

DR. J. BELL SIMPSON, the oldest partner in the firm of J. BELL SIMPSON & Co., was in youth the pupil and in later years the partner and friend of the late Dr. W. WILLIS MOSELEY, of London, England, acknowledged to be the greatest authority in the world on Nervous Diseases from whatever cause arising, and than whom no man in the history of medicine has borne a more wide spread reputation. His consulting rooms were constantly filled with patients—numbers of whom ranked among England's nobility. Hundreds came yearly from long distances to consult him, and his correspondence was enormous. His fees were often as high as ONE HUNDRED GUINEAS for a consultation. In such a school did Dr. J. BELL SIMPSON first learn the science of the successful treatment of Chronic Diseases, and he has himself attained a reputation equal to that of his talented partner. Although we by no means desire it to be thought that we can in every case effect a cure, for there are some cases which will defy every effort, still we do claim that from long experience in the metropolis of the world with every opportunity of closely studying every