

An aerial photograph of a ship's mast and rigging, viewed from above. The mast is a thick, vertical wooden pole, surrounded by a complex network of ropes and metal hardware. The ship's deck is visible at the top and bottom edges, showing wooden planking and structural beams. The background is a vast expanse of blue ocean with white-capped waves. The text "CANADA TODAY / D'AUJOURD'HUI" is overlaid in red on the upper portion of the image.
