

Club to the family of the deceased to aid in his interment; such allowance shall be paid out of the Club funds, in default of which it shall be raised by subscription among the members.

ART. 9. The Club shall assist in a body at the funeral of such member deceased, and shall wear the insignia that may be adopted.

ART. 10. Notice shall be given to every member of the day and hour of interment, and those who fail to assist shall pay a fine of 25 cents, which fine must be paid within two months. If the fine be not paid within two months it shall be debited to the defaulting member as six months arrears of annual contribution.

ART. 11. Members absent from the city, and those sick, shall be exempt from the preceding rule.

ART. 12. The insignia chosen by the Club shall be made at its cost, and supplied to members at the cost price.

ART. 13. Any member who shall work against the club, or any of its members, shall be subject to citation before the Club, and expulsion therefrom on sufficient proof being given before a committee of enquiry of nine members, five of whom shall form a quorum. Such committee shall make report to a general meeting, held subsequently; and to have valid effect the report must be adopted by a majority of the meeting.

ART. 14. None but members shall be admitted to meetings of the Club; but it shall be permissible to introduce any Fowler desiring to become a member.
