

CHAPTER IV.

We begin our preparations for sowing—Gadflies—Mosquitoes—Harrowing experiences—A huge fly—Sandflies—The poison of insects and serpents—Winter wheat—The wonders of plant-life—Our first "sport"—Woodpeckers—"Chitmunks"—The blue jay—The blue bird—The flight of birds. pp. 58—74

CHAPTER V.

Some family changes—Amusements—Cow-hunting—Our "side-line"—The bush—Adventures with rattlesnakes—Garter-snakes—A frog's flight for life—Black squirrels
pp. 75—89

CHAPTER VI.

Spearing fish—Ancient British canoes—Indian ones—A bargain with an Indian—Henry's cold bath—Canadian thunderstorms—Poor Yorick's death—Our glorious autumns—The change of the leaf—Sunsets—Indian summer—The fall rains and the roads—The first snow—Canadian cold—A winter landscape—"Ice-storms"—Snow crystals—The minute perfection of God's works—Deer-shooting—David's misfortune—Useless cruelty—Shedding of the stag's horns pp. 90—127

CHAPTER VII.

Wolves—My adventure with a bear—Courtenay's cow and the wolves—A fright in the woods by night—The river freezes—Our winter fires—Cold, cold, cold!—A winter's journey—Sleighing—Winter mufflings—Accidents through intense cold pp. 128—142

The auro
—Camp
toe from lost in

Involunta
wilderne
grouse—winter's

Our neighb
the bush
for a b
escape fr

"Now Sp
Bush pr
Mrs. P
Squatter

Bush mag
by neces
frost—A