is an extreme Conservative paper. Lord Glenesk belonged to the extreme Tory faction. He was vice-president of the Primrose League, and from 1886 to 1895 he was chairman of the London Conservative members. The family was an old Midlothian one. The late head was an enthusiastic deer-stalker and salmon-fisher. Besides his English places he owned the Chateau St. Michel at Cannes. He belonged to eight London clubs.

Not a Smallpox Case in the City

There is no smallpox in the city at the present time, nor any indications of it.

"We have kept a close lookout, but there is not a case in London," said Medical Health Officer Hutchinson. "There is not even a suspicious case reported. I do not look for an outbreak of the disease here."

All the patients in Dorchester are doing well, and are recovering. The outbreak seems to have been checked, as no more cases have been reported. The Groatix family are recovering, and no bad consequences are anticipated.

Bert McDonald, the young man living on Richmond street north, who is ill with the disease, is doing well, and will be out shortly. The east end lady is also recovering.
"The disease is of a very mild type," said Dr. Hutchinson. "It is not at all dangerous."

FRITZI TO MARRY SOON

A Little After Christmas, John Fox, Jun., Announces.

Bristol, Tenn., Nov. 26.—John Fox, jun., the novelist, and Miss Fritzi Scheff, the comic opera singer, arrived here tonight from the home of Mr. Fox's parents, near Bristol, where Miss Scheff has been the guest of the family since Sunday. With Mrs. W. Campbell Moore, jun., of Washington, Mr. Fox's sister, they are on the way to New York, where Miss Scheff is to appear at the Knickerbocker Theatre.
Mr. Fox stated that he and Miss Scheff had decided to be married as soon after Christmas as possible. She was recently divorced from an officer of the Austrian army.

NEW TREASURE HUNT

Capt. Hackett, of Victoria, Inheritor of an Old Story, Will Try His Luck.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 26.—Captain Hackett, of this city, is organizing another expedition to hunt for the alleged treasure hidden by pirates in Cocos Island. He is no stranger to the little patch of land in the Pacific. He has visited it on several occasions. It was through Hackett's persuasion that a British admiral, Sir Henry St. Leger Bury Palliser, took his flagship to the island about eight years ago and for weeks had the crew dig themselves into a vain attempt to get the treasure.

The island lies about 500 miles off the coast of Costa Rica, out of the usual track of shipping. According to the legend two distinct caches of treasure have been made. In 1821 a British pirate, is said, sailed thither with loot and hid it in the sand. Then some of the band were hanged while others were put in jail, and this treasure has never been found.

The second cache is alleged to have been made 73 years ago and it is said that this lot actually was located at one time. In 1848 the people of Gallao, Peru, were expecting the city to be captured and looted by revolutionaries. Just then the British ship Mary Dier sailed into port. The city authorities put their valuables on board and trusted to the honor of the captain to restore the property as soon as the trouble was over. But the captain, it is said, as soon as the vessel cleared from port, made for Cocos Island and he and the crew buried the spoil. Then turning pirates, they captured other prizes and added to their hidden wealth.

Finally the ship was blown ashore on the Peruvian coast and the crew were one and all captured and sentenced to death. Eight of them were shot, while three were pardoned on condition of revealing where the treasure was hidden. One man, named Thompson, died soon after, while one of the other two, named Keaton, made his way to Cocos Island. They found the treasure and took away with them as much as they could carry, but quarrelled in the boat on the way back to the ship, and Captain Bogue was drowned. Keaton returned to the United States and never visited the island again, though he confessed the secret of the buried treasure to the father of the present Captain Hackett.

It was on the strength of this story that Captain Hackett persuaded Admiral Palliser to make his celebrated attempt, which led to the matter being brought up in the British House of Commons at the time. Captain Hackett went to the island again in 1903 and found that it had been leased to a German named Glessler, who was doing some digging on his own account. They joined forces and after some little time Glessler showed him two rusty iron pots, a broken sword
