ANADIAN AVIATOR WON BIG VICTORY

Warneford, New at Aerial Game, Destroyed Returning Zeppelin.

SPECTACULAR BATTLE

Bombs Dropped on Big Dirigible Put End to Career.

when Warneford came winging swiftly under the gray skies.

The Zeppelin, which was flying comparatively low, began to mount at once, but the British wasp was speedler and climbed into the air in long spirals, reaching a position, at length, over the German's vast bulk. From this point of vantage Warneford pierced the Zeppelin's shell repeatedby with his incendiary hombes. endiary bombs.

A Stern Chase.
Without parallel in this war, or any other, is the story which the young aviator will have to relate, for details f the fight have not yet been told First came the long pursuit, for, according to the admiralty report, the aeroplane was 6000 feet up. To reach this altitude would require nearly 20 minutes, and the Zeppelin, meantime, could drive forward approximately 15 Then followed the manoeuvring for position, and finally the dropping of the bombs, from which the dirigible tried vainly to escape. Minor explo-sions occurred and, at last, one of terride force, and the Zeppelin burst into At that moment Warneford must have been at close range over the dirigible, for almost simultaneously with the outburst his machine turncompletely over and for a moment he hung head down with his mono-plane, all control of which had been ost, pitching and tossing in the swift currents of air which rushed up to fill the vacuum created. Showed Great Skill.

Showed Great Skill.

Then by a desperate effort Warneford righted his machine far above the earth and planed to a landing behind the German lines. He alighted unhurt, set his propeller going again and flew off to the west.

Whether the Zeppelin's machine guns or rifles were turned on the aviator is or rifles were turned on the aviator is not disclosed, but in order to attain such an advantageous position, the British lieutenant must have handled his machine skilfully, for this is an extremely difficult feat. Altho the target the Zeppelin presents is extensive it can be lifted by its own heavy sive, it can be lifted by its own buoy-ancy to a great height, while the pursuing aeroplane has to rise in spirals by the power of its engine alone.

May Discourage Raids.

As the fight in mid-air occurred over that part of Belgium held by the Germans, hopes are raised in London that the Germans will be forced to move their Zennelly, became the second of the second o move their Zeppelin bases eastward, thus making raids on England more Some of the reports say that the non-combatant victims were two nuns and two orphans, and that others were injured, but a Reuter despatch received tonight says that two nurses and two children were killed and many others injured. All versions agree that the Zeppelin crew perished, and this seems certain as the great craft was struck while more than a mile in the air and must have others injured. the air, and must have been a roaring torch before it struck the earth.

sand banks as well as breakwaters. At Heligoland there are only a few German torpedo boats and submar-ines. In naval warfare one goes by probabilities, not possibilities. A British submarine wouldn't have one chance in a million of getting behind the stone walls where Germany hides its fleet. It's not a question of initiative. What our submarines have done in scouting around Heligoland and around the Dardanelles proves this. It's just a question of commonsense tactics. The German fleet only needs just to come out to sea and leave its stone-locked fortresses for a few hours in order to get all the trouble it ever will be able to seek."
